UNIVERSITY OUSTS TRIO FOR 'PARTY'

Affair in Which Girl at Berkeley Lost Life Brings Stringent Action

BERKELEY, June 19. (AP)—President Campbell announced today that three students have been dismissed from the University of California, and one, a girl has been placed on probation for the rest of her college career for off-campus offenses.

The students dismissed are Louis Lercari of San Francisco, sophomore, driver of the automobile which was wrecked May 7, last, when Miss Jessie Lima of Arcata was killed; William Pickney Jones, sophomore of Honolulu, football star, and member of the Lercari party, and Cowley W. Justeson, senior, arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition law when ninety-two bottles of liquor were found in his apartment. Justeson's name was stricken from the roll of graduates.

Miss Gladys Merryfield of Colton, another member of the party, was placed on probation for the rest of her college career. The announcement cleared Miss Lima of blame in regard to the "party" on which she was killed. President Campbell said evidence showed that she had accompanied the men only after much persuasion, and had not drunk any liquor.

BERKELEY, June 19. (AP)—Six men, two of whom operate restaurants directly opposite the main gates of the University of California, and four of whom are taxi drivers, were arrested yesterday and pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law.

The restaurant men, Robert Nicholas, whose place of business opposite the north gate of the university is widely patronized by men students, and Henri Curtis, who runs an establishment across from Sather Gate, were fined $100 each.

The four taxi drivers were given the alternative of a $500 fine or a term of six months in the County Jail. With the exception of one all took the jail sentence.

Drew Better, but Condition Still Serious

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (AP) Condition of John Drew, 73-year-old internationally known actor who has been ill here for several weeks with arthritis and complications, was reported "a trifle better" today. A bad day yesterday gave his physician, Dr. Lawrence H. Hoffman, considerable concern.

In a statement today, Dr. Hoffman said: "Mr. Drew had a very weak day yesterday. Today he is a trifle better. However, his condition still is pretty grave."

NEW SALVO BY GUTHRIE

Pulpit Fire Jolts San Francisco

New York Rector Declares Christ Would Be Lynched in Bay City Today

Church Members Scored as Religious "Pussyfooters" and "Chameleons"

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Rev. William Norman Guthrie, who won himself the disfavor of his diocesan bishop by embellishing his New York church services with eurythmic dancing, and this week convulsed the Episcopalian congress here by upholding a young and obscure pastor who favored unmarried unions in some advisable instances, dropped another handful of spiritual dynamite from the pulpit of Grace Cathedral here today. Among other things he told his hearers that if Jesus Christ came to San Francisco today He'd be lynched.

Mr. Guthrie is pastor of St. Marks-on-the-Bouwerie, New York City, and spoke by invitation at the local cathedral today.

His remarks were spiced with terse and sometimes slangy expressions, but no one misunderstood him. One moment the assemblage, of capacity proportions, smiled and nodded in approval and the next stared in blank-faced amazement.

He accused most church members of being "pussyfooters" and "chameleons" in their religion. He said they "camouflaged" for business reasons.

REAL IDEAS HIDDEN

The clergy, he declaimed, suppressed their real ideas of things because "if they let them out the old ladies have fits."

"Everything that is constructive is revolutionary," Mr. Guthrie declared. 'Give people something really constructive and they are scandalized. We speak with pious emphasis of the outgrown things our fathers believed were true.

"On Thanksgiving we do not give thanks to God; we eat turkey.

"On Christmas we forget all the sacred significance of the anniversary. We speak of it as a home day, but we don't even stay at home. We go out on a grand 'bat.'

"Religion has been standardized to make it safe and sound. But Jesus was the most 'unsafe and insane' man of His time. He was hopelessly committed to telling the spiritual truth, and so He had to be crucified.

"If He came to San Francisco you would lynch Him."

Mr. Guthrie said that the great effort of men, of nature and of God is the creation of beauty.

SCIENTIFIC DOUBTS

"Scientists like Luther Burbank," he continued, "are not quite sure of Scripture, but in nature they see God working toward beauty; pairing, mating and protecting, that the new expression of life may be more beautiful than what went before.

"What does God want beauty for? What do you want it for? You are not interested in Charles Lindbergh because he had a good machine, but because he is a dear, fine, lovable boy, incorruptible and with courage enough. He satisfies our ideal.

"Jesus was the most beautiful spirit in His time. There was no particular merit in His being crucified. Thousands were crucified; it was the every-day, before-breakfast occurrence of the period in which He lived. The profound impression made by that crucifixion was the fact that it was Jesus who was crucified. It is the nature of men either to fuse themselves with beauty or to turn upon it and destroy.

"You mumble through the beatitudes. You don't believe them.

DISBELIEFS CITED

"If you believed it was blessed to be poor you would not be scrambling for money. You do not believe it is blessed to be lowly, or hungry or persecuted. Jesus spoke those beatitudes out of the hell of His mortal experience to indicate that the reaction to the searing trials of poverty and persecution were blessed.

"Probably I'm a maniac, but then, every thinker is a maniac until the rest of the fools have come to agree with him and usually, by that time, he is dead.

"The clergy know much more of modern scholarship than you realize, but if they let out any of it the old ladies have fits. In consequence those of you who keep abreast believe your pastor is a 'dear, good man, but very ignorant.'"

AMERICA TO SET PACE AT ARMS CONFERENCE TODAY

United States Will Tell Other Nations It Is Ready to Cut Down Auxiliary Strength

GENEVA, June 19. (AP)—That the United States will go as far as any other nation in fixing a low limit for cruisers, destroyers and submarines probably will be the American message to the world at the opening tomorrow of the naval limitation conference, convoked by President Coolidge. The United States, Great Britain and Japan will have official delegates at this conference, with representatives of France and Italy sitting on the sidelines, but not participating.

Though all the delegations are maintaining a sphinx-like silence, the impression prevails that the American delegation will in the course of a detailed project suggest maximum and minimum figures for total tonnages in the three classes of warships under discussion, thus allowing leeway for negotiations, but that simultaneously they will indicate that if no agreement is reached by the conference the United States will likely go in for heavy building of warships.

ACID TEST PLANNED

This will afford an opportunity for the acid test of the naval intentions of the nations, and will decide whether the great sea powers will enter upon a competitive and unlimited naval race.

Great Britain is expected to suggest a reduction in size of individual cruisers, which the Washington conference fixed at 10,000 tons. This is certain to be opposed by the Americans. In some circles likewise it is said that the British will propose a reduction in the tonnage of battleships. Admiral Saito of Japan will probably pay tribute to the President of the United States for summoning the conference at the opening of tomorrow's proceedings which Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, will call to order at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A message from President Coolidge is likely to form a feature of the address of Mr. Gibson after his election as presiding officer of the conference.

JAPANESE TO WAIT

W. C. Bridgman, first lord of the British Admiralty, will nominate Mr. Gibson, and after the latter, duplicating the action of former Secretary of State Hughes at Washington, has submitted the American proposals, the British will undoubtedly submit theirs. The Japanese spokesman said tonight when asked to comment:

"Our plan? Oh, we may wait and listen."

The conference may last six weeks, if it goes smoothly, or end quickly if it reveals the impossibility of concord. It will probably bring only a conditional agreement, for Great Britain is almost certain to make limitation depend on France and Italy not exceeding the fixed tonnage, especially for submarines.

The American idea is that the Washington ratio of 5-5-3 for battleships should be extended to other warships.

NEW STORM WITH RAIN HITS KANSAS

Lands Flooded as East and South Sections of State Get Downpour

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 19. (AP) A windstorm of nearly cyclonic force bringing with it a downpour of rain descended upon Eastern and Southeastern Kansas last night and early today. Streams, already swollen from previous rains, were sent out of their banks at many points, flooding farm lands and putting a severe crimp into the approaching harvest of wheat. The waters were receding tonight.

No loss of life was reported, but in some towns in the wind-swept area, debris from wrecked buildings, fallen telephone poles and tree limbs littered the streets. The storm struck in the central eastern part of the State and swept on southeastward into Oklahoma.

At Burlington, a four-inch downpour sent the waters of Rock Creek pouring through the main street and into store buildings.

Clear Creek and Mud Creek left their banks at Marion and water entered the streets of the town. The Cottonwood River from Marion to its junction with the Neosho east of Emporta rose suddenly this morning. Water was standing in cornfields in the vicinity of Emporia today.

At Salina, nearly five inches of rain fell. On some streets water was standing three and four feet deep, with firemen and police pumping water from basements.

DENOUNCES GERMANY

Poincare Makes Old-Time Talk

Criticises Former Foe as Not Showing Proper Humility, and Contesting Victory

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Times]

PARIS, June 19. (Exclusive)—Despite Locarno, the presence of Briand in his Cabinet, the presence of Germany in the League of Nations and the dictates of policy, Premier Poincare today at Luneville, in the war area, launched forth once more in one of his old-time speeches denouncing Germany.

His oration was in many ways a personal defense of his former and present attitude and beliefs. It was an "apologia pro sua vita" more than a direct accusation of post-war Germany for failing to fulfill all the conditions of defeat and showing the kind of humility which the French Premier thinks she ought to show, but indirectly that accusation was strongly implied. In Berlin the speech seems likely to do more harm to Briand's policy of reconciliation than anything that has happened for many months, and here in Paris it is interpreted by all except dyed-in-the-wool Nationalists as hopelessly impolitic.

The form of the speech was the same as the Premier used to make every Sunday five years ago during the Ruhr occupation. He began by recalling all the sufferings in the town in which he was speaking, all the incidents that led up to the war and finally the harshness of occupation.

MAY NOT FORGET

"To ask you to forget these tragic hours would be like inviting you," he said, "to amputate one of your limbs. Your sufferings and the courage with which you faced them are too honorable for you to forget them. But that isn't to say that the inhabitants of Luneville, of Lorraine, and of France should seek in the memory of their terrible sufferings a motive for eternal resentment against a neighbor nation.

"If, immediately after the defeat, Germany had openly disavowed the government and military caste which led her into the war, if she had imitated our example of 1871, if she had not contested against all evidence of the crushing responsibilities of her imperial policy, it would never have entered anyone's mind to associate the German people with their former regime and attribute to the whole of Germany the abominable deeds of which we were witness. We are too just not to make ourselves the necessary distinction and none of us would think of the whole German people with hate and bitterness which contrast badly with the chivalrous traditions of France. In our long and magnificent history our country, every time it has been victorious, has spontaneously offered the hand of friendship to the conquered.

"But there has always been one condition and that was that the vanquished should not seek to contest the victory. France has sought nothing for herself outside of the treaties. She has asked for nothing and will ask for nothing other than security of her frontier and payment of reparations.

"At Locarno, as at Geneva, she has given, I suppose, striking enough proof of her will for peace.

"But why, on her side, has Germany within the past fifteen days

CHILDREN DIE IN RESCUE

Mother Saved From Drowning by Two Boys and Girl, But They Perish

REDDING, June 19. (Exclusive)—Three children saved their mother from drowning near here today but gave their lives in the attempt. Mrs. Maude Foster of a ranch on Montgomery Creek was driving to her home from Redding with her four children, Bertha, 15 years of age; Frank, 13; Marion, 11, and Stella, 17. It was a warm drive.

At the Cow Creek bridge, ten miles east, the mother suggested a dip in the cool water. Bertha, Frank and Marion shouted with glee.

Mrs. Foster was the first into the water. A moment later her terrified screams sounded as she found herself in a hole unable to touch bottom.

Bertha and Marion reached her first. They succeeded in dragging her from the deep water, but the struggle exhausted them and they grasped each other in a despairing effort to keep from sinking.

Frank, sensing their peril, leaped for the two of them. They sank from sight and Frank dove for them. The current caught him and swept him downstream, where it pulled him into another hole.

Stella, almost beside herself with grief, jumped up and down in the highway adjoining and succeeded in getting two motorists to stop; Gordon Z. Ander of Sacramento and Dr. C. R. Sewall of Redding. Together, they fished the bodies of all three children from the water, but too late to save their lives.

Mrs. Foster, who has three other children, is a school-teacher.

ST. LOUIS AT IDOL'S FEET

More Than 100,000 in Park Where Flyer Receives Army Commission

Public Receptions at End and He Now Can Rest Up; Future Undecided

ST. LOUIS, June 19. (AP)—St. Louis chose its most historic beauty spot for its final rendition of public homage today to its youthful, world idolized hero, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. More than 100,000 St. Louisans gathered on the huge hill which rises gently from Forest Park lagoon, always new with memories of the world's fair a quarter of a century ago, to the art museum topping the hill.

At the edge of the lagoon, in full view of the great crowd, was erected an immense speaker's platform from which the boyish New York-to-Paris flyer made another appearance in the series of ovations which has persisted in order at Paris, Brussels, London, Washington, New York and St. Louis since he wafted his silvered monoplane, the Spirit of St. Louis, down on Le Bourget Field four weeks ago.

ATTENDS OPERA

Tonight he attended St. Louis' open-air municipal opera, and after it the fixed program of appearances was at an end and he was free to rest and look to his future.

As to what that future will be there had been no hint excepting last night when Col. Lindbergh and a number of St. Louis business leaders, some of whom helped the youth finance the overseas flight, indicated broadly the idea that he will affiliate himself with air transportation centered at St. Louis.

Col. Lindbergh has thousands of invitations to fly his history-making ship to other cities, but he and his advisers steadfastly have refused to announce the acceptance of any.

Next Tuesday night he will attend a banquet of the Industrial Club of St. Louis. After that only Col. Lindbergh knows what he will do.

The vast throng on the hill was thrilled to wild enthusiasm when Col. Lindbergh hurtled out of the northwest in his famous ship and gave them a daring close-up of "we."

FLIES VERY LOW

Eight times he circled over the crowd, taking precaution of straight flying rather than stunting because of the thousands under him. He flew within thirty feet of the surface of the lagoon at times and every one got a perfect view of "we."

Then the happy colonel dashed back to Lambert-St. Louis Field and was flown back to the Forest Park ceremony by his old commander, Maj. C. R. Wassell, in a training plane.

Col. Lindbergh refused to accede to the arrangement committee's plan to exhibit the Spirit of St. Louis on a float in the Forest Park lagoon when he learned it would involve dismantling and reassembling his beloved ship.

"No," he demurred. "Her wings have been taken off for the last time. Never again."

While the colonel was over Forest Park, twenty-five other ships were in the air, four individuals and twenty-one in formation, the pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Mich., commanded by Maj. Thomas Lanphier.

MOTHER CHEERED

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, the young flyer's mother, arrived in a party which included Dwight Davis, Secretary of War; Harry B. Hawes, United States Senator from Missouri; Gov. Samuel A. Baker, Mayor Victor B. Miller and several of those who chipped in to meet Lindbergh's last $2000 to make the New York-to-Paris flight possible.

Mrs. Lindbergh was unusually composed and confidently stepped to the edge of the high platform to acknowledge the tornado of cheering, which broke from the great crowd

COAST-TO-COAST AIRPLANE LINES WILL START SOON

Passenger Service From New York to Los Angeles and Bay City May Operate Next Month

WASHINGTON, June 19. (Exclusive)—Within a short time transcontinental passenger service by air from New York to Los Angeles and San Francisco will be in operation if plans now being made by two airplane companies having air mail contracts materialize, it was disclosed here today. The chief inducement to make the journey across the continent is a reduction of nearly three days which the airplane can save over the time of the fastest trains, it was said.

The Boeing Air Transport, Inc., and the National Air Transport, Inc., which now transport the mail, respectively, from Chicago to San Francisco and from New York to Chicago, are the companies described as contemplating the inauguration of passenger service from coast to coast. Connections will be made at Salt Lake City with the Western Air Express which now operates the air mail and passenger route between that city and Los Angeles.

Rapid air transportation to the West Coast also will be available to all New England as the Colonial Air Transport now operates a scheduled mail and passenger air-way from Boston to New York, at which latter city connections can be made with planes flying to Cleveland and Chicago.

By the middle of July, the Boeing Company, which now is building modern pursuit planes for the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, will let down the bars and place the opportunity of getting from Chicago to Los Angeles or San Francisco in twenty-two hours up to the business man, as against more than sixty hours by the fastest train.

George P. Tidmarsh, represenattive of the Boeing Company here, said that a rate schedule has not been agreed on, but he assumes it will be between 10 and 15 cents a mile. The planes which will go into service July 1 are being built and have the advantage over the department's mail planes of being equipped with the new Pratt and Whitney "Wasp" 400-horsepower, air-cooled radial engine, itself a saving of 600 pounds over the installation of the water-cooled Liberty.

By the installation of the "Wasp" space for two passengers in a cockpit comparable to a small coupe has been made available while the remainder of the cargo space is given over to the mail. Mr. Tidmarsh explained that should the mail run extra heavy and passengers are booked to go through one or both probably will have to sacrifice the trip for the mail.

The National Air Transport will place in service between New York and Chicago a fleet of Douglas air-mail planes which it bought at auction at the department several days ago. These planes are constructed solely for the purpose of carrying mail and no space is available for passengers. However, the company has one Ford all-metal, three-engine passenger plane capable of carrying ten persons and ten travel-air cabin biplanes which can carry at least four persons on each trip. It is thought here that the National Air Transport will run these and other passenger ships parallel with the mail planes, thus keeping to their schedule.

Besides the Western Air Express operating between Los Angeles and Salt Lake, other passenger air-mail now running with scheduled air-mail regularity are: Colorado Air-Ways, Inc., between Cheyenne and Pueblo, Colo., $45 a round-trip; the Pacific Air Transport, from Seattle to Los Angeles, 1073 miles, for $132 one way; the Stout Air Service, between Detroit and Grand Rapids, the only company issuing commutation books of ten trips at $160 a book. There are numerous other contract air-mail routes already in existence that do not now carry passengers, but have plans for doing so in the future. Several other contract lines will be opened up before the summer is over, including the New York-Atlanta route, on which Washington is a relay point.

RAIL FUSION ANNOUNCED OPERATIVE

Commission to Be Asked for Approval of Forming New Great Northern

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—The plan for the unification of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads has been declared operative by the deposit committee, it was announced here tonight. The committee also has approved the making of application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for its approval of the acquisition of control by the Great Northern Pacific Railway Company, a new Delaware corporation, of the two northern companies and the Spokane, Portland and Seattle.

The plan as announced provides for the acquisition of the stock of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific by exchanging stock in the new company on a share-for-share basis. The new company also will take over leases of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle and roads controlled by the two northern companies. Deposits of 70 per cent of the outstanding stock of the northern companies have been made under the unification plan, the committee announced.

The leases contemplate the transfer to the new company for ninety-nine years of substantially all the properties of the two northern companies.

The new company offers to purchase at a fair value to be determined, all stock of holders who do not desire to exchange their shares in the northern companies for new company stock, or to continue as stockholders in the old companies.

CLOUDS AGAIN DELAY BYRD

Airman Says Ocean Flight to be for Purpose of Studying Atlantic Fogs and Winds

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) June 19. (AP)—Unless weather conditions over the North Atlantic improve more rapidly than is expected, the Fokker monoplane America will not hop off on its proposed flight to Paris before Tuesday, Commander Byrd said today. If the plane is held on the ground tomorrow, Commander Byrd said he will take advantage of the delay to go to Boston to attend commencement exercises at Tufts College, where he is to receive an honorary degree of master of science.

The plane rested in its hangar today and was the magnet for a large crowd that braved the showers for a glimpse of the big three-motored ship.

Commander Byrd said today that he has no definite flight plans beyond his arrival at Paris.

"Our instructions," he said, "from Rodman Wanamaker are for a flight to Paris. What we will do after we arrive there I cannot say."

FOG STUDY PLANNED

Discussing the coming flight, Commander Byrd said he hopes to wrest from fog banks, wind-storm area and temperatures on the Atlantic secrets which will further the science of flying between the New World and the Old. He explained today the scientific purpose of his forthcoming nonstop flight to Paris.

One of the chief purposes of the flight, he said, will be to find the fastest and safest flying lane to Europe. Whether the fastest lane will coincide with the safest, he said, he does not know.

"One of the things we are trying to prove," he said, "is that by getting weather predictions based on reports from ships at sea, one can tell at any time what the weather is across the Atlantic which will be an invaluable aid to trans-Atlantic flyers.

"In this connection I might say the Radio Corporation of America has already been sending us very valuable reports, based on messages radioed from ships at sea. That is the only method by which we can get weather predictions. This is the first time it has ever been done and it is a most interesting experiment. Undoubtedly this system of gathering weather reports for trans-Atlantic flying will be a regular thing in time.

"When regular flights are made across the Atlantic every ship on the sea probably will give steady reports.

BOY PREACHES FOR COOLIDGE

Wins Presidential Smile After Sermon

Tiny Church Spick and Span for Occasion

years had trod stretched down a narrow aisle. On an oaken upright piano at which a blushing young woman played hesitatingly rested a large glass fish-bowl laden with the yellow rose of the prairie. Red, white and blue ribbons marked the row of four seats where the President and Mrs. Coolidge sat alone.

Overhead a stove-pipe, which was to be connected with a wood-burner in winter, hung perilously from a single strand of wires. The old time-worn boards creaked noisily as the congregation rose to sing the first hymn, the President did not join, but Mrs. Coolidge's voice came clearly and apparently encouraged, a rancher's wife dressed in Sunday voile, picked up the melody in a deep, if unsteady, alto. Hesitatingly, then, the pianist picked out a religious tune as two members of the church passed the collection plates. Mr. Coolidge dropped into one of them a $5 bill. From him it passed on to the remainder of his party, silver dollars clanking noisily as it was handed from one to the other.

SERVICE WAS BRIEF

The entire service was brief and the sermon from the blond Lium took only ten minutes. A young farmer sang a hymn, less disturbed by the distinguished couple who sat before him than by the feel of his tight-fitting Sunday clothes.

Reading from notes, the youthful preacher proceeded rapidly through his sermon. His voice was strong and clear and both the President and Mrs. Coolidge listened attentively.

"Belief in God," he said, "is essential in accomplishing any noble purpose. The church serves a threefold purpose, it offers opportunity for unification of family and community spirit. It gives time for meditation, an essential element of life. It inspires self-confidence in the worshiping of the Almighty Being."

He stood there, tall, stalwart, and able-looking, boyish mannerisms taking the place of professional gestures, which might be expected in a more seasoned preacher.

When it was all over, Lium admitted that he had his sermon well in mind some days in advance, but added:

HAD IT WELL OILED

"I surely oiled it up well during the last few days, believe me." Turning to reporters, who surrounded him, he inquired if the President intended to attend his church all summer. Receiving no definite answer, he remarked with a sigh: "It is quite a strain."

After the services were over, the President and Mrs. Coolidge waited their departure until Lium had joined them at their seats. Before pronouncing the benediction, Rev. Williams had asked the congregation to await the departure of "our honored guests."

Lium advanced hesitatingly from the pulpit and then came forward reassured by happy smiles from both the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Rev. Williams also came forward and with Lium at his side, followed by Mrs. Coolidge and Rev. Williams, the President walked from the church.

Outside, a host of cameramen including a group of amateurs, stopped them for a picture and all patiently waited until every form of picture had been made. Word had been given out from the summer White House several days ago that the President would attend this church and a crowd was on hand.

Lium said Mr. Coolidge recalled that Marion Burton, late president of the University of Michigan who nominated him for President, also attended Carleton College.

Lium is taking the medical course at Carleton College, which is located in his home city, with a view of entering the missionary service. He had a job in sight for this summer of driving a truck in Wyoming, and he confessed that for a moment he wished he had gone to the truck when he learned that he would face the President in his first effort.

OLD PLACER PAN TO BE SHELVED

Operators Will Use Modern Methods on Rag Gulch Gravel Deposits

BAKERSFIELD, June 20. (Exclusive)—An attempt to develop the placer gold deposits in Rag Gulch on the Harry Quinn ranch with modern equipment instead of crude equipment, such as has been used in the past, has been announced in Bakersfield by G. W. Joyner and John B. Dowd.

Pannings of the placer sand have revealed colors in every pan, the local men say, and it is believed that the metal can be obtained in paying quantities with modern machinery. Joyner and Dowd have obtained mining leases on the property, which occupies the north half of Sec. 36, 25-28, thirty miles north of Bakersfield.

Reno Air Force to Be Reduced on July First

RENO (Nev.) June 19. (Exclusive) With transfer of control of the airmail service from Chicago to San Francisco to pass from the government to a private corporation on July 1, Reno will lose its importance as one of the chief air ports of the West. Officials of the Reno field have been advised that only one pilot will be maintained here, and the force of mechanics and clerks discharged.

Since the transcontinental air service started Reno has been one of the main ports, with three aviators on duty at the local field, and about thirty clerks, mechanics and other workers employed. The new planes will make the flight from Salt Lake City to San Francisco with a brief stop here.

BERKELEY MEN SCOUT DESERT

University Explorers Go to Lower California

Little Known Mexican Area Will Be Combed

Ancient Descanso Mission Site Discovered

BERKELEY, June 19. (Exclusive)—Continuing on a geographical study of Lower California, which has been in progress for the last two months, University of California geographers are now penetrating some of the most sparsely settled and little-known areas of Mexico, according to reports sent here.

Peveril Meigs and Fred Kniffen, teaching fellows in the geography department of the university, are headed for the southernmost part of the great desert that occupies the major part of the peninsula.

Mexican settlements, more than 300 miles south of the border known to only a small number of American travelers, will be visited.

Meigs, accompanied by Horace R. Byers, meteorological observer, has been in Lower California since the early part of May, confining activities to the area along the west coast from Ensenada northward a distance of sixty-five miles. Byers returned to Berkeley two days ago.

Dr. Carl O. Sauer, chairman of the geography department, passed a week in the northern part of the peninsula, during which time the granite area, from the Guadulepe Valley northward, was studied. This area is from twenty to thirty miles inland from the west coast, between Ensenada and Tia Juana.

Meigs and Kniffen will make an effort to determine the southern limit of the desert area and establish the natural regions of the peninsula.

Their work will take them to Rosaria, a small settlement on the gulf coast of the peninsula, which has been visited by relatively few Americans. They will map and study the east coast and interior areas. Large parts of the area never have been mapped, nor has any account been written of them

On the present trip the location of Descanso Mission was determined definitely, it is said. Its situation was not known before. Mexicans had mistaken other ruins for the old mission, but the University of California geographers found evidence that the mission was located at a lower and more accessible spot.

QUIZ ON IN OIL FRAUDS IN ILLINOIS

Lake County Treasurer, Asserted Defaulter, Said to Have Bunkoed Farmers

CHICAGO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Investigation of reports that hundreds of farmers sank their life savings in the oil-stock promotion that led to the asserted $100,000 defalcation of Treasurer Roy W. Bracher of Lake county and the arrest of Bracher and four others, was begun today by officials at Waukegan.

Caleb Busick of Winnetka, president of the Barrington Oil Company, one of those under arrest, was to be questioned as to the identity of his investors.

Also, is is planned to send investigators into the rural districts—particularly the west and the southwest sections of Lake county—to talk with the farmers reported to have invested.

While this phase of the investigation was being developed, it was disclosed that Harold Martin, former employee of the Lake County Treasurer's office, former cashier of the defunct Security Bank of Waukegan and secretary and treasurer of the Barrington concern, is under arrest in Brownsville, Tex. He will be brought back to face the charges involving him with Bracher.

Martin is declared to have made it possible for Bracher to conceal the asserted misuse of county funds by providing him with certificates of deposit, this deceit not becoming apparent until the bank ceased to exist.

Ira Pearsall, who served as County Treasurer between the first and second terms of Bracher and who is asserted to have concealed the other's shortage, is at liberty under bonds, as is also Clark C. Nye, banker of Eureka, Kan., an official of the Barrington company.

CRIME PROBLEM UP TO VOTER

Angeleno Tells Advertising Clubs Disregard of Civic Duties Fosters Evils in America

PORTLAND (Or.) June 19. (AP)—Greater interest in American citizenship was declared by Harold J. Stonier, vice-president of the University of Southern California, speaking before the largest gathering of advertising men and women ever assembled at a Pacific Coast convention, to be the only effective solution of the crime problem in America today.

"The American people whine and yell more about their government and do less about it than any other self-governed people in the world," said Mr. Stonier in a plea to bring civic responsibility back into American life.

"Never has the protection of life and property in American been so weak as it is today.

"The list of crimes against life in America today has never been paralleled in any civilized area before. The record of crime against life is paralleled by the the record of crime against property.

BETTER THAN DESERTS

"We complain about our officials, but let me say that official conduct in America is better than the people have any right to expect.

"When less than 40 per cent of the people actually vote and control governmental matters—and sometimes the figure is as low as 20 per cent—no man has a right to complain against the type of government that is returned."

The convention was called to order by Marshal N. Dana, president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs, with a gold-banded gavel presented him by Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Territory of Hawaii and president of the Honolulu Advertising Club. Music was furnished by the Nick Carter Varsitarians of the University of Washington, a contribution of the Seattle Ad Club, and by the Glee Club of the San Francisco delegation.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS

An address of welcome was delivered by Gov. Patterson, who commended organized advertising on its conspicuous success in making truth the keynote of advertisers.

The business sessions of the convention will begin tomorrow and continue until Thursday, with the intervening entertainment features. On Thursday the visitors will enjoy a trout breakfast at Eagle Creek and a trip around the Mt. Hood and Columbia River highways.

EXECUTIONS UPHELD BY RED PRESS

Moscow Journals Charge Western Nations Indulge in Same Measures

MOSCOW, June 19, (AP)—With one accord the morning press publish editorials on the indignation expressed by the so-called western bourgeois press concerning the recent executions. They put forth arguments purporting to show that while indulging in similar repressions the western nations inconsistently express horror over the necessary measures of self-preservation adopted by the soviet government.

Izvestia declares that failure of the workers and peasants to deliver an open and direct counter-blow would have given encouragement to the violence of their enemies.

Rabotshaya (labor) Gazette says the most dangerous spies have been caught but the pity is that so many are still at large.

Pravda gives figures purporting to show that reprisals conducted against prisoners in Bulgaria, England, United States, China, Poland and Rumania greatly overshadow the soviet repressive measures.

One Killed When Officer Fights Drunken Rioters

LEAVENWORTH (Wash.) June 19. (AP)—One man is dead, another in the hospital with two bullet wounds and four are in jail as the result of an encounter early today between Constable Joe Teschera and a gang of laborers.

The town was in turmoil tonight in fear of I.W.W. reprisals for the double shooting.

According to the story told Sheriff Wheeler by Constable Teschera, a gang of seven men, were rioting drunkenly in front of a cafe when Teschera ordered them to move on. Instead of obeying, they attacked the officer.

The agreement reached between the representatives of both governments will be submitted to President Calles for approval.

SEATTLE IN WELCOME TO GEN. WOOD TODAY

SEATTLE, June 19. (AP)—Plans for the reception of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, Governor-General of the Philippines, upon his return to the United States tomorrow will be kept extremely simple because neither he nor his wife is in the best of health. When he arrives at Seattle from the Philippines aboard the American Mail liner President Madison, Gen. Wood will be escorted by officers of the Army, National Guard and reserves to the University Legion clubhouse, where he is to be formally received. He is scheduled to leave for Washington a few hours later.

PAGEANT AT SHRINE MEET FALLS FLAT

Atlantic City Cold to Charms of Cinema Stars; Promoter Loses Heavily

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) June 19. (Exclusive)—Motion-picture actors and actresses who came here from Hollywood to appear in a night pageant on the boardwalk in connection with the Shriners' conclave left for home on a special train at noon today, following a more or less stormy finale.

The promoter of the affair, Harry Brown, Los Angeles studio equipment contractor and director-general of the pageant here, found a deficit of $169,000 confronting him. Although one or two attachments were sued out against him he paid all his bills and left for home.

According to members of Brown's staff, all the money collected from the sale of seats for Thursday night's pageant, the first of a series of three scheduled, was turned over to the Shriners with the understanding that Brown was to keep the money derived from the sale of seats for the pageant Friday and Saturday nights. The seat sale Friday night, however, was negligible and following a conference with the Mayor it was decided to call off Saturday's affair. A moving picture ball staged on the steel pier Thursday night at the close of the pageant yielded only $700.

There were twenty-six elaborate floats in the pageant and the entire expense was borne by Brown, with the result that he is considerably out of pocket.

Crowds of supers, men and girls, who rode on the parade floats waited in vain at the pageant office last night for their pay. They were promised that they would get it later.

The pageant officials declared most of their loss is in cash, since they found it difficult to get credit here and they are not particularly impressed with the advertising they have derived from the whole affair.

ARMS PARLEY OPENS TODAY

ostentatiously sent to Lisbon a warship which is still called Elsass?

"Why, in speeches delivered November 1 and 3, 1925, that is to say, after Locarno—did a Minister of the Reich say that renunciation of armed force had been merely imposed on Germany because Germany no longer possesses armed force?

"Why did he say there is no moral renunciation of any kind of lost provinces or of German populations?

"And why has another German Minister more pointedly added that he considers Alsace still a German province and in renouncing violence, Germany hadn't in any way renounced any German country?

"Can the Berlin government believe such interpretation of the Locarno accords responds to the French sentiment?

OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

"Why, moreover, do German financial authorities spread now the report that before two more years Germany will ask a revision of the Dawes plan payments and will not pay any more on the present scale? Is that kind of talk on two questions which are most vital to France wise and conciliatory? If Germany would say to us frankly 'We renounce Alsace-Lorraine which we took from you by force in 1871 and which unanimously protested against annexation, we will never try to retake them either by violence or by ruse or in any manner whatever;' if at the same time she consented to reorganize her police force as required to dissolve military associations, abolish arsenals and barracks, which she has kept in defiance of treaty; to complete destruction of fortresses — then she would give to the world guarantees which would dissipate all disquiet and make easy and possible the good understanding which we certainly desire.

"France has most ardently sought and would seek no other relationship with Germany than peace within the terms of the treaties which she signed."

SITTER SET TO BE SET UP SAT ON

Which Means That Shipwrecked Kelly After Winning World Title for 300 Hours at Ease on Flagpole Hasn't Fitting Welcomer on Descent

NEWARK (N. J.) June 19. (Exclusive)—At 10:30 p.m. today the world was on the verge of another epoch. It was being made as fast as science, invention and human achievement would do it.

To the names of Alexander the Great, Pythagoras, Julis Caesar, Christopher Columbus, Napoleon and Charles A. Lindbergh the world was about to add the name of "Shipwreck" Kelly.

For at 10:30 dauntless "Shipwreck" was within an ace of his goal, which the world knows was the undisputed world's record for flagpole sitting.

"Shipwreck," flirting with the record of 300 hours, or 12 1-2 days, was still firmly ensconced upon his stool atop the fifty-four-foot flagpole of the St. Francis Hotel. Like ocean flyers, the champion sitter is extremely modest.

"We," said "Shipwreck," "that is, of course, my pole and me, don't deserve any especial credit."

At a late hour tonight there was much public indignation because Newark has no counterpart for New York's famous welcomer, Grover Whalen, and "Shipwreck" was all set to descend and be welcomed.

ST. LOUIS PAYS HERO HOMAGE

when the amplifiers roared the announcement of her arrival.

Mrs. Lindbergh and the notables took seats under a blazing sun, which shone with such vigor that already ten women and men in the closely packed crowd had fainted and had been taken to the first-aid station.

From Secretary of War Davis, Lindbergh received his commission as a colonel in the United States Army Air Force Reserve, and Gov. Baker handed the daring youth the commission of a colonel in the air force of the Missouri National Guard, in which he was a captain when he flew across the Atlantic.

COMPARED WITH KING

"Today, before this statue of the patron saint of St. Louis, we are gathered to do honor to the pride of St. Louis, Charles Lindbergh," said Secretary of War Davis. "King Louis the Ninth, Saint Louis, tried in vain to conquer foreign peoples by force of arms; Lindbergh captured the whole world by his skill, by his gallantry—above all, by his modesty. The Spirit of St. Louis, the crusader of old, was builded on faith, chivalry and idealism; the Spirit of St. Louis, today, as typified by our crusader of the air, is builded on the same firm foundation.

"It was a happy inspiration which named Lindbergh's plane 'The Spirit of St. Louis.' In its proud and soaring flight it well typifies the spirit of this fair city. And the pilot, tall above his fellows, may well suggest the city's patron saint before whose monument we stand, who was 'every inch a king.' Louis IX of France was a lover of peace but a crusader—charitable but rigorously just, and save for his mother, Blanche of Castille, he rode alone, ruling without favorites or prime minister. How fitting that a plane with such a name, piloted by such a youth, should fly from America to her ancient ally, France! Lindbergh worthily represents, not only the spirit of St. Louis, but the spirit of America; above all, the spirit of glorious, daring, all-conquering youth.

"Lindbergh has given inspiration to glorious youth of today. Romance is not dead in a commercialized world. The spirit of aventure still lives. Imagination, skill, hard work, coupled with simplicity, modesty and, above all, scornful refusal to commercialize his epochal deed, give an inspiring example."

"The trans-Atlantic flight was made for the purpose of helping aeronautics," Col. Lindbergh said, "and to put St. Louis where it belongs in aeronautics.

AIRPLANE VS. TRAIN

"It takes eighty-five hours to cross the United States by train. 'The Spirit of St. Louis' on its trip across the continent, across the Atlantic, from place to place, in Europe and half-way back across the United States, has been in the air but eighty hours. The durability of the motor of the Spirit of St. Louis, is from 200 to 250 hours without overhauling, and 1000 to 1500 hours with overhauling."

Then Col. Lindbergh gave another hint as to what his future will be.

"St. Louis is in position to be the center of air lines in the United States; with proper co-operation, we can put St. Louis where it belongs as the center of aviation in the country."

Then surrounded by the notables and accompanied by his mother, Col. Lindbergh climbed the long hill to the Art Museum through a lane of regular infantrymen and, as the last act of his four weeks of public acclaim, hung a wreath on the symbolic statue of St. Louis.

The colonel's first act today was to pay a friendly call on 250 wounded World War veterans at Jefferson Barracks.

First to greet him near the hospital were four legless veterans who wheeled their chairs up to his automobile, deftly wheeled about and preceded him as a guard of honor up the steep hillside to the hospital door. The flyer seemed moved more than a little and was unusually solemn of visage.

BLIND MEN GREET HIM

Solicitously and yet hurriedly, Lindbergh poked his head in every dormitory door and waved his hand as Commandant H. W. Baker said quietly: "This is Col. Lindbergh, boys."

Two blind veterans groped smilingly toward the hero and Lindbergh shook their hands in both of his.

Once the distinguished figure stepped back from an open doorway like a boy whose feelings are hurt, quite without warning.

Before him lay a haggard figure, trying to smile through a swathing of gauze while two nurses rubbed cool hands over his forehead.

"Hello," said Lindbergh, and hurried away.

After he had visited those who are confined to their rooms the colonel went to a small auditorium and greeted those who had assembled there.

MADE "COMRADE"

Commandant Baker suggested that the hospital make Lindbergh a "comrade," and the deed was done in a mighty chorus of "ayes," while the aviator began shaking hands with each of his new "buddies."

Lindbergh, like most folks who pay a sick call, brought some "goodies." His gift was an enormous fruit cake which was presented him last night at the St. Louis banquet. It measured more than two feet across, was six inches thick, and decked in icing and colorful festoons, including a candy model of The Spirit of St. Louis.

"It's for mess," he said simply, and away to the mess hall it went.

ANGELENO RECALLS AID TO FLYER'S GRANDFATHER

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh probably owes his existence to the fact that Mrs. L. E. Tubbs, now residing in Los Angeles, aided in saving his grandfather's life sixty-seven years ago, after he had been seriously injured in a sawmill accident.

In 1855 Mrs. Tubbs, then twenty years of age, journeyed to Sauk Center, Minn., from her home in Maine, with her young husband to take up a homestead. It was while living in a log cabin, the only building in what is new Sauk Center, that Mrs. Tubbs was instrumental in saving the life of Lindbergh's grandfather, who had come to this country from Sweden.

Ole Lindbergh, the grandfather, lived at Melrose, ten miles from Sauk Center, and had traveled to the sawmill for lumber needed to finish his home. He accidentally was thrown across the saw which severed his arm and caused other injuries. Carried to the log cabin, he was treated and cared for by Mrs. Tubbs and Rev. C. S. Harrison, a missionary, until three days later a doctor arrived from St. Cloud, fifty miles away.

A letter has been sent to Col. Lindbergh telling about this incident in his grandfather's life, and Mrs. Tubbs is awaiting a reply.

"Yes, I am filing a divorce against Mr. Pickford as soon as my residence has been established here and I suppose it will go through the regular way," she announced while blithely reclining on a luxurious divan, "and meantime I am going to get a much-needed rest."

Her smile gave way to an expression of concern when the reporter told her that the French courts had threatened to use against her her reported statement about "Paris being the easiest place in the world to get a divorce because all you do is take up a legal residence there."

"Huh! I haven't heard about that—what's it all about?" she snapped back, whereupon the correspondent again explained the French resentment over her slurs on Paris being a "soft place" for divorce seekers.

"Why, I never said anything against Paris at any time or anywhere. Somebody has been kidding the French, I guess, and me, too," she said.

"Please, please, deny the whole story," she pleaded. "It looks to me like somebody is trying to queer our plans. We could have obtained a divorce in America but chose Paris because we

CLOUDS AGAIN TO DELAY BYRD

Then we will be absolutely certain about weather conditions. We can't be certain at present.

Commander Byrd predicted that a weather station will be established on the great Greenland ice cap. This great block of ice, he said, is believed by certain scientists to be responsible for the storms on the Atlantic, which often come suddenly and without warning. The great ice cap, he said, is a huge block of ice about 1500 miles long, 500 miles wide and from one to two miles thick. With the establishment of a weather observatory on the ice cap, where winds and temperatures could be investigated, he said, within two or three years we ought to be able to predict with certainty these Atlantic storms.

Commander Byrd said fog banks encountered by Col. Lindbergh as well as Chamberlin and Levine, offers another field for scientific investigation on the America's trip to Paris. He pointed out that it is important for future transocean flyers to know whether or not a fog bank extends from the water level to the clouds above or whether the "roof" of the fog bank lies a distance below the clouds.

The reports of Lindbergh and Chamberlin "headed" seemed to indicate that there was no clear space between the water level of the fogs and the clouds above.

Byrd said he will devote close attention to the Atlantic winds in an effort to find out

Wives Rush From Berlin and Share in Ovation

First of Official Fetes for Ocean Flyers Arranged

VIENNA, June 19. (AP)—Hopping off from Berlin this morning, Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, the American trans-Atlantic flyers, in the Bellanca plane, reached Munich about 3:35 in the afternoon, and landed safely at Vienna at 7:25 this evening in a pouring rain.

Many high dignitaries of the Austrian government and city officials, as well as the entire general staff of the Austrian army were waiting for the aviators in a reserved inclosure at Aspern Field. Outside were thousands of men and women who roared a welcome to the visitors. The sun had shone most of the day, but late in the afternoon it had clouded, and rain continued steadily.

SALUTES THRONG

Chamberlin and Levine were hoisted shoulder high, and the pilot of the Columbia saluted the assembly, shouting: "Guten tag, wien!"

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine arrived a few minutes later in a passenger plane, one of the escort of more than half a dozen machines.

The American aviators were carried to the stand at the side of the flying field, where most of the ministers greeted them, while an official welcome was extended to the airmen's wives who had followed them from Germany and who, when they landed, were immediately showered with great bouquets of flowers.

STEIN OF BEER

During all the official ceremony of welcome the crowd that had been waiting for hours through sunshine and drenching rain kept up a roar of cheers, and when finally the airmen stepped into an automobile to be driven around the field where all could see them, the police cordons were crushed and there was a scene of hero worship such as the Viennese have seldom witnessed.

The crowds surged around the automobile and when at length order was restored someone stepped forward and proffered the aviators a stein of beer. As the airmen proceeded around the field a military band played the "Stars and Stripes," and mounted police with drawn swords escorted the automobile.

From the airdrome in the twilight they went to their hotel, where a site had been provided by the government there to prepare for an official dinner, the first of many fetes arranged for them in Vienna.

BAVARIA GIVES FLYERS GAY WELCOME

MUNICH (Germany) June 19. (AP) Bavaria's reception to Chamberlin and Levine on their arrival here this afternoon from Berlin in their plane Columbia was quite as boisterous and hearty as accorded the American flyers on their tour of a dozen or more German cities in the past week. Munich's disappointment at their failure to appear a week ago was forgotten, when the Columbia, piloted by Chamberlin and escorted by a half dozen other planes, hove in sight shortly after 3 o'clock.

No sooner had the landing been made, when the crowds broke through the police cordons and made a rush for the two flyers before the welcoming committees and other delegations had an opportunity to hand them the freedom of the city. Chamberlin and Levine and their wives finally succeeded in liberating themselves from the friendly impetuosity of the spectators, and were hurried in motor cars to the Rathaus, where a formal welcome was extended by the Lord Mayor, representatives of the Bavarian Ministry and Aero Club and the American Consul.

GIVEN AMERICAN FLAGS

After the welcoming addresses were concluded the aviators stepped out on the balcony where they were lustily acclaimed by the throngs in the street. The flyers were presented by the city of Munich with the American flag to which were attached white and blue ribbons, the colors of Bavaria, while their wives were handed a "lebkuchen," a prized local delicacy in the shape of a heart. The aviators also were presented with the golden pin of the German touring club's official honor decoration.

The trip from Berlin took less than five hours, although the planes encountered head winds all the way. They made the start for Vienna at 5:35.

THEIR DEED APPROVED

"As we are about to leave German soil," says the proclamation, "we wish to express our most sincere thanks to the German people and government and all the authorities for the hospitable reception and numerous distinctions and honors accorded us. When the Columbia almost a fortnight ago landed on German soil the enthusiasm and jubilation with which we were received proved how highly our deed was appraised by the German people. Since then this enthusiasm has never waned wherever we went.

"We are scarcely able to express how deeply we are touched by all these honors, and on our return to America it will give us the greatest satisfaction to describe our reception in Germany. We also hope that our flight may have brought the hearts of our respective nations closer together, and in this we would see the greatest distinction conferred for our flight.

"May the day be not far off when we will greet a German air conqueror of the ocean in America, so that the dream of all of us, air traffic between America and Europe, may soon be realized."

Flight Entrant Reputed Expert With Parachute

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 19. (Exclusive)—Eugene Conrad of San Benito. Tex., who is announced as an entrant in the Dallas-Hongkong flight, attained considerable note as a parachute expert while serving in the parachute department at Kelly Field.

Conrad, in addition to holding the world altitude record for a parachute jump, was the first man to race a plane to the ground in a free jump and beat the plane to earth. Conrad performed this feat at Kerrville, near San Antanio, in 1924, nosing the plane out by a narrow margin. Later, as head of the parachute department he perfected a device for pulling a passenger from the cockpit of a disabled plane without danger of fouling the shroud lines.

COLBY ROMANCE UP IN AIR

At Least, Winifred Stoner's Mother Denies Wedding Plans, But Her Eyes Twinkle

NEW YORK, June 19. (Exclusive)—Winifred Sackville Stoner, Jr., 25 years of age, better known as the "beautiful prodigy," will not marry Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State in Wilson's Cabinet, according to her mother, Winifred Sackville Stoner. That is, Mother Stoner denied the romance exists, but she could not deny the least suspicion of a twinkle in her eyes while she made the denial. Winifred and Colby both are getting divorces, Winifred on the grounds of infidelity, from Louis Hyman, and Colby on statutory grounds from Natalie Sedgwick Colby, author of "Green Forest." They have known each other for a number of years, both being writers of some note.

Mrs. Stoner admitted her daughter and Colby are great friends, but as to their marriage plans, she doubted there are any.

"Winifred's first marriage to Count Charles Philipe de Bruche was ideal," said her mother. "She was only 16 at the time, but she had the intellect of a man of 50. She already had written several books and could speak nine languages. She had passed her college examinations at the age of 8 and had published a Mother Goose in Esperanto when she was 7. So you see she was fitted to be the companion of de Bruche, who was unusually intelligent. They were intensely happy for a year—then he was killed in an auotmobile accident.

"Her second marriage a year later to Louis Hyman was not a success. They first were attracted to each other by their mutual love of horses and riding. She did not use her brain in the most important thing in life—marriage. He was good natured but dull. But what was far worse, he went out with other women when she most needed him—when she was sick in a hospital. I persuaded her to get a divorce and I am very thankful she has taken my advice.

"Winifred, in spite of her modern ideas, still believes in the old-fashioned marriage. She thinks the husband should wear the pants of the family and do all the providing. According to her, no woman can respect a man she has to support. Religion is another stumbling block in matrimonial ventures. She thinks mixed marriages can mean nothing but discord and divorce. She herself is an agnostic."

Winifred Stoner will receive no alimony, and asks for none. She wishes complete freedom, unhampered by reminders of the matrimonial disaster.

GEORGIA TO STAMP OUT GAS GYPSY

Aid Will Not Be Given Motorist Unable to Prove Support at Destination

ATLANTA (Ga.) June 19. (AP)—"Gasoline gypsies," and their "alarming increase," has received official recognition.

They were defined as a "type of roving, begging people," in the biennial report of the State Department of Public Welfare, which called attention to the number of families seemingly wandering aimlessly over the country in dilapidated automobiles and "living off the generosity of well-meaning citizens."

Travel by automobile, the report declared, has brought many problems, "but none greater perhaps than the family who rides into town in a rickety car, asking for and sometimes demanding, gas, oil and even tires that they may continue their journey."

Twenty cities of Georgia have entered into a "transportation agreement" to curb the "gasoline gypsies." It stipulates that no wandering motorist will be passed on by a welfare agency until it has been established that he has means of self-support at his destination.

E Johnson of Sacramento was injured. The party was returning home from a dance at Camino when their car hit a rock at a curve and was hurled against a tree nine feet above the road level.

OTHERS ON WAY

The committee was advised that entry notices for The Pride of San Diego, and for a new three-engined Ford plane are in the mail.

The tour, which had its inception in Detroit, in 1925, originally was known as the annual commercial airplane reliability tour for a trophy offered by Edsel Ford. The title was changed this year to the national air tour as more befitting the scope of the event.

The tour committee emphasized today that while speed will be an important factor in determining the winner, the tour is primarily a reliability and efficiency contest.

In addition to the Edsel B. Ford trophy, cash prizes ranging from $2500 for first place to $300 for tenth place have been posted, and there will be cash prizes and trophies offered by some of the cities on the itinerary for the plane that arrives first, the plane that carries the greatest number of passengers, and the plane that makes the best speed on a particular leg of the flight.

The Ford trophy is open to the field this year, the Travel Air Manufacturing Company of Wichita, Kan., which won it in 1925 and 1926 having no entry this year.

Stern Aegis of Law Surrounds Wisconsin Hens

MADISON (Wis.) June 19. (Exclusive)—When Gov. Zimmerman attaches his signature to a bill designed to protect the hen houses of Wisconsin from raids, Badger State poultry will have been elevated to a plane now enjoyed by thoroughbred cattle and real estate, not forgetting to mention human beings.

The bill requires all buyers of poultry for market to register annually with the county clerk and to keep a record of all purchases, with a general description of the birds and the name of the seller. The aim is to trace the sales of stolen birds back to the thief, who is liable to severe penalty, so that marketing will prove a risky business.

Similar protection is expected to be given poultry raisers in Illinois and Minnesota, who through repeated raids have suffered losses of over $2,0000,000. Rewards of $500 have been posted in one county in Wisconsin but as yet have failed to prove a deterrent to the marauders, who have in some instances made away with every hen in several adjoining farms as one night's work.

"HOME FOLKS"

AS A RESULT of our type of operation, we are "home folks" from Fresno to the Mexican line. As such we are intimately acquainted with the problems of each locality. We are vitally interested in solving those problems.

We believe in, and have supported, the co-operative marketing movement in California. We believe it is the outstanding contribution to the marketing end of scientific agriculture. We number the great co-operatives among our customers and they number us among their staunchest friends.

We entered the agricultural territories prepared to carry on and, like Mr. Britling, "see it through."

We believe we have been, in no small way, instrumental in the "come back" of the Imperial Valley. We have been foremost in the development and support of the cotton industry in the Southwest. We have been proponents of and financiers for the reorganized raisin industry in the San Joaquin Valley. We have carried the bean industry up the Coast through the cycle of years of subnormal rainfall.

We have made the problems of each territory our problems and have contributed more than our quota to their solution.

When you plunge into the BERENGARIA'S swimming bath, it might be Saturday at Locust Valley... the tiled pool beyond the gardens... But the blue-green water is salt... you are bathing in the gulf stream.

MEXICO TANGLE FEARED ON DAM

Utah-Arizona Conference on River Concluded

Benefits of Boulder Project Below Border Cited

Believe Power Plan Will Cause Trouble

SALT LAKE CITY, June 19. (AP)—Fear that the Swing-Johnson bill, providing for the building of a dam at Boulder Canyon would be a greater benefit to Mexico than the States of the Colorado River basin, other than California, was expressed at the continued conference today at the State capitol, between Arizona's Colorado River commissioners and Utah State officials.

It was asserted, by some of the speakers that the power plant which is part of the Boulder Dam program, would necessitate flow of the stored waters, with the result that Mexico, getting in this way an abundance of waters, would be able to develop vast agricultural tracts, on which flourishing towns would spring up.

This, it was predicted, ultimately would establish a condition which would prove embarrassing when the States, at some future time, undertook to carry out other projects than the Boulder Dam for the benefit of their own people.

Another point raised by Gov. George H. Dern of Utah was that all of the States of the Colorado River basin have a right to seek new sources of revenue for the relief of their taxpayers through development of their water-power sites, and that there was a menace to this right in the Boulder Dam bill in its present form. He questioned that Congress was competent to pass a bill for the construction, with Federal funds, of the great commercial power plant on the lower Colorado River which would put difficulties in the way of the construction later on, of other power plants higher up on the river.

After these and other phases of the problem had been discussed, there was further discussion on the proposal that a new conference of the seven States in the Colorado River basin be held some time next month.

It was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of Gov. Dern, who will decide when and where the meeting shall be held after consulting with the Governors of Wyoming and Colorado. Opinion seemed to favor holding this conference before the conference of the Governors of all States July 25.

Having completed their mission here, Gov. Hunt of Arizona and the Arizona commissioners will leave here Monday morning, while the seven other members of the commission will leave in the evening for Cheyenne, Wyo., where they will confer with Wyoming State officers, after which they will make a second visit to Denver, Colo.

HORRORS! BABY RAFFLED AWAY

But Excited Women, Police and District Attorney Learn It's Merely Infant Pig

NEW YORK, June 19. (Exclusive)—The District Attorney, the police and the woman of Queens heard with horror that a baby was to be raffled at a motion-picture theater in Flushing.

Supt. Hebbard of the Queens Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children telephoned to Inspector Gallagher. Detectives visited the theater.

The manager, glowing with the success of the publicity stunt, was reticent at first, said the detectives, but finally confessed that a male baby was to be given to the holder of a lucky ticket number. It was, however, to be a baby pig.

STRIKE-SLAYING JURY DISBANDED

Second Trial of Bay City Pair Fails

Woman Juror Denounced as Ignoramus

Declared Not to Know What Case Was About

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (Exclusive)—The second jury, unable to agree on the fate of Gus Madsen and George Pesce for the carpenter strike murder of MacIvan Campbell, was discharged by Superior Judge Conlan this afternoon after being out for fifty-three hours. Date for a third trial will be set for a week from tomorrow.

One of the most astounding instances of ignorance in the history of local court cases was revealed when the talesmen were dismissed. Eleven of the jurors united in accusing one woman member of sitting on the case for three days without even knowing that the case was a murder trial. She steadfastly refused during discussions and ballots to pay any attention to arguments and as persistently refused considering any kind of a verdict that would cause the defendants to be jailed for more than six months. The women named denied the statements, but she was alone in her denial.

ONE FOR ACQUITTAL

The jurors reported to Judge Conlan before dismissal that they stood 11 to 1, the only change in the standing having been a switch from the original ballot of 10 to 2. When they had left the courtroom the jurors readily reported the 11-to-1 ratio was for conviction. In a previous trial the discharged jury stood 8 to 4 for conviction after forty-eight hours of deliberation.

The most bitter denouncer of the lone woman juror who failed to find out what it was all about until three days had passed was another of her sex, Mrs. Edward Calhan.

"We had stood 10 to 2 for conviction from Friday afternoon, a few hours after the case was given us, until this afternoon, when a woman 'came over' and made it 11 to 1. There was just one woman we couldn't do anything with, and she was impossible. You might as well know who it was," and she proceeded to name the juror.

PROSECUTOR THANKED

Even a willingness on the part of others to compromise at manslaughter failed to shake the stand-patter, it was said.

Judge Conlan thanked Dep. Dist.-Atty. Skillin for his fair and impartial handling of the case, at which Alexander O'Grady of defense counsel arose and asked if the court would not say as much for the defense.

"I have not mentioned the defense yet," replied the judge, nor did he do so later.

MacIvan Campbell, a nonunion carpenter, was beaten to death last October while at work, assertedly by a union terror squad of which Madsen and Pesce were the averred leaders.

This Biblicist John Wesley Also, But---

FULLERTON, June 19. (Exclusive) A Bible, a frock coat and a ministerial air are helpful in putting over synthetic checks, according to John Wesley, 40 years of age, who is in jail here on a charge of doing that very thing.

Back in 1916 Wesley was sentenced to serve two years in jail at Santa Ana for cashing checks which were worth considerably less than their face value. He was released to go to war and had not been seen here until a few days ago, when he turned up again. This time he is said to have forged the signature of former Chief of Police Eels to the paper and his arrest followed yesterday. Eels was the only local man he knew, the prisoner said, hence he had no choice.

Local police are informed that he also is wanted in Riverside, Capper, Wyo., Colorado, and several other places. He is said to have drawn a worthless check on a bank at Capper. He will be held pending the arrival of authorities from that city.

Several months ago a man from Chicago was ushered into my office, who maintained that he had a great "merchandise marketing plan" that would be a boon to the clothing purchasers—and make me extremely popular with them. He petitioned that I give him an audience. Introducing himself as John Driscoll, engaged in "sales promotion" and "advertising work," he proceeded to talk.

"Mr. Parker, I have studied the 'marketing problem' for a long time. I've observed that commodities, especially large ones, bear too many heavy assessments in their transit from the original source of supply to the consumer. There are too many hands 'mixed' in the 'merchandise pie'—and 'small hands' that are incapable of commanding a large volume.

"You recall how the farmers have sought a plan that would convey their products more directly to the consumer? Well, you virtually have that plan within your grasp. You are the largest buyer of woolens west of the Mississippi. And direct from the mill. You operate the largest shop—and the largest tailoring store. You have the greatest resources. Why not institute my 2 for 1 sales plan—'TWO SUITS FOR THE ONE REGULAR PRICE?' A 'price appeal' like that will quadruple your patronage. 'Overhead and profit' will be greatly reduced on the original suit. NONE will be required on the second. Your manufacturing cost will be appreciably curtailed through a big volume. And you'll receive incalculable advertising advantage."

The statement was convincing. I instituted the 2 for 1 plan—advertising it at various week-ends. It was the means of ing several thousand Parker suits on persons of Los Angeles and vicinity; and made me countless friends, because of the given. I will make several more friends

WHEN IS $80 IN MEXICO $80?

American Tourist Finds That $80 Isn't Worth $80 When It's Worth $74.40; or When It's Worth 160 Pesos or When It's American Gold Coin

MEXICO CITY, June 19. (Exclusive)—Here's one in high finance that will probably stump the most ardent fan of the "ask me another" clan:

When is $80 not worth $80. Turning to Page 74, one finds that the complexities of the question are such as to afford room for three separate answers: When it's worth only $74; when it's worth 160 pesos, Mexican currency, and when it's, American gold coin, circulating in Mexico.

Closer investigation into the matter, however, reveals that the three answers are really inextricably bound up, one with the others. The cause for it lies in a Mexican law that was passed some time ago, this law having but made all the more severe a certain economic law that has long existed.

DISTRUST PAPER MONEY

Since there exists in Mexico a distrust for paper currency, money is circulated chiefly in gold and silver coins. Gold is fairly stable in its price and so the value of the gold coin does not greatly fluctuate; silver, on the other hand, is subject to rapidly changing prices, and silver currency, accordingly, varies in value according to the market price of silver bullion.

Some months ago the price of silver began to fall rapidly, and Mexican silver coins depreciated in value, there existing a considerable discrepancy between gold and silver money. At one time the difference was as low as 20 per cent. At the time of this writing it is about 8.50 per cent.

Now, since the fact that much gold was being shipped out of Mexico was one of the many causes responsible for the depreciation of silver currency, President Calles issued a decree prohibiting further exportation from Mexico of gold. Any amount of gold, under the terms of this decree, may be brought into Mexico, but none at all is permitted to be taken out of the country. No exemptions are made in the decree, so that American gold that is brought into Mexico can no more be shipped out of the country than can Mexican gold.

BANK PAYMENTS

Since it costs much more to ship about gold currency than paper currency, gold coins from the United States have never been worth quite as much, when changed into Mexican currency, as has paper money. But, with the promulgation of the new Presidential decree, altogether prohibiting the exportation of gold from Mexico, American gold currency naturally became worth even less.

Today banks will give for a $10 gold piece only twenty pesos in Mexican gold coin. For $80, as asked in the question, only 160 pesos in gold are forthcoming. But at present the Mexican gold peso is worth about 46.50 cents in American currency, although the par value is 49.846 cents.

Thus, although one can get only 160 pesos Mexican gold for $80 American gold, for American paper currency or checks or drafts, one can get 172 pesos, Mexican gold, more or less. The difference is twelve pesos. Now, since 172 gold pesos, changed into American currency, is worth only about $74, there is, in such a transaction, a loss of $6.

In other words, $80 is not $80 when it is only $74.

NEW YORKER'S CASE

It is only among those who are constantly handling both American and Mexican money that this fact is generally known. Those unacquainted with the fact occasionally fall into misfortune. There is the case, for example, of a New Yorker who came to Mexico by boat. He bought a round-trip ticket, paying $185, with the understanding that if he did not return within six months, he could obtain a refund of $80.

Toward the end of the six-month period he went to the local office of the steamship company, presented the unused portion of his ticket and asked for a refund. An order was sent from the New York office authorizing the local office to pay $80 as a refund. The company made out to the New Yorker a check for 160 pesos, Mexican gold coin. He demurred, declaring he was entitled to 172 pesos. The company replied that it always gave for refunds an exchange of two for one. The New Yorker pointed to the terms under which the ticket had been sold.

"Then you want American gold?" inquired the agent.

"Yes," came the unsuspecting reply.

WHAT BANK DID

The agent placed on the counter four $20 gold pieces. The New Yorker left, satisfied, to deposit the money to his dollar account. At the bank the teller informed him that his $80 was not worth $80. An explanation followed, and finally the New Yorker grasped the point. He received credit on his dollar account for just $74.40. dollars.

And so, if he should be asked, "When is $80 not worth $80?" he could snap back:

"Oh, ask me another."

FARMS PAY MORE THAN BUSINESSES

Texas Women Sponsor Successful Home Plot Demonstration at Waco

WACO (Tex.) June 19. (Exclusive) The women make the money on a few acres of fruit and truck out at Orchard Lane, and the men spend it in town trying to support a business. That is the story the women farmers told, and stuck to it, on their home grounds, with 300 Wacoans as guests and witnesses of the demonstration, which came in the form of homegrown food, with growing patches of it alongside the festal lawn to prove it.

Nobody knows how 110 rows of cotton got planted in Orchard Lane last year, but it will not happen again, because right alongside the cotton were four rows of dewberries that brought in more clear money than the 110 rows of cotton.

The third crop of garden truck since October is being gathered on the Bagwell place, which was the scene of the fete, and on many of the adjoining places.

VICTIM OF ACID GETS NEW FACE

Surgeons Graft Skin From Body to Eradicate Scar Covering Entire Cheek

CHICAGO, June 19. (Exclusive)—John Livingston was given a new face at the County Hospital Saturday when surgeons performed a unique skin-grafting operation on him.

Four months ago Livingston was mysteriously set upon by three men who hurled acid in his face. The wound healed but it left an ugly scar covering his entire left cheek and his lower and upper eyelids.

So Saturday Dr. W. F. Moncreif, assisted by Dr. J. F. Shaefer and Dr. K. Penhale, administered an anaesthetic and removed the scarred skin. Liquid wax was spread over the affected part and when it hardened and was carefully removed, it formed a perfect pattern.

Then the pattern was laid on Livingston's abdomen and with pen and ink the surgeons traced its outlines upon the healthy skin.

Dissecting the full thickness of the abdominal skin Dr. Moncreif lifted it to the patient's face and sewed it with great care to the unburnt edges of the facial skin. Then a slightly compressed sponge was laid to cover the graft, with a bandage over it, which will exert a soft pressure against the skin, inducing adhesion to the tissue beneath.

In five days the surgeons will inspect their work and if their expectations are realized John Livingston will emerge before much longer with a natural looking face, only a skin scar being visible. In time that also may disappear, it was said.

Seventeen Die in Clash Between Mexican Forces

MEXICO CITY, June 19. (AP)—Fourteen rebels, one army captain and two soldiers were killed in a clash between a squadron of Presidential troops and insurgents near Lagos De Moreno, Jalisco.

The commander of the government troops, Col. Gabriel Leyvas, who was slightly wounded, in reporting the result of the fighting to the Presidential Bureau today, said the rebels were commanded by a Catholic priest named Jose Contreras. He added that the rebel band was dispersed.

TWO YOUTHS KILLED BY ROLLER COASTER

CHICAGO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Hurtling at terrific speed down the last steep dip on the roller coaster at Exposition Park near Aurora this evening, two youths in the front seat of a train loaded with merrymakers lost their balance, fell onto the tracks and were crushed to death beneath the wheels of the onrushing cars. The accident was witnessed by several hundred persons. Several young women, passengers in the rear seats on the same train, fainted and were carried out when the cars were brought to a stop after they had reached the terminal of the ride. Lloyd Patterson, 14 years of age, and Gerald Ericson, 17, both of Aurora, were the victims. Both were employed at the park.

APPLICATION DENIED

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (Exclusive)—The Railroad Commission has denied the application of Southern Pacific Company for authority to close its agency at Shingle Springs Station, El Dorado county. The commission found that while the volume of traffic at this agency is not extensive, if the agency were closed patrons of the railroad would be without agency facilities over a territory thirty-four miles in length, a condition, the commission believes, would not be in the public interest.

CRY OF RISING DRUG PERIL UNDER DRY LAW REFUTED

Reports and Surveys for Decade and Authorities' Findings Point to Wane in Addiction

[This is the fourteenth article on the result of prohibition in the United States prepared by Prof. Herman Feldman of Dartmouth College for the Christian Science Monitor and published in The Times.]

Every time some group petitioning for modification wants to "jazz up" its case, it drags in something about the drug menace. Hence the country has for several years been treated to assertions about alarming increases in drug addiction caused by prohibition.

After examining all the reports and surveys in the past decade, and consulting with the best authorities on drug addiction in New York, Washington and elsewhere, I have not been able to find even a pretense of statistical information which would back up such assertions.

A rather prolonged effort to get at the facts resulted in the following conclusions:

(1.) There is no evidence whatever to show that in the nation as a whole there has been an increase in the number of addicts while almost all the official reports and surveys proclaim a large decrease.

(2.) On the more immediate question of the relation of prohibition to drug addiction these authorities see no reason why present conditions should cause any increase.

The facts they present would suggest exactly the opposite tendency to that asserted. The amended Harrison Act of 1914 limiting the legal consumption of narcotic drugs to bona fide medical treatment and making strict regulations for controlling the quantity imported, manufactured, exported or used, became effective about the same time as the Eighteenth Amendment. Some authorities to be quoted maintain that the very rigid enforcement of the narcotic law, as against the lax enforcement of prohibition has had the result that some addicts have given up drugs and turned to liquor; but all deny that any evidence exists to indicate that prohibition has increased the number of drug addicts.

ABSURD STATEMENT

To say that the confirmed drinker has been forced to change to narcotic drugs implies the absurd statement that it is much easier to get narcotic drugs than to get liquor. Such is the severity of enforcement that it is a great deal harder to get narcotic drugs; they are a great deal more expensive, and there is no social sentiment whatever to support the dope peddler or dope addict.

The authoritative reports and surveys uniformly reach one of two conclusions. Most assert that there has been a decrease of addiction and a few that there are no facts whatever which would indicate an increase. One of the latter denies that we can know the trend in either direction. I do not maintain that there has been a decrease in drug addiction, although the available information points to that strongly; but I do maintain that there is no basis whatever for any positive statement that addiction has been increased.

In presenting statistics of drug consumption, it is impossible to present more than one side of the picture, viz.: imports. But that side is not without some significance, for if all narcotic drugs used are imported in the raw from abroad, and there has been a severe decline in the amount imported, there is a suggestion of decreased addiction. It is true that the factor of smuggled drugs must be taken into account.

DRUG IMPORTS DROP

During the five years, 1911-1915 before the movement for State-wide prohibition had made real headway or war-time restriction and national prohibition had any part, there was an average annual importation of 495,469 pounds of opium, while during 1922-1926 the average was only 106,003 pounds. Likewise, as against an average annual importation of 1,068,394 pounds of coca leaves in 1911-1915, there were only 180,293 pounds imported on the average during 1922-1925.

Of course we must take into account smuggled drugs. There has no doubt been a great deal more occasion for that since the restrictions that were imposed under the Harrison Act came into force. But it takes a great deal of smuggling to account for so hugh a difference as 1,281,566 pounds a year. In any event, who knows how much was smuggled? Those who assert that drug addiction has increased do not know any more about it than anyone else. All we wish to point out is that there is no reliable evidence available which would give any basis for their astonishingly sweeping assertions, while the known facts are very strong against them.

It would be useful to be able to present a table showing the actual number of addicts in the United States year by year for a couple of decades, but that is an utter impossibility.

The most careful and plausible study of the subject is that of two specialists in the United States Public Health Service, Drs. Lawrence Kolb and A. G. Dumez.

SPECIALISTS' FINDINGS

In a letter to the writer a few weeks ago Dr. Kolb said in part: The number of addicts in the United States is certainly decreasing. The decrease has been very rapid during the past ten years and the total number of addicts at the present time is surely not more than one-half of what it used to be. Prohibition has had no effect whatever on drug addiction. The taking of opiates by drunkards because of their drunkenness was in the past a fruitful source of drug addiction, but it is now of relatively little importance. The reason for the change is that opiates formerly easily procured now are procured only with great difficulty and danger; also the social and legal penalties for taking narcotics have increased many-fold during the past ten years so that addicts now often go from opiates to drink.

Col. L. G. Nutt, deputy commissioner of prohibition in charge of the administration and enforcement of the narcotic drug laws, has repeatedly and vigorously asserted that in recent years drug addiction has decreased.

It is hoped that the statements here presented will influence some of the propagandists to reconsider the basis of their assertions.

JOHN BULL PUTS BETS ON OLD SOL

Whether Eclipse Will Be Visible Due to Murkiness Made Basis of Wagers

LONDON, June 19. (AP)—The total eclipse of the sun which will take place over a portion of Great Britain in the early morning of the 29th inst., has aroused the sporting blood of old Britain.

Bookmakers, realizing the national love of their countrymen to lay odds on everything from running horses to shooting stars, are taking a flyer into science and are willing to wager all takers, two to one, that the rare phenomenon will not be visible on the 29th inst. It is not that they doubt the predictions of the scientists, but that they base their judgment on the uncertain weather conditions prevailing at this time of year along the totality belt—a twenty-five-mile strip of country running northwest from Pwllheli, Carnarvon, Wales, through Giggleswick, York, Eng., to Hartelpool in Durham.

In some parts of this section there is an eclipse of the sun almost every day by the murky atmosphere of England's industrial towns. However, it is 200 years since Britishers at home have had a chance to see the moon blot out the sun completely and, as the opportunity will not occur again until 1999, great preparations are being made for the event.

Chiefs Approve Waterway Plan for Great Lakes

WASHINGTON, June 19. (Exclusive)—Unqualified approval of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project was given today by joint New England-St. Lawrence waterway committee composed of representative business men, financiers, economists and engineers in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, New York, Maine and Connecticut.

After months of study the committee has concluded that the all-American waterway route through New York proposed as an alternative to the St. Lawrence route is impracticable from a financial and engineering standpoint and in a formal report today, the spokesman for the six States urged the government to initiate negotiations with the Canadian government upon a treaty which will speed completion of the St. Lawrence project.

"I might give you one instance of what Kelvinator has meant to me. I bought Wednesday a large turkey for the following Sunday dinner. Because of a change in plans I did not use it until a week later Sunday. Then it was cooked and served, the remainder put back into the Kelvinator. I used the last of it just three weeks later. Being able to keep it, I did not have to serve the turkey every day but was able to alternate with other things." (Name on Request)

DEL DEPARTAMENTO ESPANOL DE "THE TIMES"

Con los datos propuestos por el señor Prof. B. Fernández Cué en la Plática próximo-anterior está redactada la carta siguiente, que inserto para que los lectores se sirvan compararla con la que ellos hayan formado:

Habana, 10 de Julio de 1927.
Sres J. D. Ramirez & Co.,
15, Broadway,
New York, N. Y.
Muy Señores nuestros:

Acusamos recibo de su atenta del 20 del mes ppdo., en la que nos enviaron ustedez el estado cuentas hasta el 15 del mismo mes.

Según vamos, dicho estado arroja un saldo de $137 a favor de ustedes.

Notamos, sin embargo, que no nos han abonado una partida de 50 ejemplares de la Aritmética de Lopez, que ustedes nos enviaron, pero que nosotros les devolvimos.

Tenemos el gusto de remitirles adjunto un giro postal por la cantidad de $95, o sea el importe del saldo menos el precio total de los citados libros, cantidad que les rogamos nos seaabonada en cuenta.

Sin otro particular, quedamos de Vds. attos. y S. S.
L. M. Ceballos y Cia.

Del Manual de Correspondencia de Fuentes y Elias me permito tomar los las que una anuncia el envio de una letra por salod de cuentas, y la otra requiere de pago a un deudor que lla demorado la remesa de dinero para solventar su adeudo:

Lima (Perú). 2 de Agosto de 1926
Messrs. Robinson & Co.,
10, West 23rd St.,
New York, N. Y.
Muy Sres. mios:

Obra en mi poder su grata del 10 del ppdo., conteniendo estado de cuentas hasta el 30 de Junio, con un saldo en mi contra de $781.54.

Con el fin de cubrir ese importe, tengo el gusto de enviarles adjunta una primera de cambio sobre la Consolidated Oil Company por la expresada cantidad de $781.54, que una vez hecha efectiva se servirán abonar en la cuenta de
Su afmo. S. S.
Enrique Gallardo.

Es preciso hacer notar que, tanto en esta carta como en la de la Plática anterior sobre remesa de fondos, usan incorrectamente los autores el gerundio castellano. No debe decirse en español, imitando las construcciones francesa e inglesa, "Recibí la grata de Ud. incluyendo estado de cuentas", ni "Obra en mi poder su última grata conteniendo estado de cuentas" (I received your favor enclosing, etc.; Your last favor enclosing statement came to hand, etc.) Este empleo del gerundio es solecistico en castellano y hay que evitarlo diciendo: "Recibí la grata de usted en que me incluye estado de cuentas"; "Obra en mi poder su última grata, que contiene. etc." Este vicio de reemplazar por gerundios las oraciones subordinadas de "que" especificativo está extendidísimo entre comerciantes; pero de be reaccionar enérgicamente contra él el estudiante de español.

Chicago, 14 de Julio de 1926
Sr. don Miguel Peralta,
Soriano, 217,
Montevideo, Uruguay.
Muy Señor mio:

Sin duda le ha pasado a V. inadvertido el estado de cuentas que tuve el gusto de remitirle con fecha 30 de Abril ppdo., con un saldo a mi favor de $407.53, que, según convenio, debia V. abonar por medio de letra a la vista sobre el Banco Nacional de ésta.

Como quiera que no he recibido ni remesa ni contestación alguna de V., me tomo la libertad de recordarle que esa suma ha vencido ya, y que si no recibo el importe dentro de corto tiempo, me veré, en la precisión de girar sobre V. por la expresada suma de $407.53, que, segun convenio, debia vista.

En la confianza de que su pronta remesa me evitará el tener que recurrir a ese extremo, quedo de V.
Atento y S. S.
Louis Weston.

Con toda propiedad han usado aquí los autores el participio "inadvertido", excusando el uso bárbaro, pero frecuentisimo, de "desapercibido" como sinónimo de "inadvertido". Valiéndose del diccionario penétrese bien el estudiante de la significación de "desapercibido".

Guiándose por el tenor de estas cartas conteste el alumno, a nombre del Sr. Peralta, la segunda de ellas, desarrollando estos puntos: Don Miguel Peralta escribe con fecha 12 de Agosto, de Montevideo, a Mr. John Smith, 25 Broadway, New York, acusándole recibo de su carta del 14 de Julio, y diciendole que, efectivamente, ha desatendido el pago del saldo de $407 al Sr. Smith. Que, por el momento, la quiebra de la casa de Ubalde y Cia. le impide hacer efectivos sus créditos, y por tal razón no puede enviarle sino $200 a cuenta, los que le incluye en primera de cambio sobre el Banco Nacional de Nueva York, y ruega al Sr. Smith se los abone en cuenta. Pocas semanas después podrá remitirle en la misma forma el saldo de $207. Confía el Sr. Peralta en que su acreedor acepte este arreglo y tenga la bondad de no llegar al extremo de girar contra él. Concluye la carta con las frases corteses de costumbre.

Angeleno in Hard Fix May Lose Daughter

RENO (Nev.) June 19. (Exclusive) Unable to find employment in Reno Mrs. Marie Finley, who came here from Los Angeles last January to secure a divorce, will probably lose her 3-year-old daughter. Unable to support the child she left it here with an acquaintance, and went to Portland, Or., where she had been promised a position.

Arriving at Portland she found the place taken. Appealed to for relief the county commissioners have ruled the child must be placed in the State orphanage unless the mother immediately returns here and provides for it.

GLACIER TO BE STUDIED

University Men Start on Exploring Trip into Regions Practically Unknown

LEXINGTON (Ky.) June 19. (Exclusive)—Going into regions never explored, traveling by train, pack mule and on foot, living in the open with wild animals for companions and the sky for shelter, dispatching letters by a runner, going down in valleys and high up in mountains, sounds like a fairy story, but it is the anticipated experience of Prof. L. C. Robinson, department of geology of the University of Kentucky, and Prof. J. H. Betz, geology department, University of Chicago.

They have started for British Columbia and Northeast Washington State in a trip which they hope will clear up the mystery to scientific men as to why the great Spokane glacier melted so much more rapidly than any other glacier.

One theory that has been generally accepted, according to Robinson, is that the melting of the glacier was caused by volcanoes or lava flows. The geologists now on the way there will work on that assumption. "There are three reasons we might fail," said Robinson. "The volcanoes may be so far back that we cannot reach them, our time may be too short, and volcanoes may not be the cause."

The flood which followed the glacier's melting was the greatest ever known, Robinson declares. The effects of the deluge exceed all other authenticated cases of melting ice sheets so that ordinary surface melting is not adequate to account for it. Many remarkable stream-cut notches and canyons are found cutting across the mountain spurs and summits covered by the ice sheets, and it does not seem possible to explain them in terms of stream adjustment or erosion by melting glacial waters, according to Robinson.

"The method of attack must be developed as we go along so that material and information must be found as it is and separated from phenomena of known origin and whatever interpretations made must be made from this region alone, as there is no other like it," asserted Robinson.

Paris-American Negress Boasts Count as Spouse

PARIS, June 19. (Exclusive)—Josephine Baker, the American negress cabaret owner here, introduced Count di Albertini as her husband of four weeks, telling her patrons, "I've looked up my count in Rome and he's got a family tree, coat and arms and everything in order."

The count spent last evening in the cabaret, assisting his wife, helping to distribute confetti and dance with American flappers.

"Are you going to try to break into royal society?" she was asked.

"Why should I?" she answered, "society keeps me busy breaking into my place."

PTOMAINE HALTS BUSINESS

Texas Town Suspends Activities While Folks Who Attended Church Fete Mend

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 19. (Exclusive)—With more than half the population of the town ill from poisoning said to have been caused by food served at a church festival, affairs at La Coste, about twenty miles from San Antonio, were at a standstill recently.

About 400 persons attended the festival and it was estimated that two-thirds of these were stricken by an illness resembling ptomaine poisoning. Some of those who became ill are San Antonians who were in La Coste for the festival.

Serving of the meal at a Catholic church began about noon, it was stated. The meal included barbecued meat, chicken and various salads.

Within an hour after the meal was served the first cases of sickness were reported. Among the first to be stricken was Dr. Godfrey, the only physician available in LaCoste and as those who had taken ill were without medical attention calls for doctors were sent to near-by towns.

In the afternoon the illness swept over the little town like a plague. Men and women were stricken while walking and riding in the streets and in practically every home there was one or more who had been made ill.

At night still others ate the food served at the church and by midnight there was a fresh outbreak of the sickness, and doctors were required to work all night.

According to Dr. W. G. Brymer of Castorville, one of the first to reach the scene, there were about fifty San Antonians among those stricken.

Dr. Brymer reported later that there had been no fatalities, although approximately 100 were still sick.

The physicians who were called at LaCoste said that some of the food apparently had been affected by the hot wather, causing those who ate it to become sick.

A large number of private dwellings are being built by the government for European employees in Burma.

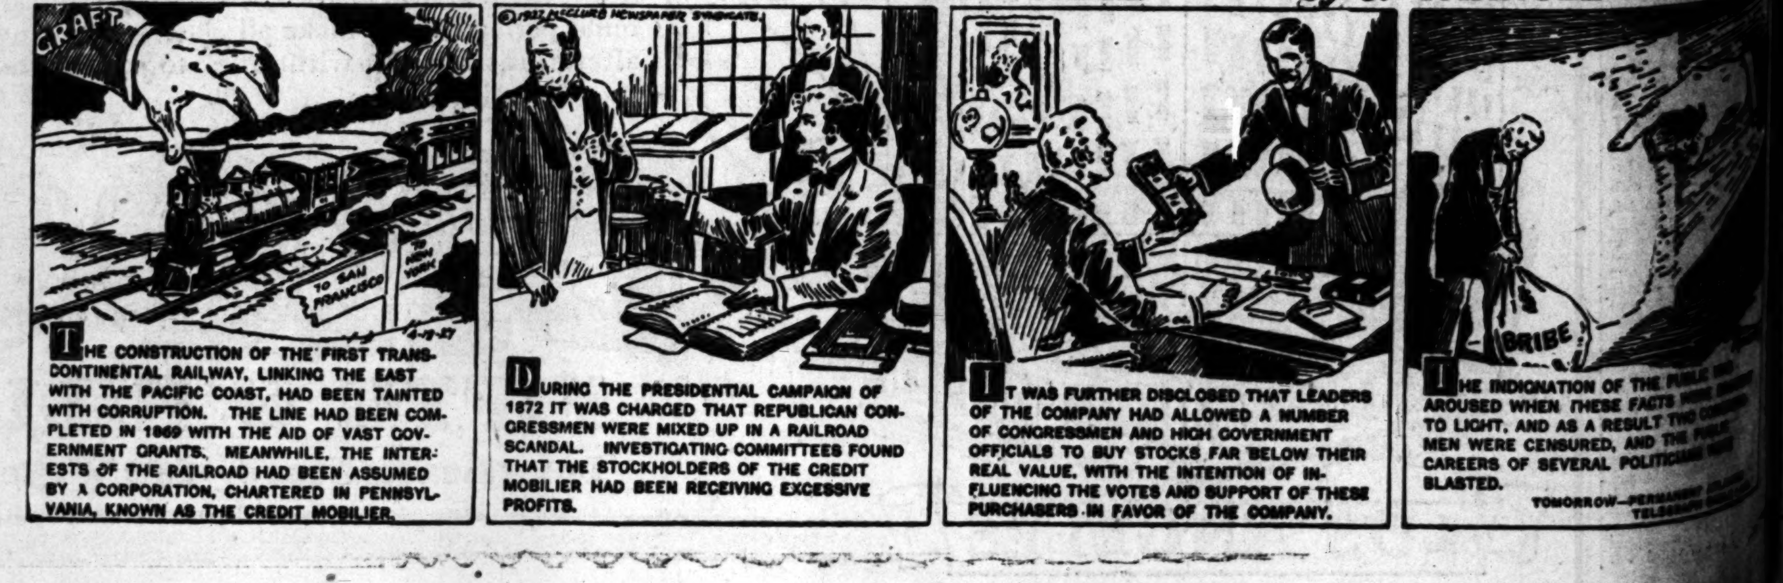
OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 747 The Credit Mobilier Scandal. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE FIRST TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY, LINKING THE EAST WITH THE PACIFIC COAST, HAD BEEN TAINTED WITH CORRUPTION. THE LINE HAD BEEN COMPLETED IN 1869 WITH THE AID OF VAST GOVERNMENT GRANTS. MEANWHILE, THE INTERESTS OF THE RAILROAD HAD BEEN ASSUMED BY A CORPORATION, CHARTERED IN PENNSYLVANIA, KNOWN AS THE CREDIT MOBILIER.

DURING THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1872 IT WAS CHARGED THAT REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN WERE MIXED UP IN A RAILROAD SCANDAL. INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES FOUND THAT THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE CREDIT MOBILIER HAD BEEN RECEIVING EXCESSIVE PROFITS.

IT WAS FURTHER DISCLOSED THAT LEADERS OF THE COMPANY HAD ALLOWED A NUMBER OF CONGRESSMEN AND HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO BUY STOCKS FAR BELOW THEIR REAL VALUE, WITH THE INTENTION OF INFLUENCING THE VOTES AND SUPPORT OF THESE PURCHASERS IN FAVOR OF THE COMPANY.

THE INDIGNATION OF THE PUBLIC [illegible] AROUSED WHEN THESE FACTS [illegible] TO LIGHT, AND AS A RESULT TWO [illegible] MEN WERE CENSURED, AND THE PUBLIC CAREERS OF SEVERAL POLITICIANS [illegible] BLASTED.

BUNNIES PREY TO APPETITES

Rabbit Drivers Don't Work so Well and Farmer Uses Poison to Kill 720

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) June 19. (Exclusive)—Rabbit drives have not been successful in Arizona, most of the bunnies escaping through the cordon. G. H. Killen has attained success in another way after long suffering from inroads of thousands of long-eared desert denizens.

After counsel with Biological Survey experts, for two nights he scattered sweet alfalfa hay along the rabbit runs leading to his fields. The third night the hay was dusted with poison. The next morning Killen counted 720 dead rabbits.

tries. Leinster House fronts on Kildare street, where crowds of De Valera sympathizers are certain to assemble, but it is separated from the street by a court yard, with sentries at the gates, who will halt all except elected members and accredited correspondents.

There is no doubt that Mr. De Valera will make the most of the fact that though an elected representative and opposed to the oath of allegiance, he is forcibly excluded from Parliament.

MEXICO AFTER 'DIPLOMA MILL'

Concern Does Business on Widespread Scale

Range From Bachelor of Arts to Doctor's Degrees

Price Varies According to What Victim Will Pay

MEXICO CITY, June 19. (Exclusive)—Federal authorities of Mexico have unearthed the existence in this country of a huge "diploma mill," whose activities have been carried on, particularly in Mexico City, on a widespread scale.

The organizers of the Mexican project have altogether disdained the more cautious tactics of their predecessors in the United States. Theirs is a "diploma mill" that can accomplish almost anything. Degrees ranging from that of Bachelor of Arts to Doctor of Philosophy can be obtained in anywhere from two days to two months, and the price for each ranges from twenty pesos (about $10 United States currency) up to 500 pesos and even more if the sucker bites hard enough.

Not only that, but the degrees are granted from the greatest variety of colleges and universities in the world. It's all a matter of how eminent the prospect would appear. For degrees from the Sorbonne, or Harvard or Oxford or Columbia or Vienna, etc., the price is considerably more steep than that from lesser institutions of the higher learning.

Study, of course, is not at all necessary, and examinations even less so. The sole requisite is "dinero" cash. One may never have gone even to high school nor even gone outside the Federal District (Mexico City and its suburbs) nor be able to speak a word of English, but if his desire is great enough and his financial resources adequate, he may obtain the highest degree offered by any American or European university. If he is unusually ambitious and prosperous, he may obtain degrees from several universities at a time. It is even possible to accumulate a batch of honorary degrees.

The case has been brought to the attention of the Director-General of the Postoffice Department, since under the laws of Mexico it is illegal to use the mails to carry on such activities.

Council Committee to Continue Main-Street Hearing This Afternoon

Arguments for and against the proposed renaming of Main street will be heard by the City Planning Committee of the City Council at a meeting to be held at 1:30 p.m. today in the Council chamber.

APPROPRIATION FIGHT SETTLED

Gov. Hunt Loses Last Battle Against Bill

Measure Passed Over His Veto in Effect July 1

Official Said Three Months' Delay Necessary

PHOENIX, June 19. (Exclusive) An echo of the row between Gov. G. W. P. Hunt and the recent Legislature is carried in an announcement that the legislative appropriation will be accepted as in effect on July 1. The Governor didn't like the bill, which failed to carry about $1,000,000 in items demanded by him, and he vetoed the measure. The legislative majority then proceeded to strip the emergency clause from the measure and passed it over the veto. This action brought up a divrsity of claims. One was that the bill must await the three months' delay of the referendum on all acts other than those bearing the emergency clause, and thus would not be complete before July 21. This was Gov. Hunt's opinion. Attorneys appear to have agreed generally that the Appropriation Act is exempt from the referendum provisions of the State constitution and that it would go into effect immediately on passage, though authorizing expenditures only after the beginning of the fiscal year.

SCIENTISTS OF WORLD TO MEET

Thirty Nationalities Will Gather at Riverside

Arrive on Independence Day on Special Train

All Delegates to Congress of Soil Science

RIVERSIDE, June 19.—Three hundred famous scientists of thirty nations will be guests of Riverside Monday and Tuesday, July 4 and 5, according to Dr. H. J. Webber, director of the citrus experiment station, who is preparing for their reception here. The delegates are coming from the first international congress of soil science, now being conducted at Washington, D. C.

The scientists will arrive at noon, July 4, on a special Union Pacific train of twelve cars. The afternoon will be devoted, it is expected, to tours about the city. The visitors will be taken to the citrus experiment station the next day, where the staff there will conduct them around various experimental plots and tell them of research work under way. The train will leave for Los Angeles at 6 o'clock.

Dr. Webber has appointed the following station staff members on a committee to prepare for the scientists: H. S. Smith, S. M. Brown, Dr. H. S. Fawcett, Dr. J. T. Barrett, H. S. Reid, H. J. Quayle, L. D. Batchelor, Eubanks Carsner and R. G. Larue. The committee will co-operate with the Riverside Chamber of Commerce in entertaining the delegates.

Dr. W. P. Kelley is representing the station at the congress, which closes the 22nd inst.

Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, dean and director of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture and experiment station, is president of the congress. Official United States delegates are Dr. F. J. SALTON SEA AREA TO BE TRIED OUT FOR OIL

BRAWLEY, June 19.—W. F. Beal, former Supervisor from this district, has recently returned to the valley with the announcement that he would attempt to interest local capital in a renewed effort to locate oil in the Salton Sea area. Beal headed a company that spent a large sum drilling in the vicinity of San Felipe Hills five years ago. Showings at that time were unfavorable, but Beal declares that his confidence in the presence of an oil pool underlying portions of the valley has not been shaken and that if money can be secured work will be resumed.

SANTA BARBARA GETS CONVENTION OF EAGLES

SANTA BARBARA, June 19.—The 1928 convention of the California Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held in Santa Barbara next June, according to a telegram received by Harry A. Thayer, local secretary, from the delegates to the Placerville convention now in session. This convention will bring approximately 1000 Eagles to Santa Barbara for a week, in addition to eight or more drum and bugle corps and several degree teams, Mr. Thayer said.

BREA LEGION WINS

BREA, June 19.—National citation has been received by the local post of American Legion, having been awarded on the basis of work accomplished during the last year and general activity of the post. The goal of sixty members set by the State department for 1927 has been exceeded by five in the local post, Neil J. Allen, chief engineer with the Fullerton Oil Company, having recently been admitted to the ranks. Allen was formerly a lieutenant-commander in the United States Navy.

EDUCATION ESSENTIAL

New Long Beach Administration May Demand Chief of Police be Man of Erudition

LONG BEACH, June 19.—"Help wanted—male college graduate who has specialized in the study of the classics, literature and the drama. Must be conversant with Ibsen and Shakespeare, know the Einstein theory and have a working knowledge of painting and sculpture. Good physique will be an advantage. Apply City Council, Long Beach, Calif."

This or a similar advertisement may appear in the classified columns of the newspapers soon when the incoming City Council sets about to find a new Chief of Police. For the new censorship ordinance, authorized yesterday by the outgoing Council and to be handed on to the incoming administration is destined to give the new City Fathers "something to think about." The proposed Board of Censors, soon to be created, shall consist of two City Councilmen, four citizens and the Chief of Police.

And among the things to be censored in Long Beach, according to the new ordinance, are literature, magazines, newspapers and "the arts." The movies and the "drama," will also come in for official supervision, as will the traveling-salesmen jokes of the vaudeville artists.

Therefore the job of Police Chief will no longer be the sinecure it has been in the past. When the new administration's new Chief is not busy directing the capture of burglars, hold-up men and bootleggers, he will be expected to set forth in quest of things censorious. Bathing-beauty parades will demand much of his attention as will channel swims and correct attire for the bathing beach.

But it is in the field of literature that the new Chief will be called upon to exercise a high type of judgment. Newspapers, which forget to mention the Long Beach rowboat marathons of omit statements concerning the city's "rapidly growing harbor," will be regarded with suspicion.

Pornographic publications with covers devoted to the sinuous pulchritude of partly dressed or undressed females, magazines of the "flappy stories," and the "jizz whang" schools of literature are to be barred and purveyors of the same are to be punished. Billboards which, in gaudy ink portray fluffy femininity, cigarette in hand, declaiming that she would walk a mile for something or other, will also come in for official censor.

Not to be overlooked in the new censorship plan is the fishing industry. Under the new rules the scholarly Chief of Police will see to it that when a fisherman comes back from a day on the ocean and tells of sixty-pound yellowtail or five-foot albacore, the yellowtail will weigh sixty pounds or the albacore measure five feet or there will be something doing.

And, as if the duties of the new police head will not be sufficiently onerous, there are those who would revive Councilman Beck's old rooster crowing ordinance, which directed that the rooster be forced to perch so high in the hen coop that when he raised himself to crow he would bump his head against the roof and thereby become discouraged. Since it is argued, it is indecent for a rooster to crow in the early hours of the morning, this regulation could well come under the censorship plan. Application of the pulmotor to the old Beck ordinance will be bitterly opposed, however, it is said.

There are many applicants for the Chief of Police job. Ex-policemen, an attorney or two, members of the police department and a truckman are among those already listed as aspiring to the job. Creation of the censor board and appointment of the Chief of Police to a place thereon, however, has made it necessary to eliminate several of these from the lists.

APRICOT HARVEST ON IN KINGS COUNTY

HANFORD, June 19.—Harvest is on in the 4000 acres of apricots in the county of Kings, but the peak of the harvest will commence next Monday, the season being a couple of weeks later than it has been for several years.

Five carloads a day are being shipped fresh this week of Tiltons and Blenheims to the New York and Los Angeles market, at a price of $70 a ton.

The hot weather of this week is ripening the cots fast and picking of the bulk of the crop for the canneries and the drying trays will soon begin, greatly to the relief of a large number of people, most of them with families, who have come here from all parts of the State to find the crops are a couple weeks behind. It is reported that about two-thirds of the Elberta peach crop of this county has been purchased for eastern shipment at $35 a ton, with shipping expected to begin about July 20.

BAND CONCERTS TO OPEN

HANFORD, June 19.—The annual summer band concerts will begin next Friday night in this city. The Hanford Boys' Band will furnish the music, assisted by a male quartet with vocal selections. The band is one of the best boys' musical organizations in the State and is under the direction of Prof. Cuyler Leonard, who has conducted it for several years. The band is in part municipally supported, the City Trustees annually budgeting for it, this year making an appropriation of $5000. The concerts are held in Courthouse Park and are always largely attended.

HUCKSTER BAN LAW HIT

Referendum Petitions Halt New Fresno Public Market Ordinance Barring All But Producers

FRESNO, June 19.—Referendum petitions bearing approximately 2600 signatures were filed with the city clerk Saturday, bringing to a halt operation of an amendment to the city's public market ordinance under which hucksters would be prevented from operating on the market thereby restricting the use of the market exclusively to producers.

The petition was filed by Attorney H. J. Carling, Jr., representing nonproducers operating on the market and patrons of the market place.

City Clerk Foster will begin Monday to check the petitions to determine their sufficiency. It is necessary that the petitions contain approximately 2000 valid signatures in order to be effective.

The public market is operated by the city on the Fresno-street side of the Court House park. It is utilized by approximately sixty merchants about half of whom are producers and the others hucksters, selling produce purchased from others. There is also a generous sprinkling of those who sell manufactured articles.

The use of the market place by nonproducers has been the subject for several years of attacks by merchants with fixed places of business and others in the city but until the adoption of the amendment a month ago the fight to oust the hucksters has never come to a showdown.

The nonproducers obtained approximately 1000 names to their petitions from patrons of the market and the remainder were obtained during the past week in a house-to-house solicitation.

Playground at Monrovia to be Opened Today

MONROVIA, June 19.—An extensive program of summer playground activities will be conducted in Monrovia Monday, according to announcement today by L. D. Hoxsey, municipal recreation director.

Supervised recreation will be offered at the Orange avenue and Wild Rose avenue grade schools every day, except Sunday, between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m.

Two assistant play directors will be engaged to take charge of these playgrounds. Miss Lois Rankin will direct the work at Wild Rose, and a supervisor for the Orange-avenue grounds will be announced within a few days. Until that time Mr. Hoxsey will take charge of the Orange-avenue program. The play program contemplates baseball, volleyball and other standard athletic games, contests of various kinds, sand modeling for the younger folk, kite tournaments, occasional short hikes and picnics. Special recreational features for all ages will be devised as the demand arises, Hoxsey said.

Fishermen May Gain Access to Reservoir Fish

OWENSMOUTH, June 19.—Valley fishermen are likely to win out after a fight of several years to have the city water reservoirs declared open to fishing, though it is understood that the Health Department is going to have the last say before the matter finally is settled. Yesterday the Owensmouth Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution to back up the move of local fishermen to have the Los Angeles City Council declare the reservoirs at San Fernando and at Chatsworth open.

An ordinance which prevents fishing first will have to be repealed. The Owensmouth resolution specifically asks that fishermen be given access to the Chatsworth reservoir in the foothills between here and Chatsworth. This large body of water is reported to be full of fish.

DEAN OF CANTALOUPE MEN WILL BE HONORED

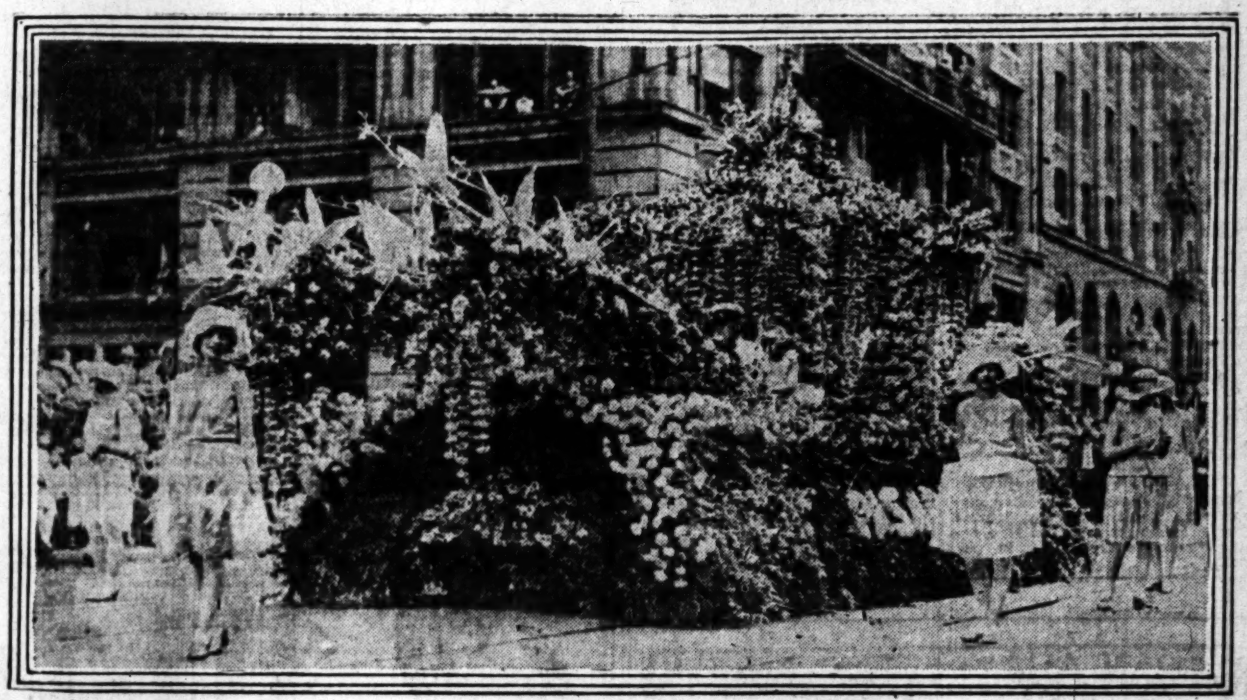
BRAWLEY, June 19.—I. D. Hale, dean of the cantaloupe industry in Imperial Valley and the man who shipped the first local melon to eastern United States nearly a quarter of a century ago, is to be honored at a dinner program to be held in Planters Hotel here the 23rd inst. Chambers of commerce and service clubs all over Imperial Valley are co-operating in the arrangements for one of the most elaborate banquet programs ever held here. Fred Hilvert, chairman of the committee in charge, is planning to serve 500 persons.

TO PAVE SUNLAND ROAD

TUJUNGA, June 19.—The contract for the paving of the road between Sunland and Roscoe has been awarded to G. W. Ellis, contractor, who has paved other important streets in this section. The paving of the new road will be the culmination of efforts of eight years, and when completed will be the most direct route between the Sunland district and Los Angeles city.

CLEAN SWEEP FLORAL VEHICLE OF CROWN CITY AT PORTLAND

Here is photograph of the Pasadena float which won the sweepstakes award in the Portland Rose Festival. The parade is said to have been the greatest exhibition of flower-decorated vehicles ever seen in America. The Pasadena float presented a wealth of roses and other flowers and charming girls. It was guarded by seven marching young women clad in peach, lavender, white and pink. Two young girls on the float were almost hidden in a bower of sweet peas, carnations and hanging baskets of roses, delphinium and iris.



Announce Plans of Union Church Park Services

ANAHEIM, June 19.—Preliminary plans for the annual union church services to be held in the Anaheim City Park this summer were discussed at a meeting of the Anaheim Ministerial Association yesterday when dates were set and committeemen named to carry out the arrangements.

Ten Sunday evening services are to be held in the series, the first to be the evening of July 3 and the last September 4, it was decided. A different speaker is to be secured for each Sunday.

Practically every congregation of the city is co-operating in the move. This year's series is expected to attract an increased number of Anaheim worshipers to participate in this unique community event.

Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood was named to have charge of the programs for the various Sunday evenings; Thomas H. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was placed in charge of general arrangements; Rev. L. M. Light, pastor of the First Christian Church, was made chairman on publicity, and Frank N. Gibbs charged with the responsibility of providing ushers.

Conrad Jongewaard was elected secretary of the association to succeed Rev. G. G. Schmidt who recently left Anaheim to accept a new charge at Torrance.

ODD FELLOWS NAME JOSEPH FARQUHAR

LANKERSHIM, June 19.—Joseph Farquhar has been elected Noble Grand of the local Odd Fellows' Lodge. L. M. Clouse is Past Noble Grand; Lee Horton, Secretary, and L. C. Buckles, Treasurer. Installation ceremonies will be conducted early next month, with Deputy Grand Master J. R. Lynch in charge. Ola Richards has been elected Noble Grand of the Rebekah Auxiliary. Other officers are Wardie Hall, Lila Yingling, Ora Griswold, Mabel Trasher and Louella Chamberlain. The auxiliary officers will be installed July 26, next by District Deputy President Mollie Moore and staff of San Fernando.

FIRST ROCK DUMPED INTO JETTY OF HARBOR AT NEWPORT BEACH

Rolling Stones That Will Gather Moss

NEWPORT BEACH, June 19.—Representatives of a score of Southern California cities joined with officials of Newport Beach today in ceremonies incident to the dumping of the first rock into the jetty at the mouth of the harbor, a project for which the people of this community, several months ago, voted $500,000 in bonds.

A rosy future for Newport Beach was pictured by speakers, including R. L. Bisby, pioneer harbor booster of Santa Ana, and Clyde Bishop, for twenty-one years City Attorney of Newport Beach. Dr. Conrad Richter, Mayor of Newport Beach, made a short address in which he reminded the crowd of several thousand persons of the vicissitudes encountered in the past in harbor development and of how the citizens of Newport Beach had to go into their own pockets to finance the work.

The program had been arranged by George MacLeod, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, and H. L. Sherman, representing the American Legion. Miss Fay Lanphier, "Miss America" of 1925, representing the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, assisted by pretty girl representatives of other cities, pushed the first rock into the water.

Following the ceremonies the Anaheim American Legion band gave a concert and there was a display of daylight fireworks.

Rush Building of Nuns' School of St. Catherine

VENTURA, June 19.—Construction is under way of the St. Catherine's school building in the Ventura Heights Tract, and it is hoped by the sponsors that it will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the fall term. The foundations are in and the work is being rushed by Contractor G. E. Penn on plans drawn by Albert Martin of Los Angeles. The school, which has been in a temporary location for two years, is named after St. Catherine of Sienna, and will be conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Cross order of the Catholic Church. Members of the Catholic parish of Ventura and others are promoting the school and raising the money for the building.

There will be six nuns of the order in charge of the school and Mrs. J. A. Serpa will continue to teach special subjects. The site includes a seven-acre plot in a new residence subdivision and the building will be complete for a school and home for the nuns. The structure will include five schoolrooms, a chapel, auditorium, cafe and sisters' apartments. Thirty children are already registered in the school and it is expected that fifty or sixty will be enrolled by the opening next fall.

ZELZAH IS STILL TO BE KNOWN AS ZELZAH

"CALVITA," NEW NAME VOTED ON, IS NOT PLEASING TO MANY OF OLDER RESIDENTS

ZELZAH, June 19.—Zelzah has been renamed—but it didn't take, so to speak. So far as most of the town is concerned, the place is still Zelzah, and is likely to remain Zelzah. For some reason or other, one part of the citizenship recently decided that the name Zelzah wasn't just exactly right and a general getting together was called to give the district a new moniker. A prize of $100 was offered for the best name. Everybody who could sign a ticket voted. After all the slips were in, the judges met and decided that Will M. Grove of Burbank had won the money. His suggestion was "Calvita," a sort of contraction taken from California and vitality—or, in other words, a town full of California pep.

Mr. Grove got his $100 all right, but it is doubtful whether the name "Calvita" is going to stick. Old residents say "Zelzah" is on the maps, on the Chamber of Commerce advertising, on all the highway signposts and in the postal guides, and that if "Calvita" is imposed upon them it means civil war. In other words, it is sure going to take a lot of pep on the part of the Calvitaites to put the new moniker over.

Meanwhile, the town of Mission Acres, several miles east of Zelzah, is no more. By a twist of the wrist this place has been redubbed Sepulveda and store signs, maps, Chamber of Commerce advertising and highway signposts are all bearing the new designation. Petitions also are being sent to the postal authorities asking that the next published postal guide show the new name.

The town renaming craze as yet hasn't hit Van Nuys, several miles south of Sepulveda. The place is still spelt "Van Nuys," though most of the tourists passing through call it "Van-Noise" or "Van-Noos," according to what twang of speech they have, or what section of the East or Middle West they hail from.

CITY CLERK CHAMPION FLAPJACK FLAPPER

INGLEWOOD, June 19.—After three hours of strenuous endeavor, City Clerk Otto H. Duelke, Charter Exalted Ruler and the present Secretary of the Inglewood Elks' Lodge, was last night declared the winner of the flapjack contest that was a feature of the Elks' charity circus opening night.

The contest was waged between Exalted Ruler Ross O. Porter and the two Past Exalted Rulers, Thad N. Shaw and Mr. Duelke. James West O'Neill Babcock, another Past Exalted Ruler and the man who issued the challenge, was unable to participate, having been called to Chicago on business.

SWIM INSTRUCTOR NAMED

ANAHEIM, June 19.—Harold Holdsworth, former graduate of Anaheim High School, has been appointed swimming instructor at the City Park plunge, according to announcement today by Supt. Gordon Wright. Free swimming classes are to be a feature of the park program, Wright announced.

Irrigation Plan Worked Out for Million Acres

BAKERSFIELD, June 19. An irrigation plan which would add more than 1,000,000 acres for agriculture in California and which would provide water for every arable acre in the San Joaquin has been worked out by W. M. Wiley of Bakersfield, a civil engineer of State-wide repute. Mr. Wiley will present his plan before a meeting of State engineers in the near future. Mr. Wiley believes his plan, if effected, would add $300,000,000 to the real estate values of the State.

The salient detail of Mr. Wiley's plan calls for the construction of a long, low dam at the junction of the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers. This dam would be of the same height as high tide and would not back up water into the channels of the rivers, but it would provide the means of forming what may become the greatest irrigation project in the world.

Water which otherwise pours into the sea could be utilized to cover the entire floor of the San Joaquin Valley if necessary.

The cardinal details of the plan call for the construction of the dam and six pumping plants. The water would be carried along the low western rim of the valley in a series of irrigation canals.

ROAD WORK PROCEEDS IN TOPANGO CANYON

GIRARD, June 19.—Now that the work of widening Topango Canyon Boulevard from the mountain summit south to Ventura Boulevard has been completed, it is reported that the work of widening the remainder of the canyon boulevard to the sea soon will start. This latter improvement presents no engineering difficulties, according to county surveyors who are completing the survey in connection with the proposed reconstruction of the much-used road. The new work is for the purpose of reducing countless steep grades and hairpin curves, all of which were regarded as things of scenic beauty when the highway was constructed about ten years ago, at a time before auto traffic reached such proportions. When the whole of the road is reconstructed it will furnish one of the chief outlets from San Fernando Valley to the beach city sections and will be used largely by autos and trucks that heretofore have been forced to go through Cahuenga Pass to reach southern points in the metropolitan Los Angeles districts.

GLENDORA STREET CARNIVAL SATURDAY

GLENDORA, June 19.—A fantastic free street carnival is to be given in Glendora on the night of Saturday, the 25th inst., to formally mark the opening of the recently paved business section of Michigan avenue. The arrangements for the event are being perfected by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce and it is announced that it will be an event long to be remembered. The public, from all sections, is invited and will be assured an entertaining evening. There will be plenty of music, led by a fine brass band, with orchestras for street dancing, and the carnival spirit will prevail. Merchants have announced they will give free souvenirs and, of course, there will be no charge for the entertainment. The frolic, it is expected, will begin about 7:30 o'clock. Special arrangements will be made to take care of visitors who come in cars.

BUS LINES SCOUTING FOR MORE TERRITORY

GIRARD, June 19.—As mile after mile of paved highway is added to San Fernando Valley, one after another of the auto stage lines visits Girard for the purpose of scouting over prospective passenger routes. It is assured that the line from Santa Monica will be extended at least as far as Girard, by way of Topango, the present terminal, just as soon as completion is made on the canyon paving project. Whether this line will seek rights to operate over Topango Canyon avenue to Owensmouth and Chatsworth is problematical. The completion of the Topango Canyon avenue paving and the building of the Saugus-to-the-Sea road to the Ridge Route connection will afford a short cut for Crescent Bay traffic via this place to Bakersfield and the north, and it is pointed out that the local business of such a line, drawn from Reseda, Zelzah and other valley points would in itself prove of no small volume.

Plan New Home for Kiddie Koop at Alhambra

ALHAMBRA, June 19.—A formal application for a permit to use the estate of the late William Orr on North Vega street for the Kiddie Koop Home, an institution for orphan children, has been filed with the City Commission. In case permission is granted the home will be moved from its present location in Los Angeles to Alhambra.

The Kiddie Koop Home is maintained by funds from the Los Angeles Community Chest and in addition to orphan children provides for children of parents who are separated and children without suitable private homes. It is supported on a budget from the chest of $1800 monthly.

The directors of the institution are considering the purchase of the property, one of the show places of Alhambra, with a wealth of trees and flowers, in the event the city approves of the project. Some opposition has risen on the part of adjoining property owners and it is expected a protest will be submitted to the City Commission before the matter is officially decided.

BANKER BUYS INTO NEWSPAPER FIELD

LAGUNA BEACH, June 19.—W. T. Lambert, former Garden Grove banker, has become associated with Walter L. Cleamons in publishing the South Coast News, it was announced this week. Construction will start next week on a modern newspaper plant on the triangular lot at First and Forest avenues, at the side of Lippencott's garage. The building will be erected for Lambert and Cleamons by E. E. Jahraus. Plans are being completed by J. L. Egasse, who drew the plans for the Laguna Beach Lumber Company's plant. Lambert was engaged in newspaper work in Iowa for a number of years. Lately he has been engaged in business in Orange county. Lambert will take an active part in the management of the paper.

FIVE TEACHERS AT PORTERVILLE QUIT

PORTERVILLE, June 19.—Resignations have been received and accepted, according to W. A. Ferguson, principal of the Porterville Union High School, from five members of last year's teaching staff, including Mr. Stokesbury, auto mechanics teacher, who goes to Fullerton for next year, and the Misses Elinore Burt, teacher of home economics; Alice Kinder, physical education and typing; Alice Cattaneo, Spanish, and Vera M. Blair, history and English. The only vacancy filled thus far is that of Mr. Stokesbury, J. M. Gibson, formerly of Dinuba having been secured.

NEW VOLUMES ADDED TO POMONA LIBRARY

CLAREMONT, June 19.—The addition of 123 volumes to the art room of the Pomona College library has been made possible by a gift of the Carnegie Corporation according to the two most recent reports made by W. H. Kerr, Pomona College librarian. The books are an important addition to the work of the art department and include works on all phases of art study.

Two National League pitchers who are rapidly earning their spurs as major-league winners are Bob Smith of the Boston Braves and Guy Bush of the Chicago Cubs. The latter, especially, has aided his club in its rise to the top, and, as he is not yet 25 years of age, he should go far along the paths of baseball success, perhaps even farther than his nameskae, "Bullet Joe" Bush, who is now reaching the end of the trail with the Pirates.

Both of these right-handers figured in interesting "iron man" stunts last month, their feats of endurance taking place in two successive games in Boston, a city already noted for record overtime ball games. Guy Bush figured in the first of these affairs, pitching his team to an eighteen-inning victory over Boston, allowing eleven hits and two runs. In the last half of the twelfth inning Boston scored a run when J. Smith walked and

Fifteen Athletes to Represent Bay City Club in A.A.U. Title Meet at Lincoln

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (AP)—A fifteen-man team, picked from the outstanding athletes in this section will represent the San Francisco Olympic Club in the National A. A. U. track and field championships at Lincoln, Neb., July 1, 2 and 4.

In making the announcement today, Coach Charles Hunter said fourteen men had been decided upon, while Robert Kelley, holder of the Coast record in the hop, step and jump, was uncertain yet whether he could make the trip because of illness in his family. Hunter said he had not heard from Phil Barber, crack sprinter, who defeated Roland Locke in two exhibitions at Berkeley this spring.

EMERSON SPENCER

The rest of the squad follows: Emerson (Bud) Spencer, 440-yard hurdles and 440-yard dash; "Biff" Hoffman, Eric Krenz, Al Forster and Herbert Fleishhacker, shot and discus; Dyer, broad jump; King, high jump; Ward Edmonds, pole vault; Ross Nichols and Hugo Leistner, hurdles; Royce Clayton, mile run; Jack Merchant and James McEachern, fifty-six-pound weight and hammer throw, and Jonni Myrra, javelin. The first nine named are Stanford University stars. Clayton formerly ran under the colors of Oregon Agricultural College, while Myrra won the javelin throw in the 1920 and 1924 Olympic Games.

Pending later developments, Hunter said it is planned to leave here Wednesday night, traveling by way of Los Angeles. The squad will train two days there and also will stop off a day in Denver for practice.

MISSIONS DROP TWO TO SHEIKS

Stars Capture Double-header From Monk Club

Thump Rivals by Scores of 3 to 1 and 8 to 7

Locals Win Five of Seven Games From Foes

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The Hollywood team played a mean trick on the Missions. They came here from Oakland, where they dropped six games out of seven and naturally the Missions expected to gain some ground, seeing that Hollywood is the tail-end club and everything. But Hollywood proved an unpleasant surprise by winning five games out of seven from the Missions, taking both games today. Hollywood won the morning game, 3 to 1, and took the afternoon affair, 8 to 7. It was a cruel finish to a disastrous series.

Oscar Vitt

In the afternoon the Missions came from behind and tied the score in the eighth inning. Then Manager Vitt yanked Mulcahy and put in Fullerton, who stopped the Missions with a determined jerk. Hollywood put over the winning run in the ninth and it was the two new men, McNulty and Heath, who did the damage. McNulty doubled and Heath's single drove him home.

HAD GRAND CHANCE

The Missions had a grand chance to win in their half of the ninth, for they got the bases loaded with only one man out, but Griffin drove a short fly to Twombly and Jones, batting for Slade, ended the game with a roller to Heath. In that inning with runners on first and third, McDaniel was walked to fill the bases and the strategy worked out all right, for neither Griffin nor Jones could come through.

In the morning game Hank Hulvey pitched restrictive ball and the Missions scored their only run in the fourth inning when Ed Rose doubled, Parker singled infield and Slade lifted a fly to Twombly. The ball was caught close in, but Rose took a chance and beat Twombly's bad throw to the plate.

GOT BAD START

Charley Eckert pitched pretty good ball, but got off to a bad start when Hollywood scored two runs in the first inning. Lee opened with a hit and was bunted to second by Kerr. Twombly walked and McNulty singled to fill the bases. While Frederick was being retired Lee scored, and when Heath was passed Twombly was forced over the plate with the second run.

The third run was scored in the fifth inning when Twombly doubled and scored on McNulty's single. Frederick beat out an infield hit, but he ran into a ball hit by Heath and was out automatically. Scores:

OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENTS ADVOCATED BY BILL TILDEN

LONDON (Eng.) June 19. (AP)—William T. Tilden in a signed article in the Sunday Express today makes light of the "professional bogey" in tennis, and comes out strongly in favor of open tournaments for amateurs and professionals.

BILL TILDEN

"I see no harm in open events and no injury to tennis as a result of them," declared the American racket ace. "The great amateur fixtures—Wimbledon, St. Cloud and the American championships—still would retain their place of prestige. Players would be unaffected in open events if they still wished to remain amateurs.

"I believe open tournaments will come within a few years," he added.

Persistent reports were heard here today that four of the most prominent women tennis players entered at Wimbledon have been signed to play professional tennis, but no verification could be obtained.

HEYDLER SUSPENDS SMITH

Pugnacious Pirate Backstop Who Slugged Bancroft is Set Down Indefinitely by League Prexy

CHICAGO, June 19. (Exclusive)—President John Heydler of the National League today indefinitely suspended Catcher Earl Smith of the Pirates for assaulting Manager Dave Bancroft of the Boston Braves at Pittsburgh last Saturday.

The fight between the two players on Forbes Field was the aftermath of bitter personal remarks following Bancroft's drawing a base on balls in Saturday's game. As Bancroft sauntered toward the sack Smith whipped the ball to first base. Bancroft maintains Smith tried to hit him with the spheroid. After scoring on the pass Bancroft made charges of attempted assault with the ball to Umpire McCormick, which resulted in Smith's hitting Bancroft a vicious blow on the jaw cutting the latter's face and rendering him unconscious.

DAVE BANCROFT

Mr. Heydler left for the East tonight to get Bancroft's side of the story. Incidentally Smith's loss will handicap the league leaders not a little. It was because of Smith's pugnacious proclivities that McGraw released him from the Giants.

Frame took the lead at the start and maintained it throughout.

SERIES TAKEN BY KRUG CREW

Angels Capture Odd Tussle Out of Seven Games

Seals Rout Hamilton Early to Sew Up Opener

Cherubs Score Often to Nab Closing Struggle

BY BOB RAY

After dropping the opener, 10 to 7, Marty Krug's Angels came back strong in the nightcap, pounded out a 9-to-6 victory to get an even break in yesterday's twin bill at Wrigley Field and capture the odd game of the series from the San Francisco Seals. As you have probably guessed, both contests were free-hitting affairs and provided enough thrills to thoroughly satisfy the 10,000 fans gathered for the occasion.

MARTY KRUG

The triumph over the Seals made it two series in a row for the Angels, which may or may not be a new season's record for the 1926 champions. Tomorrow the Seraphs will begin a seven-game series with Oscar Vitt's surprising and remodeled Hollywood Stars, who have just finished bumping the Missions five out of seven up north, and all indications point to a hot time at Wrigley Field this week, with all the fireworks bearing a local trademark.

But to get back to yesterday's swatting scraps, the Seals scored six runs off the combined offerings of Hamilton and Wright in the first two innings of the opener, while the Angels ran up a big lead early in the second struggle, but at that the games remained interesting. There's no telling just when the Seals and Angels are going to break out with a big rally and they're always dangerous—especially when they're batting against each other's wobby hurling corps.

SEALS OUTHIT ANGELS

The Seals outbatted the Seraphs in both games and took advantage of the fact in the opener, but in the nightcap the Cherubs made their eight hits count for more than the visitors could with an even dozen safeties. Wildness on the part of Williams and Moudy aided the Angel cause in the nightcap, while Tex Weathersby, although generous with his base knocks, didn't start in pitching until after the Seals had men on bases.

San Francisco started right after Hamilton in the first inning of the opener, Averill's double, Sheehan's bunt, a walk to O'Doul, Bodie's single and Suhr's sacrifice fly giving the Seals a couple off the veteran southpaw.

Art Weis got one of these runs back for the Angels in the home half of the first when he tripled against the center-field bricks and scored on Hemingway's infield out.

Hamilton continued to toss 'em

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

New York seems to be experiencing the same depression on the pugilistic market as Los Angeles. The charity show at the Polo Grounds the other night drew $100,000 less than the $250,000 expected. All that charity got was a swell fight card and a $2000 deficit. It was the same old story. The promoters gave all the money to the fighters.

Terris got $32,500, Goldstein $22,500, Ace Hudkins $15,000, Sergt. Baker $10,000, Billy Petrolle $8000, Jackie Fields $7500, Billy Wallace $7500, Kid Kaplan $6000, and a couple of preliminary fighters $1000 apiece. No one begrudges a fighter all the tariff will stand, but a fighter is worth only what he can draw at the gate; and particularly at benefit shows, the boys should be willing to accept a fair percentage with only a nominal guarantee. Then, if things go over with a bang, why, everybody can make money and charity won't have to stick out its hand a second time, as it is doing in New York now, and ask the fighters to cut back with enough to make up the deficit and show a profit.

However, there is no doubt that the promoters are finding it much harder this year to coax out the fight fans than the same period a year ago. Money is tighter, and while the boys no doubt would like to patronize the shows more freely the do-re-mi is lacking. Hayden Wadhams tells me that the demand at the Olympic these days is for, first of all, the $2 seats. A year ago it was the other way around. The $3 seats went first, and the cheaper ones last. In this connection it is interesting to note the remarks of the p.a. about the tickets for the Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri battle in Chicago. "Prices are $2 to $10, plus tax. Grandstand seats at $2 and $3, plus tax, are proving very popular." Mister Mullen dropped twelve grand on his last show, and he

TUNNEY TO DEFEND TITLE IN CHICAGO IN SEPTEMBER

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—The world heavyweight championship fight between Gene Tunney and the winner of the Sharkey-Dempsey fray here July 21 has been set for the week of September 5 to 10 and will not take place in this city, the New York Times says.

Promoter Tex Rickard is inclined to favor Chicago as a site although still considering offers from Baltimore and Philadelphia, the story says.

Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, announced after a conference with Rickard today that he accepted terms for the Dempsey bout and probably would sign tomorrow. Dempsey is expected from the West early this week and Rickard is confident of obtaining his signature at once for the July 21 battle.

BEAR OARSMEN WINK AT SABBATH TO BETTER FORM

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 19. (AP)—The University of California rowing crews, which have been holding the western fort on the Hudson River in training for the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta on the 29th inst., will be joined tomorrow by Washington and Wisconsin.

The other Far Western squad and the one from the Midwest are booked to arrive late tomorrow morning, and are expected to be on the water late in the afternoon.

California was joined only by Cornell today in practice on the Hudson. The other crews made Sunday a day of rest, but Cornell and California, arriving here later than the others, thought it best to get in a short workout in the afternoon.

A steady rain fell during the practice, but the river was calm, and afforded good rowing conditions. Coach Ky Ebright of California said tonight that the program for the early part of the week will include long rows morning and afternoon. Ebright expects to average almost twenty miles daily until about Thursday or Friday.

By that time, he said, he expects his men will have rounded into first-class condition, and he will order the first time trial over the respective courses on which his three crews will compete.

The Navy squad arrived here today, and with Washington and Wisconsin here tomorrow, the flotilla on the Hudson will be complete and waiting for the starter's gun on the afternoon of the 29th inst.

CHICAGO, June 19. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs cut down Pittsburgh's lead to one game in the National League race today by swamping the Pirates, 14 to 7. The Cubs hammered Carmen Hill in the first and sixth innings to take a commanding lead, their attack including three doubles and a home run by Webb, with two on base. It was Webb's eleventh circuit drive. They launched their final attack on Yde in the eighth, driving him off the hill. Covengros checked the rally after five runs had been scored. The Pirates bunched hits off Root in the third and again in the last, when he eased up.

Paul Waner, slugging outfielder of the visitors, collected three hits, two of them for extra bases, giving him a record of safe hitting in twenty-two consecutive games. It was also the fourteenth consecutive game in which he had hit for extra bases. Score:

GIANTS COP

ST. LOUIS, June 19. (AP)—The New York Giants evened up the series with the Cardinals at 2-all by taking the final game here today, 4 to 3.

Benton and Clarkson held the world champions to four hits, each allowing two. Benton was relieved in the seventh after being hit by a pitched ball in the fifth. A crowd of 26,000 witnessed the game with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh a rival attraction in Forest Park. Score:

PHILS SPLIT

CINCINNATI, June 19. (AP)—Pitcher Jack Scott of Philadelphia performed the "iron man" stunt by pitching both halves of the double-header at Redlands Field today, winning the first game, 3 to 1, and dropping the second, 3 to 0. Scott held Cincinnati in subjection in the first game, except in the sixth inning, when Wanninger doubled to right, went to third on an infield out and scored on a sacrifice fly. Philadelphia bunched three singles and a triple off Jakie May in the fourth inning, scoring three runs.

In the second game Cincinnati scored successively in the first three innings, while Eppa Rixey pitched airtight ball. Score:

RICHARD NORRIS WILLIAMS, II, better known as Dick, seems to be on the verge of a return to the form that made him the despair of his friends and enemies a decade ago. Williams, who has captained the American Davis Cup team several times really reached his greatest peak when, in 1914, he defeated Maury McLoughlin, who was at that time at the very peak of his form. Williams, always erratic, had one of his good days against the redhead and sprang one of the greatest upsets in tennis history. This year, after several years of decidedly indifferent play, Williams has been going in brilliant form with the apparent intention of making everybody forget that Vinnie Richards, the ex-amateur, had ever played and the manner in which he has swept through all opposition lately indicates that he is playing just as brilliantly as ever, and more consistently.

The Delaware State championships at Wilmington this week ought to furnish a good line on the possible outcome of the national intercollegiates since practically all of the rah-rahs will be performing there. Ben Gorchakoff and Craig of Occidental, Holman, Ogden, Herrington and McElvenny of Stanford and Tom Stow of California will be among the participants. Gorchakoff's victory over Wallace Johnson last week will rank him very high as the previous week Johnson had trimmed John Van Ryn of Princeton, top ranking eastern collegian, two sets out of three. Some of the old-timers, however, may upset the rah-rahs in the Delaware tournament.

We are forced to add to our list of "Blowhards who have made good" Mr. Harry Cooper, who never should have been omitted in the first place. The sawed-off youngster who came here from Texas a couple of years ago to trim everybody in the open, and who more recently tied for first in the national event, only to lose to Tommy Armour in the playoff, is certainly the acme of self-confidence. Strangely enough, like one or two other exceptions to the general rule, Cooper seems to be able to make good and with another year or so of topnotch competition under his belt ought to be right at the top rung of the ladder.

O'BRIEN AND GANS ARE EVEN MONEY BET IN OLYMPIC BOUT

Baby Joe Gans is the sectional favorite over Tommy O'Brien for their ten-round rematch at the Olympic tomorrow night. By sectional is meant that certain districts like Gans, such as Pasadena, Central avenue, which runs through the black belt, and Hollywood, where fans would like to see the Irishman licked. Along Spring street the choice is a toss-up.

Some figure Gans won't be able to forget the terrific body beating which O'Brien gave him before. Others think that Gans will profit by his lesson and come out in the open and slug it out with O'Brien.

TOMMY O'BRIEN.

In a slugging match Gans has an equal chance, but O'Brien is dangerous either going or coming. One of O'Brien's favorite traps is to feint in half retreat to a corner, then whip over his terrible right hand. It was this kind of a trap that O'Brien lead Dick Hoppe into when he nearly knocked him out of the ring.

Gans and O'Brien ended their training yesterday. Both came through the grind without mishap to their hands. When they fought before O'Brien claimed he had a tender hand and asked for permission to use extra bandage. This may have been one of Tommy's tricks to throw the black boy off his guard.

In this fight Gans has protested against the use of the kidney punch. "If O'Brien is permitted to use it I want the same privilege," says Gans. "No protests are ever made against Hudkins's fighting. I hope it will be barred, but if it isn't, I can use it pretty well myself."

Don Levy and Joe Pimenthal box the semi-wind-up. They are 130-pounders. Two heavyweights, Walter Hoffman and William Johnson, clash in the special event.

Gans and O'Brien are expected to scale 137 pounds.

probably would like to sell off a flock of those cheaper seats for the forthcoming show.

England, too, is in the same boat. There comes a plaint that prices of $55, $27, $17, $11 and $5 for the Mickey Walker-Tommy Milligan middleweight championship fight are bringing plenty of kicks. And it is also written that Walker's choice of Tagg's Island as a training spot has little to recommend it—"unless Walker enjoys the society of a crowd of week-end joy makers." We on the Coast who know Walker and Kearns would not guess that he chose it for any other reason.

Do you ever glance at the line-up of the Birmingham baseball team in the Southern Association? And lamp the names of Gillis, shortstop; Barnes, catcher, and Rosenfield, second base? And then do you recall the Gillis who made the gigantic heave to Johnny Mack-Brown that resulted in one of the touchdowns with which Alabama beat Washington, 20 to 19, two years ago? And do you remember "Red" Barnes who led his team to a 7-to-7 tie with Stanford, the Coast champions, last New Year's Day? And do you remember little Rosenfeld, who adorned the bench two years in a row because of an affliction which kept him out of the game, although he was really a very good player? Verily, these Alabama boys are all-around stars.

then tallied on High's triple. Bush was ordered to pass Burrus and Welsh, filling the bases with one out, but made Gautreau fly out to first and Taylor line out to third. Then the Cubs won by scoring five runs in the eighteenth.

The next time the two teams were able to play was on May 17. This time the game went twenty-two innings, the third longest game ever played in the majors. Bob Smith pitched the entire game for the losers, holding the Cubs scoreless from the fifth to the final inning, Chicago winning, 4 to 3. If you think pitching for four hours and a quarter is easy, try it some time. It was an especially worthy stunt for a former utility infielder who had pitched in only fourteen complete games the year before.

SEALS AND KRUGS WIN AND LOSE

Angels Cop Second Tilt by Score of 9 to 6 and Capture Series

where the Seals like 'em in the second and four more runs pattered across the plate before Doc Wright, who came to Earl's rescue, could get the side out. After Rego had been retired, Jacobs dropped Rego's pop fly to start the trouble. Kunz singled to center and Averill followed with a safety to left that scored Rego. Sheehan also singled to left, scoring Kunz, and Averill went to third and Sheehan to second when Jahn kicked the ball. Wright then replaced Hamilton and instead of walking O'Doul, he pitched to Lefty. O'Doul rapped a single to right center and Averill and Sheehan counted to wind up the scoring for the inning.

The Seals nicked Wright for two more in the fifth, O'Doul's double, Suhr's triple and Brazill's error that allowed Gussie to complete the circuit, accounting for the pair of tallies.

JACOBS CLOUTS HOMER

Los Angeles gave Kunz a four-run blasting in the sixth, a double by Hemingway, Jensen's sacrifice fly. Jahn's triple, a walk to Brazill and Ray Jacobs's home run drive over the left-field wall bringing in the quartet of markers and putting the Seraphs back in the ball game.

Wright retired for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, so Krug sent in his kid battery of Cunningham and Red Walby to finish up the game. The Seals got their last two runs off Cunningham, O'Doul homing over the right-field screen in the seventh. The final Seal score arrived in the ninth when Sheehan walked, took third on Cunningham's wide heave to pick him off first, and scored on Bodie's infield hit.

The Angels flared up in the ninth to cause Nick Williams to derrick Kunz and send in Buckshot May to put down the uprising. Two runs were scored when Cox, batting for Cunningham, singled, Weis tripled, and Hemingway hit a sacrifice fly. May pitched to Hemingway and Jensen, the latter being tossed out by Dittmar to end the game.

In the nightcap Marty Krug shifted his infield, moving Jacobs to third and sending in Charley Scherf, recently signed ex-Santa Clara athlete, at short. Scherf got a single and triple in four attempts but he booted his only chance in the field.

Tex Weathersby, who started on the mound for the Angels, was in trouble all along the way, but his mates kept giving him runs so Tex could afford to be generous with his base hits. However, the Seals finally drove Weathersby off the mound in the final round with three successive singles. Bill Piercy got the side out, but not until after Gussie Suhr had hit a home run into the stands to give the Seals four runs for the inning.

ANGELS SCORE PAIR

The Angels started in by pecking Lefty Williams for a couple of runs in the first, a walk, Jahn's single that O'Doul kicked, a throw to the plate was foozled by Rego and Schef's hit accounting for the counters.

The second saw the last of Williams, Dick Moudy coming to Lefty's aid after the Angels had scored two more runs. Williams walked Sandberg for a starter, but Weathersby forced Gus at second. Cox singled to center and Hemingway followed with a double down the left-field line that scored both runners. Exit Williams, enter Moudy.

Moudy yielded another run to the Angels in the third, Scherf's triple to right and Staley's single doing the damage. The Cherubs continued their scoring in the fourth, Ed Hemingway making his way around the paths after being hit by a pitched ball, by stealing second and counting on Jahn's drive to center.

The Seals scored their first two runs off Weathersby in the fifth, Scherf's error helping them do it.

After Rego had been retired, Scherf fumbled Moudy's grounder, Averill singled, Sheehan rolled to Hemingway and then O'Doul tripled against the right field screen.

SERAPHS ICE STRUGGLE

Los Angeles iced the struggle in the home half of the fifth by putting across three more runs on one hit and some loose Seal playing. Jacobs started with a walk and Staley was safe at first when Mishkin muffed Sheehan's throw. Sandberg singled to right, scoring Jacobs and the other athletes advanced to second and third on the throw home. Weathersby's infield out and Cox's sacrifice fly drove Staley and Sandberg over the plate.

The Seals filled the bases with none out in the sixth, but Weathersby tightened up to prevent any scoring by retiring Rego and McCrea on raps to Cox, the latter's drive being converted into a double play.

When Averill, Sheehan and O'Doul opened the seventh with singles, Krug lifted Weathersby and sent in Piercy. Jolley, batting for Bodie, sent a sacrifice fly to Jahn, Averill scoring. Suhr then poled one into the right-field stands to score Sheehan and O'Doul ahead of him. Piercy fanned Dittmar and, after Camilli had singled, got rid of Rego on a pop to Staley that ended the afternoon's excitement. Scores:

STAUBER BREAKS RECORD IN WINNING TRAPSHOOT

A. J. Stauber was high at the Los Angeles traps today when he broke 99x100. He also set a long-run mark of 281 straight for the new grounds which will take some beating. He carried an unbroken run of 149 over from last Sunday and broke 50 straight in practice today and then followed on with 82 straight in the 100-target regular program. Don Morrison, the pro, was clicking them off in spectacular style when he annexed 97 out of the century. J. B. Winston, Jr., smashed 94 and F. Godde in his first attempt over the new traps accounted for 93.

Brad Townsend of Denver broke 50 straight in his usual style. P. A. Gillispie is coming fast for a new beginner. He collected several bets with his 88x100.

A great number of our regulars were away attending the State shoot at Del Monte.

CALIFORNIA EVENT WILL OPEN TODAY

The fifth annual invitational tournament of the California Country Club will flood the immaculate Culver City layout with a first-day qualifying field of more than 150 amateur golfers, this morning.

With a tourney entry mark of 406 to shoot at and 370 already signed more than 250 will qualify, 18 holes tomorrow and low scorers at the end of the two-day medal play will be paired in ten flights to start match play, Wednesday.

An 18-hole consolation medal round Friday, for nonqualifiers and players defeated in first-round match, will be the first added feature of invitational week and the two-ball mixed foursome event next Sunday, the second. Two-ball affairs at California have always drawn record entries and the medley affair should find the best men and women golfers in the country, playing through.

The invitational proper, opening this morning, will bring together the most representative group of local amateurs of the season. California, then riding in the wake of E. R. Hurst, president, started to sponsor real invitationals five years ago. The golfing response was very gratifying, too much so in fact, for three years ago, with twenty full flights drawn for match play, it was necessary to send eight brackets over to the near-by Hillcrest club. For the past two years, more than 400 contestants have signed for the California event, changing annually, the Southern California entry record for interclub events.

California today is an improved course—slightly revamped after a progressive and comprehensive program outlined by club officials. W. O. Pryor, one of the hardest working and most conscientious greens chairmen in the country, has the layout in fine shape. Johnny Read, new club president, anxious to keep up the high hospitality standard always maintained at California, has some surprises in store for invitational entrants this year.

The golf competition should be of the best and with Fay, Lester and Chester Coleman, Johnny Mescal, Dick Smith, George Shaw and other representative low-handicap stars playing under the California banner—the golfing hurdle presented for visiting stars should insure the best matches of the season.

JONES TRAINS FOR MAT BOUT

Texan Moves to Long Beach Camp for Three Days

Victory Means Return Tilt With Joe Stecher

Greek Already Has One Win Over Lanky Rival

Paul Jones, the hook body scissor expert from Texas, moved to Long Beach yesterday to put in the final three days of hard training for his battle with Jimmy Londos, Greek mat idol, in the feature bout of Lou Daro's show at the Olympic Wednesday night.

JIM LONDOS.

Jones and Londos met here once before, Jim winning the bout. Since that time the Texan has shown tremendous improvement and there will be many stringing with him Wednesday evening.

The bout with Londos is probably the most important Jones will have here this year, aside from the one he just had with Joe Stecher. Should Jones beat Londos, as he expects he will, he will be in line for a return bout, a no time-limit finish match for the world's heavyweight championship. Daro expects a larger crowd than attended the Stecher-Jones battle see the Texan and Londos tangle.

Jones has already gained about seven pounds during the last ten days and he hopes to put on at least three more pounds before Wednesday night. He is stronger and in better condition than he was when he tackled Stecher. The past two months of training here have put him in wonderful shape.

Portlanders Beat Sacs in Double-header

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (AP)—Portland took both ends of today's double-header from Sacramento, winning the first game at Stockton in the morning, 11 to 3, and the afternoon tilt here, 8 to 7. The series favored the Beavers, five games to two. Vinci was again the victim of an early attack in the first game and the Beavers hounded him out of the box in the second frame. Tomlin won his second game of the week. The afternoon fracas was a see-saw affair that Portland finally won in the ninth with two runs.

DEMPSEY SEES VICTORY AHEAD

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 19. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, is confident that he can whip Jack Sharkey, thus removing from his path the only obstacle to a return bout with Gene Tunney, to whom he lost his crown at Philadelphia.

Dempsey today expressed this confidence here as he was welcomed by hundreds of fight fans. Dempsey, en route to New York, where he expects to close arrangements with Tex Rickard, for his fight with Sharkey, arrived at 9:15 o'clock and pulled out at 9:25, but in ten minutes he made it perfectly clear that he is keen for another scrap with Tunney, keen to show the world that the fighter who lost to Tunney was not the "Manassa Mauler" whose terrific hooks earned for Dempsey ring immortality.

BOXING
HOLLYWOOD-LEGION STADIUM
FRIDAY NITE 8:30

Lightning SALE

Over a million and a half men paid $5.00 for their Twinplex Stroppers. Here is your chance to get a genuine Twinplex for less than half that price.

Red Flash is the new Twinplex beauty. Made of the same high grade materials by the same skilled workmen, it will give you just as many years shaving comfort as a $5.00 Twinplex. Its bright nickel and red enamel finish make Red Flash as handsome as it is efficient. At this low price Twinplex will pay for itself in a few months and more than save its cost every year thereafter.

For Sale By Leading Dealers Everywhere

Red Flash Twinplex Stroppers $2.19

The Easy Way To Have Keen Blades

There really is no reason for any man suffering the discomfort of using a poor blade. It takes only thirty seconds to strop a NEW blade on Twinplex. The blade will be so delightfully keen that it will shave smoothly and rapidly, and you won't lose time going over the face again to clean up missed spots. Actually, it takes two minutes less to strop and shave than it takes just to shave with an unstropped blade. Twinplex makes shaving easier and quicker. Two million Twinplex users will tell you so.

The Easiest Stropper To Use

It is so easy to strop a blade on Twinplex. You simply slip the blade in and turn the handle. It is the only stropper that strops both edges at once. At every turn Twinplex strops first one side, then the other, just as a barber does, and just as expertly. Thirty seconds and all edges are as keen as fine razors can be. There are no adjustments to make, no screws to turn, no blade to reverse—everything is automatic. You can't go wrong—you can't fail to improve even a NEW blade. And that new blade, if stropped before each shave, will keep on giving you wonderful shaves, day after day, for so long that you will be amazed.

Soon Pays For Itself

Some Twinplex users shave with one blade for over a year, but the average is about one blade a month. Twinplex easily pays for itself the first year, and is a big money saver for years thereafter.

Magnified Edge of New Unstropped Blade

So many men think they don't need a Twinplex because they only use new blades. They don't realize that NEW blades need stropping quite as much as old blades.

The edge of any razor blade, NEW or old, is made up of tiny teeth, invisible to the naked eye. These teeth are so fine and sensitive that temperature changes often get them out of alignment. When this happens they would look, under a powerful microscope, something like the illustration above. Imagine shaving with such an edge. It would be impossible were the teeth not so tiny. But they are so very small the edge actually looks smooth, and one can shave with it, though not very comfortably. No doubt you've had a blade pull, and leave your face sore. Now you know why.

A Twinplex will smooth these invisible teeth back into line, giving the blade a perfect cutting edge so that it glides over your face like a piece of velvet.

NOW THAT SKEEZIX IS BACK AND LIFE HAS TAKEN UP ITS OLD ROUTINE, MORE OR LESS, WALT FEELS DIFFERENTLY ABOUT PROSECUTION OF THE OFFENDERS THAN HE DID WHILE HE WAS WORRIED ABOUT THE OUTCOME. HE IS HAPPY OVER THE HAPPY ENDING AND WANTS TO TURN TO A NEW CHAPTER THOUGH THE STATES ATTORNEY IS STILL INTERESTED.
NOW WHAT DO YOU WANT TO DO, PROSECUTE CODA FOR ABDUCTING SKEEZIX - NOW THAT WE HAVE HIM?
NO I BELIEVE CODA IS SINCERE IN THINKING HE IS SKEEZIX'S FATHER. IN THAT CASE HE ONLY DID WHAT ANY FATHER WOULD DO UNDER THE SAME CIRCUMSTANCES.
WELL BEFORE YOU ANNOUNCE YOU ARE NOT GOING TO PROSECUTE YOU HAD BETTER COME TO SOME AGREEMENT WITH HIM. HE IS A WEALTHY MAN AND SACRIFICING THE BONDS HE HAS GIVEN MAY NOT MEAN A GREAT DEAL TO HIM. YOU DON'T WANT HIM TO REPEAT.
I'M GOING TO HAVE A HEART-TO-HEART TALK WITH HIM TOMORROW. I FEEL THAT MME. OCTAVE IS THE REAL CAUSE OF ALL OUR TROUBLES.
WHAT ARE YOU DOING ABOUT HER? I THINK WE HAVE A STRONG CASE AGAINST HER IF WE WANT TO PUSH IT.
I'M REALLY SO GLAD TO GET SKEEZIX BA DON'T FEEL PROSECUTING ANYBODY. OCTAVE IS NOW AND THINK SHE GOING TO UP RIGHT AWAY. LET IT UNTIL DOES.

GOLD MINE DEPTHS TO BE RECORD

Owners of Argonaut and Kennedy Plan Deepest Shafts in World

JACKSON, June 19. (Exclusive)—The deepest gold-mining project in the world has been launched near here on the Mother Lode by the Argonaut and Kennedy companies. The 5400-foot vertical Argonaut shaft is being deepened about 100 feet, and the Kennedy vertical shaft is being continued to 4700 feet. Both companies have been producing heavily for over forty years, with the ore bodies showing consistent strength and values as great depth is gained. Both companies plan to eventually carry their operations to a vertical depth exceeding 6000 feet.

Harriman Mining Company, operating on the east branch of the Mother Lode, a few miles above the pioneer camp of Jacksonville, has arranged to add a ten-stamp unit to its ten-stamp mill, and materially increase underground activities.

Pumps have been installed to provide the mill and mine plant with adequate water from underground workings and the Tuolumne River, and vigorous development of virgin ground has begun. The company is controlled by Los Angeles residents, with Bertrechy in charge of operations.

POSO CREEK ROAD PLANS ENCOURAGED

California Standard Oil Deeds Right of Way Over Holdings for Project

To encourage the construction of a public highway to the Poso Creek oil field, near Bakersfield, the Standard Oil Company of California is reported to have deeded to Kern county a strip of land thirty feet wide through Secs. 27 and 15, 28-27.

L. E. Foust, president of the Bakersfield chapter of the California Chamber of Mines and Oil, is urging oil companies which are operating in Kern county to co-operate with Kern county officials to the extent of deeding country road rights of way over lands which they control in the vicinity of Poso Creek field.

The proposed road would be four miles long and would replace the present woody road as far north from Bakersfield as the McFarland road and would, it is asserted, provide a better road into the mountains north of Bakersfield as well as a permanent highway over which oil companies could transport into the Poso Creek field the materials with which to carry on development campaigns.

Goal of Shaft at Katherine Mine in Sight

KINGMAN (Ariz.) June 19. (Exclusive)—The Katherine Treasure Vault shaft is down to about 470 feet and is expected to be at 600 feet—the main level—by the end of next month. Treasure Vault Extension is down about 170 feet and will crosscut at 200 feet for exploration of a couple of veins. Extension has received authority from the Arizona Corporation Commission for sale of its stock, action demanded by California authorities before sales shall be made in the latter State.

From the Chloride mill has come the admission that the first handlings of refractory ores were not attended with as high a percentage of extraction as had been hoped and that changes have been necessary in the methods of flotation. The ore is of good grade and in ample supply and the only trouble has been with the process.

It is stated that material betterment has been secured and that much better savings are being made than at first. The mill now is treating sixty-five tons a day from the company's Hidden Treasure mine. Permission has been given in Phoenix for increase of the corporation's capital stock from $400,000 to $500,000.

New Workings of Big Jim in Profitable Ore

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) June 19. (Exclusive)—On the 250-foot level, Big Jim has driven 125 feet into its ore, which is reported to be as rich as ever. Work is being pushed on the 350-foot level to tap the same ore. The mill is running two shifts and is reported to be making high-grade concentrates, with nearly perfect soving of values.

Los Angeles capital is reported to be examining the Colossus Mine at Alto, in the Huachucas, with the idea of installing a mill. The property is owned by Josiah Bond, a pioneer, who has developed nine feet of ore on the 100-foot level, carrying good values in gray copper and silver. In the same section, the Morning Star Mine of Martin Wilson also may be equipped with a mill.

The Pinal mine, leased by Los Angeles interests from John A. McDonald, is crosscutting into the vein on the 300-foot level and is reported to have cut several stringers of very good ore, though still some distance from the main ore body.

GILMORE OIL LEASES IN WILDCAT FIELD

BAKERSFIELD, June 20. (Exclusive)—Four hundred and eighty acres of prospective oil land have been acquired in the northwest quarters of Secs. 19, 20 and 21, 27-29, by the Gilmore Oil Company, according to assignments filed for record here. The three quarter-sections were assigned to the Gilmore by P. and Celia J. Whiston. The property is in Adobe Canyon, southeast of the Poso Creek field.

Compressed Air Hoist Installed by United Mines

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (Exclusive)—United Mines Company of California, headed by Los Angeles operators, has installed a compressed air hoist underground at the Experimental Gulch gold mine, near Columbia, and started sinking of a 100-foot winze from the shaft. The winze is going down on a strong vein of profitable ore, with the ore-shoot reported to be exposed for 200 feet. The south winze from the shaft is in excellent ore at a depth of 200 feet.

Four Aces Mining Company, operating the noted Three Queens group near Forest Hill, above Auburn, is operating its fifty-ton mill on ore averaging $60 per ton. Rich ore from small shoots is being mixed with the ordinary mill product. The management has arranged to raise the capacity of the plant to 175 tons daily by the addition of five stamps and a ball mill. A 300-foot winze is being sunk from the old workings, to be followed by extensive cross-cutting of the formation.

GEORGE F. GETTY LEASING IN KINGS

HANFORD, June 20. (Exclusive)—The George F. Getty oil interests, operating in the southern part of the State, have just recorded three leases for 700 acres owned by P. A. Curry, E. W. Beckman and Joe F. Mattos of this city, in township 22, range 18, about three miles south of Murray.

NEW GOLETA TEST STARTED

Barnsdall Spuds in First Project on West of Miley's Discovery Well; Other News of Field Told

The Barnsdall Oil Company is spudding in its first well in the Goleta district, on the Anna Edwards property, three and one-half miles west of the Miley producers, according to official reports. The Barnsdall well is the first to be drilled west of the original discovery area, although five other projects are now drilling east of Miley's Goleta wells. Barnsdall has several hundred acres under leases, about one and one-half miles west of the western line of the Miley holdings.

The most interesting development in that area last week was the discovery by Clarence Berry of the upper Goleta sands in his Cavaletto No. 1 well at about 1510 feet. Berry picked up showings as shallow as 1475 feet, it is said, and continues to get stringers of oil sand at about 1340 feet. The zone correlates with the surface showings of the Miley wells, which have not proven commercially productive, but the fact that they were found at about the same stratigraphic depth is interpreted as an indication that the Cavaletto well is still on the structure, although it is two and one-half miles east, and a little south of producing wells. Berry has another well, the Pomato No. 1 a few hundred feet from the Cavaletto, drilling at about 700 feet.

About half way between the Berry wells and the Miley wells, the California-Eastern Oil Company has had the upper showings and is now drilling at about 800 feet. Geologists figure that the California-Eastern well should get the productive zone at somewhere around 1500 feet, approximately the same depth as the Miley wells.

Directly offsetting the Miley property, the Transcontinental Oil Company, operating under the name of the Santa Barbara Oil Company, is drilling two wells, one of which is down about 1500 feet, and is due to get the productive zone in the next few days. The Transcontinental well is higher topographically when the Miley wells, and consequently will have to make a little more hole to get the zone which it should find at about the same stratigraphic depth as the Miley wells.

The original Miley No. 1 is drilling ahead at about 4100 feet, and is still in the Tejon formation, it is reported. Miley geologists do not expect to get anything important in the way of showings until the well reaches the Meganos formation, which it is estimated should be somewhere in the next 500 feet. The Miley Exploration Company spudded in its No. 7 well a few days ago, and this is the only other drilling well on the Miley leases at present. The No. 6 is a rig, and the No. 2 and No. 4 are producing.

NEW PLANT IN DURANGO READY SOON

July 1 Set for Start of Latin-American's Mill in Mexico State

Rapid progress in the installation of the new 400-horsepower Diesel power plant at the properties of the Latin-American Milling Company in the State of Durango, Mexico, give every indication that the company's 250-ton daily capacity mill will be operating on or about July 1, according to Harry J. Moffett, of Moffett & White, Inc., fiscal agents for the Latin-American Milling Company, who has just returned from the properties.

The mill will immediately start the reduction of 400,000 tons of dump ores and tailings which are above the ground and are estimated by engineers to contain 2,000,000 ounces silver, 28,000,000 pounds lead and 56,000,000 pounds zinc and have a net worth, according to estimates of $1,000,000, states Mr. Moffett.

The company has new equipment installed, on the ground, and being installed, valued at $250,000, which is intended to assure the reduction of 250 tons of tailings every day. Less than thirty days from now, states Mr. Moffett, the Latin-American Milling Company should average a daily production of concentrates of twenty tons silver-lead and thirty-five tons zinc all of which will be shipped to the American Smelting and Refining Company smelters.

According to Moffett & White, Inc., profits from daily operations, based on actual smelter returns, should average, after all charges, $25,000 per month, these profits from the treatment of tailings alone.

OLD MINING FIELD SEEN AS REVIVING

Eldorado Canyon in East Part of Nevada Said to be Staging Comeback

The Eldorado Canyon mining district in the eastern portion of Clark county, Nevada, noted for its rich gold and silver producers as far back as the day when all provisions and supplies were shipped in by means of flat-bottomed boats plying on the Colorado River north from Yuma, is once again in the limelight, due largely, it is stated, to the recent important discovery on the 350-foot level of the old Techaticup mine owned by the Wharton estate of Philadelphia.

This report was brought to Los Angeles by C. E. L. Gresh of Las Vegas and D. P. Simons of Hollywood, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Eldorado Empire Mining Company, largely interested in mining properties in that district.

The Techaticup, now under lease to the Stiles Brothers, has long been a producer of high-grade ore in ground east of the shaft, the impression prevailing that the formation to the west was barren. The Stiles Brothers, however, according to Mr. Gresh, started a drift to the west of the shaft and soon, in virgin ground, opened up a large body of first-class mill ore, in which there is an occurrence of from two to six inches of phenomenally rich gold ore from which, for the last two months, the leasers have been sending frequent shipments to outside smelter by express. It is stated this ore assays from $15,000 to $28,000 in gold to the ton.

Local Company Buys Lease in Texas Oil Area

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 19. (Exclusive)—The Golden West Oil Company of Los Angeles has purchased the fifty-acre lease of the Gibson Oil Corporation in the Ina field of Medina county, on which there are four producing wells at approximately 950 feet.

Golden West already owned considerable acreage in the field with eight wells and the four purchased gives the company an even dozen.

The entire field is now divided between the Magnolia Petroleum Company, the Texas Company and Golden West Oil Company and it is understood that negotiations are under way between the three to put down a joint 4000-foot test. Magnolia has six wells and Texas one shallow well in the field.

Nearly $50,000 Worth of Ore Taken Out of Old Gold Mine

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 20. (Exclusive)—Nearly $50,000 worth of ore is reported to have been shipped by W. S. Groves & Sons from the noted old Storm Cloud property, on which they have a lease. They have just started on shipment from Prescott of about 1000 tons, now on the dump.

W. F. Burns, manager of the Logan mine in Cherry district, has given a contract for sinking an additional 200 feet of the main shaft to the 600 level, from which will be upraises to the 300-foot level, where five feet of milling ore has been developed. The Logan is a part of the property of the new United Verde Copper Company, and is under lease to the Florence Mines Company.

SIGNIFICANT MOVE AT TEST

DELANO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Reports are to the effect that the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, which is drilling a test well on Sec. 23, 25-27, is making preparations to run a spur track from the Santa Fe Railway to its Harry Quinn lease. This is taken as an indication that the company expects soon to obtain production here.

Rights of way for a rail line are said to have been obtained from the Quinns in recent weeks. Chanslor-Canfield has been trying to develop oil production in this region for three years. Recently it failed to get a water shut-off in its wildcat well, but a new cement job was put in and it is understood that the company is now planning to drill for deeper zones. Several truckloads of four-inch pipe have just been unloaded at the well.

The old Sentinel Oil Company test well rig on Sec. 20, 25-27, near Delano is being torn down. The hole, which was drilled on Quinn lands, was abandoned several months ago. All of the equipment, including rig timbers, is now the property of Harry Quinn, due to a quitclaim deed filed by the Sentinel company. Machinery and boilers will be shipped to Montana for wildcatting. No disposition has been made of the rig timbers.

COMANCHE ENLARGES HOLDINGS

Boraska Claims on Blind Springs Hill Added to Mono County Estate

The Boraska group, the property of the Blind Springs Mining Company, consisting of fourteen patented claims, and covering four old producing mines on Blind Springs Hill near Benton in Mono county, and adjoining the property of the Comanche Mining and Reduction Company on the north, has just been transferred by deed, to the Comanche Company, giving the latter a domain of thirty-six patented claims, and eleven unpatented claims, or an area in excess of 1000 acres of mineral ground, besides 240 acres of land with water rights, below the portal of the main Comanche cross-cut working tunnel.

The acquisition of this new territory gives the Comanche Company one of the largest mineral domains in a solid block, existing in the Southwest, together with developed mines with a past production record in excess of $1,000,000, and with 150,000 tons of ore on the dumps of good milling grade.

The Boraska group covers the extensions of the main ore-bearing fissures of Comanche holdings, including the Diana-Kerrick, Hudson, Cornucopia, Anderson and Comanche veins, all of which can be successfully worked through the Comanche working cross-cut tunnel, now in the mountain a distance of about 3500 feet, and which is being advanced at the rate of nine feet daily with the Comanche vein, 2900 feet farther on, as its objective.

MINE PAY ROLL HEAVY

Annual Outlay of Ray Branch of Nevada Consolidated Given

RAY (Ariz.) June 20. (Exclusive) About 10,000 individuals are supported in Pinal and Gila counties by the operations of the Ray branch of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company, mainly in its mines at Ray and in its mill at Hayden. The pay roll amounts to over $2,500,000 annually.

In addition, the company pays over half the taxes of Pinal county and 4 per cent of the taxes in Gila county, where there are even larger mining taxpayers. In the Ray and Hayden school districts, with 1300 attending school children, the company pays 80 per cent of the school levies.

GRADE CROSSING

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (Exclusive)—An extension of time has been granted by the Railroad Commission to Los Angeles Railway Corporation until September 30, 1927, in which to continue use of a grade crossing over the tracks of Southern Pacific Company and Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company in Ninth-street near Santa Fe avenue in the city of Los Angeles.

OUTPUT WAVERS AT SEAL BEACH

Slight Slackening of Pace Noted During Week

Yield Hovers Around 70,000 to 75,000 Barrels

Interest Centers on Wasem Project of General

The Seal Beach field hesitated on its upward climb during the past week, apparently not quite decided whether to continue on to a new record, or to slip back. Operators interested in the field believe for the most part that the field is due for a substantial increase before it reaches its ultimate peak. In the meantime it hovers between 70,000 and 75,000 barrels a day.

The most interesting development in the field at present is the General Petroleum Corporation's Wasem No. 7 deep sand well, which probably will be ready for a test late next week. The Wasem No. 7 has picked up what apparently is a third zone at about 5260 feet, and while this well is off the edge of the Selover zone, and may therefore be too near the edge of the new deep zone for profitable production, its performance will furnish the field with an index as to the possibilities for deep production higher up on the structure.

Practically all of the development at Seal Beach now is confined to the townlot area at Alamitos Heights, with the exception of the Associated Oil Company's development in the extreme eastern end of the field. The Standard has suspended practically all its operations on the San Gabriel lease, and the Marland Oil Company is doing most of its work on the northwest end of the Selover lease just outside the townlot area.

The wells completed in the lower Selover zone in the Alamitos Heights area are holding up to their initial production much better than the earlier wells in the upper Selover, due to the greater thickness of the sand. This factor is the one principally depended upon to keep the field's output up to a point where new wells will swell the aggregate production perhaps to 100,000 barrels per day.

OZENA OIL ACQUIRES LEASE FROM KENDON

McKITTRICK, June 20. (Exclusive) The Kendon Petroleum Company has assigned to the Ozena Oil Company a lease covering eighty acres of the east half of the northwest quarter of Sec. 27, 29-21, on the north front of the McKittrick oil fields. According to the assignment filed, the lease formerly was executed to the Kendon by the Midway Premier Oil Company.

DON PABLO OPERATING NEW MILL

Plant Near Nacozari to Make First Concentrate Shipment Soon

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 19. (Exclusive)—A new mill now is being operated by the Don Pablo Mining Company, near Nacozari, for concentration of low-grade ores, carrying silver, lead and zinc. The first shipment will be to El Paso with utilization later of the new Phelps-Dodge 1. 1 smelter here. The mines have had about 12,000 feet of underground development. They are in charge of Maurice Clarke.

It is denied by Consulting Engineer Morton Weber that the power plant and general equipment of the Minas Pedrazzini has been sold, following the discontinuance of work upon the property. The mine is in the famous Las Chiapas, one of the richest silver producers of Northern Mexico. A few years ago a modern power plant was erected on the railroad, south of Douglas, with current taken across the mountains to the westward.

Theretofore operation had been by power generated by fuel oil trucked in from Cananea. With the drop in silver, it had been considered best to suspend work on the mine and to concentrate efforts on a property in the State of Morales, where production costs are somewhat less. Declaration is made that not 20 per cent of the Chiapas veins have been prospected, and that the mine undoubtedly has many years production ahead. It has made millions for the Pedrazzini family and its stock still is held in close ownership.

Statistics Show Let-Down in Oil Production Here

According to figures collected by the American Petroleum Institute, Pacific Coast office, the total production of crude oil in California for May amounted to 19,506,054 barrels, an average of 629,228 barrels per day. This is a decrease of 20,566 barrels per day from April production. The difference is due to shut-in production.

Total stocks of crude and all products in Pacific Coast territory decreased during the month 1,051,581 barrels. The total stocks at the end of the month were 146,247,762 barrels. The total stock increase for 1927, up to May 31, was 635,586 barrels.

Eighty wells were completed during the month with an initial daily production of 52,575 barrels, compared with 105 wells completed during April with an initial production of 81,432 barrels.

HUGE CONTRACT ON CRUDE MADE

Honolulu Output from Buena Vista Hills Purchased

Deal Held Among Largest in Kern Oil History

BAKERSFIELD, June 20. (Exclusive)—The Shell Company of California has contracted to buy 14,600,000 barrels of crude oil from the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company's production in the Buena Vista hills near Taft. This is one of the biggest oil contracts ever made in Kern county.

The contract calls for daily delivery of 8000 barrels of crude from Honolulu's Buena Vista holdings for a perido of five years. The Honolulu company controls about one-twentieth of the oil production in Kern county, it is said.

For six months, the oil will be delivered through the Union Oil Company's pipe line to Coalinga. Union already has completed its connecting lines with the Honolulu holdings near Taft.

Shell is planning to construct a pipe line system from Kern county to Coalinga. One branch will cover fields from Taft to Lost Hills, another from the Poso Creek field to Lost Hills. At Lost Hills the lines will merge to connect with Shell's old Coalinga-to-Martinez pipe line.

Shell has hundreds of acres of prospective and proven oil holdings in the Poso Creek fields. Wells already completed are capable of producing about 2500 barrels a day. It is said that Shell will contract with other companies to deliver about 1500 barrels daily from Poso Creek. It is reported that Shell's pipe line also will pick up oil from the new Round Mountain field north of Edison.

PENN MEX FUEL AGAIN SHIPPING

First Cargo Sent Out After Long Shutdown

New Drilling Campaign Due to Start Immediately

Victory in Lawsuit Opens Way for Fresh Activity

TAMPICO (Mex.) June 20. (Exclusive)—The Penn Mex Oil Company, a Standard subsidiary, which has been closed down for two and one-half years, has resumed operations in all departments, has shipped its first cargo of oil in three years and will at once launch the first important drilling campaign that has been undertaken in the southern field by any company for several years.

Although the southern field was the greatest single field ever discovered anywhere in the world, many of its gushers producing more than 100,000 barrels daily and one establishing the world record of 264,000 barrels in twenty-four hours, its operations have been dwindling for several years, due to gradual intrusion of salt water, and no big new drilling campaign has been started.

The Penn Mex company was tied up by an 8,000,000-peso lawsuit, instituted by persons from whom it purchased some of its lands. Last month the Supreme Court of Mexico decided this suit in favor of Penn Mex, and the new development program is the result.

The headquarters of Penn Mex are at Tuxpam and most of the lands it controls are south of the Tuxpam River. Before the lawsuit it had developed important wells at Molina—so important that the 8,000,000 pesos the former owners demanded was for royalty on the oil produced.

If the new campaign shows that the territory south of the Tuxpam River is in any way comparable to the territory between the Tuxpam and the Panuco rivers in oil production the result undoubtedly will be the revival of feverish times at Tampico.

The Aguila company already has developed some oil near Puerto, Mex., and important strikes south of the Tuxpam River would doubtless start a rush of wildcatters through something like 5000 square miles of new territory.

OIL AND GAS DATA

More Than 600,000 Wells Drilled in Country Since 1859

From 1859 to 1925, approximately 687,000 wells were drilled for oil and gas in the United States, says the Bureau of Mines. Of these wells, nearly 137,000, or 20 per cent, were dry holes. The greatest activity in drilling was in 1920, when 33,911 wells were completed.

High prices following the depletion of oil stocks during the war period caused this unusual activity. In 1925, 25,623 wells were drilled for oil and gas in the United States, exclusive of dry gas wells in California for which data are not available. Texas led the States in number of oil wells drilled in 1925, with 4014; Oklahoma was second with 2929.

MINE MANAGER JOINS STAFF OF UNIVERSITY

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 20. (Exclusive)—W. G. McBride, for over ten years general manager of the Old Dominion Mining Company, has left for Montreal, there to become head of the mines department of McGill University. He has been succeeded by I. H. Barkdoll, for years mine superintendent of the property, a position that will be filled by H. A. Leidich.

NEW ERA DAWNS AT HUNTINGTON

Several Good Completions Revive Activity

Dozen Projects Booked for East End of Field

Development of Area Viewed in Favorable Light

The Huntington Beach field appears to be on the verge of a new era of activity as the result of several good wells which have been completed east of Seventeenth street in the past two or three weeks. Approximately a dozen permits for new wells, all in the eastern townlot area, have been taken out during the past ten days.

The new production which is being developed in the eastern townlot area is not large, few of the wells running as high as 1000 barrels a day, and most of them averaging 300 to 400 barrels. But the development is not so intensive as it was in the western end of the city, with the result that the outcome for the interested operators is likely to be more satisfactory and more profitable.

The last good producer completed east of Seventeenth street was the Sy Wicker well, which is holding up to about 500 barrels a day. The Superior Oil Company is the most active operator in the eastern area, with a couple of good producing wells, and three drilling projects.

The San Martinez Oil Company, whose Hanke well at Ninth street and Ocean avenue continues to be the most easterly development, is preparing to make a production test at about 4400 feet, after failing to develop anything promising in 1000 feet below that point. The company is now plugging the hole, and in the course of the next few weeks it should be able to determine the value of showings which it was supposed to have bad between 3400 and 4400 feet.

CALIFORNIA OIL SALES SHOW GAIN

Total Daily Increase in 1926 Over 1925 Placed at 26,596 Barrels

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Consumption of California petroleum products last year showed an increase over 1925 of 26,596 barrels in the daily average, according to a survey of the oil industry completed today by the San Francisco office of the United States Bureau of Mines.

Indicated domestic consumption in 1926 was 392,871 barrels while in 1925 it was 368,275 barrels. Production of oil of all gravities was greater in 1925 than in 1926.

Total consumption of all petroleum products amounted last year to 227,807,700 barrels of which 37.05 per cent was shipped, leaving a domestic consumption of 143,397,752 barrels.

Stocks of all products actually decreased 11,904,965 barrels, but due to fire losses the stock decrease due to consumption was only 3,690,877 barrels. The decrease in the daily average production was 2.62 per cent.

Shipments averaged 231,621 barrels daily. The Los Angeles customs district shipped 79.66 per cent of the total and San Francisco 19.90 per cent. Foreign shipments accounted for 48.79 per cent, Atlantic and intercoastal shipments 40.06 per cent.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Not Plumbojarosite

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—Question: Please classify the two samples I am sending you in your "In the Earth" column of The Times. These samples are from the Goodsprings mining district of Nevada, and about 200 feet under surface; the outcroppings run lead, silver and zinc. W. W.

Answer: The two specimens carry no plumbojarosite, and therefore, there is no lead present. The reddish-brown sample No. 1 reacts for zinc, iron oxides and carries reddish calamine, (zinc silicate,) with smithsonite, and calcite. No silver, known to minerology, was found. The yellowish-red mineral No. 2, reacts for lime; manganese-iron detected, and the blackish microscopic spots throughout the sample carry zinc. No sample tested for gold or silver.

Tin Absent

LOS ANGELES, June 1. -Q.: please test inclosed sample for tin. From San Diego county. W.

A.: The boulder-like specimen carries microscopical mica of the "cat silver" variety. The granular matter contains "Curvilineal" microscopic yellow mica known as "cat gold."

Not Clay

HEBER, June 1.—Q.: I send sampleple of clay taken from near Signal Mountain, Imperial county, California. Please classify it. Commercial value, has it? S.

A.: The sample is of lime carbonate chiefly and it was not tested for magnesia. It probably represents matter suitable for certain filtration uses.

Two Specimens

BIG PINE, June 2.—Q.: Please analyze the two samples which I think are mineral-bearing. There seems to be quite a call for non-metallic minerals and I am curious to find out what the crystals in this rock contain. I have found quite a lot of it. P.

A.: The large, radiated, yellowish white specimen is Wollastonite, altered in part, and calcite present. Wollastonite is, chemically a pyroxene with a lime base. Pyrophyllite mineral must be near the locality for the reason that a little of it is present on one end of the specimen, and pyrophyllite is often foliated like talc and also, in radiated forms. The yellowish-red conglomerate sample does not react for boron, and it appears to be of iron oxides with slight zinc reaction.

Thirty-nine Samples

SOMERTON (Ariz.) June 2.— Q.: I am under the impression that the two samples carry gold and silver. Please let me know what values they contain. Thanking you for past favors. The samples come from near the Portuna Mine, Yuma county, Ariz. M.

A.: Sample No. 1 consists of twenty-one thumb specimens containing silica, lime, azurite, cerussite and no hornsilver. It panned no free gold and gave a zinc reaction. No. 2. eighteen samples, like the coat of Joseph, is of many colors and it carries Sericite (microscopical muscovite. Calcite, iron, copper, lead and zinc more or less found. Native gold absent.

Tungsten Absent

PASADENA, June 2. —Q.:Any tungsten or platinum in this rock C. J. B.

A.: The black and white sample is hornblende with some quartz and the other sample is quartzitic rock. Flake platinum absent.

Oxides and Silicates

SAN DIEGO, June 3.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending three samples of ore. Would you please state whether or not they contain any mineral of value. F.

A.: Sample No. 1 is limonitic rock showing a little pyrite and microscopic yellow mica. No. 2 is on the order of No. 1, but more siliceous; it carries a little garnet rock also. No. 3 is a mixture of garnet rock, porphyritic rock and quartz; iron oxides sparingly present, and no sample carries native gold.

Of Doubtful Value

GLENDALE, June 4.—Q.: I am mailing you under separate cover samples of rocks taken from Angeles National Forest. I was attracted to these by the red color of one of the samples. The green-colored specimens come from along the side of the red. I have made a few chemical tests myself but cannot detect anything definitely. There seems to be a reaction for Cadmium. It has also been suggested that it may be tungsten ore. Through the microscope there seems to be metallic globules on the red pieces and these seem also to appear when heated in the blowpipe flame. What metal could this be? Is it possible that the green sample could be Greenockite (cadmium ore?) R.

A.: The reddish sample of which you write is found as a coating on greenish, altered schist, and cadmium is not present. This red oxide is hematite, and blowpipe tests are negative as to globules of metal. When broken into pieces the greenish mineral in both samples appears to be in part chrome mica (Fuchsite.) Microscopic mica (sericite,) is also present, with lime carbonate found in both of the rocks. There are traces of rose-red rhodochrosite (impure with iron,) in both specimens. Not a trace of cadmium sulphide (Greenockite,) was detected in analyses.

Three Samples

SAUGUS, June 4.—Q.: Under separate cover find three samples. Marked on the wrapper of each specimen is the number and what tests are desired. This variety of rock and mineral come from the Saugus mining district. R.

A.: "Test No. 1 sample for gold"—The specimen yielded two very small colors of native gold. "No. 2 for silver and gold"—The sample is mica schist showing a small book of potash mica on one end. The microscopic mica present is known as cat silver. Free gold absent. No. 3, "What grade of talc?" It is low-grade talcose schist. For silver and other gold values consult assayers.

Altered Pegmatyte

LONG BEACH, June 6.—Q.: Would appreciate very much if you will inform me whether or not sample sent under separate cover is of any commercial value, and what is it? I have been informed that brick manufacturers use this material for glazing face brick. Some say it is feldspar, and a tile company states that it is fire clay. There is an unlimited supply of this mineral among the foothills of Orange county, California. S.

A.: The sample is far removed from fire clay, and it is a very doubtful substance for glazing. Wet methods and the microscope show that it is chiefly a fine grained graphic granite (pegmatyte) partly kaolinized, and could be referred to as quartz-prophyry.

Obsidian and Gypsum

HERMOSA BEACH, June 4.—Q.: Sample No. 1 was taken from a locality 109 miles southeast of St. George, Utah. No. 2 from a point forty-five miles southeast. E.

A.: No. 1 comprises three samples. Two of them are varieties of volcanic class; the blackish one being obsidian. The grayish specimen is volcanic pearlyte (rock.) The third rock of No. 1 is lava containing oblong and spherulitic pebbles of obsidian. No. 2 (white) is gypsum.

Hematite

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Q.: Samples from Riverside county, California. Give gold and silver assays thereon. Oblige.

A.: No fire assays are made by this department of The Times. One of the twelve samples is quartz with a chunk of hematite attached. The eleven other specimens are hematite (iron peroxide.) Free gold absent from the entire lot.

Gravel

SANTA ANA, June 5.—Q.: I am sending under separate cover a sample of crushed rock or gravel and would be much indebted to you for information about this material. What are the shining particles in this gravel? S.

A.: The shining particles you refer to are chiefly biotote (black mica of the mining boys in the hills.) Microscopic muscovite (silvery lustered) also present, with microscopical traces of vermiculite from which so-called gold-paint powder is made, when found in commercially valuable sizes.

Bisbee Mining Expert Called to South Africa

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 19. (Exclusive) A. G. McGregor, designer of most of the larger metal-reduction plants of Arizona, has left his headquarters in the Warren suburb of Bisbee, for a trip to Northern Rhodesia, in South Africa, called there by a British syndicate.

Following consultations in London, he expects to spend four months in Africa, planning reduction works for five mines. In each has been development of large bodies of ore, outlined by diamond and churn drilling. His work will center at Bwana M'hubwa, where one reduction plant already is in operation.

To the same point this week will sail Lawrence R. Jackson of Bisbee, to be superintendent of the Roan Antelope mine. Here he has had broad experience for more than ten years, in the Phelps-Dodge engineering, leasing, safety and supply departments, in administrative positions.

NEW OWNER AT JOHNNIE GOLD MINE

Angeleno Disposes of Property on Amargosa Desert in Nevada

The Johnnie mine, the pioneer gold producer in the Amargosa desert region of Nye county, Nevada, worked by the Mormons of Utah during the life of Brigham Young, and which has changed hands many times, and made many fortunes, recently recorded another transfer, having been sold by its owner, A. P. Johnson of Los Angeles, to William Fahnestock of Boston.

The Johnnie is one of the best equipped gold mines of the Southwest. Through the medium of its big hoisting plant the mine has been worked to a depth of 1100 feet on the dip of the vein, and has 10,000 feet of underground workings. An eighty-ton daily capacity stamp mill is in order for daily operation, as is also a ten-drill air compressor. Other improvements include assay office and laboratory, boarding and bunk houses, water supply system and electric generating plant.

The new purchaser has taken up his residence at the mine with his superintendent, E. R. Mueller, who has been in charge of the mine for the past three years. Prior to that time the property was under the supervision of O. T. Johnson, Jr., for eight years.

During his stay at the mine Mr. Johnson would carry on development work until such a time as a mill-run was blocked out and extracted, when the plant was placed into commission until the clean-up was made. At times, under former managements, forces of eighty men were employed. The Johnnie group includes twenty claims, eight of which are patented.

TRUSTEE IN CHARGE

New Holders of Young Mines May Reopen Property

PHOENIX, June 20. (Exclusive)—H. A. Severinghaus of Phoenix now is in charge of the property of the Young Mines Company, having been designated as trustee in a late sale, on judgment of about $75,000. Plans for operation are being made by the new holders, contingent only on the possibility of redemption by a majority of the stockholders.

Over one-half of the stock is reported to be in the hands of Mrs. George U. Young, widow of the former president and manager of the corporation. It is asserted that over $1,500,000 has been spent on the property, which lies on the Apache Trail highway about forty miles east of Phoenix, at the western end of the Superstition mountains. It was a bonanza producer about forty years ago.

EXPRESS FLEET TO BE ENLARGED

Recently Appointed Bolivian Representative Arrives

New York-to-California passenger traffic has grown by such unexpected bounds that the Panama-Pacific Line will begin construction immediately on a second $6,000,000 express liner for the intercoastal service now operating three steamers, it was announced yesterday by A. J. McCarthy, general manager of the line, who arrived yesterday morning aboard the Finland.

Mr. McCarthy also announced that the 30,000-ton turbo-electric liner California, now completing at the plant of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, will sail from New York for Los Angeles on her maiden voyage on January 18, 1928. Construction on the second vessel of her type will be started immediately, while plans are being formulated to build a third electric-driven liner of the same type. A fortnightly service is maintained at present between New York and Los Angeles and San Francisco, via Havana and the canal, by the steamers Mongolia, Manchuria and Finland.

Mr. McCarthy announced that the California, first vessel of her type under the American merchant ensign, will be commanded by Capt. Henry A. T. Candy, now commanding the Mongolia, and that her chief engineer will be John Carstairs, veteran of the trans-Atlantic service of the American Line.

Her chief steward will be Lewis Daughtrey, now chief steward of the Mongolia. Frank Ingram, now chief steward of the Finland, will be Mr. Daughtrey's second steward. The purser of the California is expected to be William Gilfillan, now purser of the trans-Atlantic liner Minnekahda.

Appointment of J. E. MacMasters as assistant passenger agent of the International Mercantile Marine Company here was announced yesterday by W. F. Ohlson. Mr. MacMasters has had a long experience here in the passenger department of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

BOLIVIAN CONSUL TELLS OF TRADE GAIN

Bolivia's trade with California and the Pacific Coast has increased more than 300 per cent in the last three years, according to Waldo E. Alborta, newly appointed Bolivian Consul to Los Angeles, who arrived yesterday aboard the Japanese liner Ginyo Maru.

The methods and enthusiasm employed by American mining engineers and petroleum interests have served greatly to stimulate the industry of Bolivia since the World War, Mr. Alborta said.

He is in Los Angeles to relieve his brother, Jorge D. Alborta, present Bolivia Consul here, who will leave Los Angeles on July 1, next, to become Consul at Bordeaux, France. The new Consul is one of Bolivia's distinguished journalists, for years being editor of El Diario, his country's leading daily.

Also among the sixty-six passengers disembarking here from South America from the Ginyo Maru was Luis Vicentini, lightweight champion of South America, in Southern California for a series of bouts under the direction of Tony Mahony. The youthful 135-pounder has held the lightweight crown of South America for two years.

The Ginyo Maru will today load out 100 tons of Los Angeles products for oriental delivery and will sail tonight, inaugurating the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's direct passenger service from Los Angeles to the Orient. Hereafter all vessels in the N.Y. K.'s South America-Orient service will omit San Francisco homeward-bound, calling only at this port on the Pacific Coast and then going home via Honolulu.

Henry Ford's palatial steam yacht Sialia has just been purchased by A. M. Andrews, Los Angeles yachtsman, and will be brought here for this season, according to announcement yesterday from the New York offices of Henry J. Gielow, Inc., who handled the sale of the craft.

The Sialia will be the second largest yacht on the Pacific, being second only to Edward L. Doheny's Casiana. The Sialia, a modern oil-burner, is of 407 net tons, with a length of 206 feet and a beam of 27 feet. She was built at Wilmington, Del., in 1913.

Mr. Andrews also owns the ninety-foot-ketch Zahma, now at anchor at San Pedro, and which is on the market.

Both the Williams Line and the Redwood Line will inaugurate ten-day or fortnightly sailings this summer, according to announcements yesterday. The Redwood's increased schedule will begin in July 2, next, with the arrival here of the steamer Abron from Galveston, and regular fortnightly sailings will be provided thereafter by the steamers Abron, Dio, Dochet, Sabotawan and Manhattan Island. The McCormick Steamship Company maintains an operating agreement with the Redwood Line.

The Williams Line will maintain a ten-day schedule after August 1, according to advices from New York and will purchase two additional vessels to bring its fleet up to ten ships.

Rev. James H. Hitch, for twenty years professor of English at Chosen Christian College, Seoul, Korea, returned home yesterday aboard the Dollar liner President Cleveland, accompanied by his wife and their two daughters, Frances and Mary.

Rev. Hitch declared that Japan has made great progress in the intellectual developments of Korea and the efforts of the Bolsheviki to gain entrance have been thoroughly forestalled.

Another missionary, Miss Mildred B. Forward, also arrived on the President Cleveland. She has for the past two years been a teacher at Rangoon College, in Burma, and is home on sick leave.

H. A. Lacy, a Long Beach engineer, who has been developing petroleum fields in the Federated Malay States, returned on the vessel, accompanied by his daughter. Mr. Lacy brought back to California the body of his wife for burial here.

Twenty bales of raw silk, valued at $10,000, and marking the first shipment of the product to be brought here by the Dollar steamers, were included in the 1000 tons of cargo for this port.

HOPE ABANDONED IN SAVING CRUSHED BOY

SAN BERNARDINO, June 19.—In a last desperate effort to save the life of Arthur Gentry, who was crushed under the wheel of an automobile Thursday night, nearly two quarts of blood was tranfused from the bodies of two of his friends into his. Among the more than a dozen of his schoolmates to offer to share their blood with him was Loren Folger, the driver of the car that crushed Gentry. But the sacrifice of his two friends appears to be fruitless. Little hope is held out for the recovery of the boy by Dr. E. H. Hull, surgeon in charge of the case.

Shriners to Enjoy Sport Show Tonight

Shriners of Al Malaikah Temple will hold a real athletic "blowout" tonight at the Shrine Civic Auditorium when 15,000 of them gather to view the varied program presented mostly by Hollywood Athletic Club athletes.

Ten real bouts, two of them between wrestling stars and the rest between boxers, will be part of Hollywood's contribution to the success of the occasion.

In addition there will be two record attempts, one by Clarence (Bud) Houser in the shot put and the other by Lee Barnes in the pole vault. Any indoor marks will be official because all amateur events on the program are sanctioned by the A.A.U. Charles Borah, H.A.C. sprinter, will try for no records but will show how he sprints to so many national titles.

Douglas Fairbanks will be there in all the action of his new game, "Doug," and as a racket contrast Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Cliff Herd will play Tom Bundy and Miss Marion Williams in mixed tennis doubles.

The boxing bouts will range from flyweights to heavyweights, with Manual Trevino, coast champion, 112-pounder, the lightest and Roger Kerns, 240 pounds, the heaviest. Kerns will outweigh Tom Elliott, coast champion, fifty pounds.

Woman Admits Being Strangler Suspect's Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ferrell, a house mother employed at a Palo Alto private school, today identified herself as the undivorced wife of "Earle Nelson," now held in Winnipeg as the long-sought "Dark Strangler" wanted in California for the killing of several women.

Mrs. Ferrell identified the accused man from photographs, asserting that she had not lived with him for six years and had not seen him since October, 1926. Mrs. Ferrell's idea in making public acknowledgment that Nelson is her husband is for the purpose of doing what she might to aid in his defense.

"But not all of these horrible crimes they are laying up against Earle can be true," she said. "I can prove that on the dates he was charged with having killed two people he was with me."

The police investigation has not yet made clear how Mrs. Ferrell obtained her present name while claiming to be married to Nelson. The woman is positive in her identification, saying that she recognized intimate historical details of his life, which have been published in connection with his prison career. Nelson escaped from the Napa State Hospital for the Insane after he was sent there following his arrest in San Francisco for attacking a woman here in 1923.

DROWNED MAN'S BODY RECOVERED BY FIANCEE

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (AP)—With scores of persons on the bank unable to rescue him, Rex Robinson, 27 years of age, Oakdale rancher, fell from a rowboat and was drowned in the Sacramento River near here today. His body was recovered within five minutes by Miss Grace Winters of Elk Horn, whom he would have married next Wednesday. Efforts at resuscitation failed.

SALE PERMIT ASKED

SACRAMENTO, June 19. (Exclusive)—Sam Newton and Thomas Biggart have applied to the Railroad Commission for permission to sell and transfer to Joseph Wythe and R. E. Hoerler an auto truck line operated between San Jose and Hollister and intermediate points.

"Times" Daily Short Story

ZEST - - - - -

By Fannie Hurst

A double wedding for the Tally girls. And there the likeness ceased. Florence married money and success. Mercedes married struggle and poverty. Love matches, both of them.

THE Tally girls had a double wedding.

But that was about all that was identical about their marriage—the time and the place and the same clergyman who had said the Episcopal marriage ceremony over their parents twenty-six years before.

There were two years' difference between the Tally girls. Florence was 25 when she married Elton Smith, eleven years her senior and an arriving civil engineer. Elton was more than just an arriving engineer. The biggest plum of an assignment that the State had to offer him had fallen his lot the day before he proposed to Florence.

People spoke of the engagement as "a fine match."

Mercedes Tally was 23 when she shared the double wedding with her sister. A slighter, frailer girl with some, but not all, of her sister's equipment of vitality.

There was much disparity of opinion between people as to the relative qualities of these girls. Some preferred the sturdier personality of Florence and her quality of frank outspokenness which made her both feared and loved in her circle. Others were out and out of the opinion that the quieter Mercedes was worth two of her more showy sister.

In a worldly sense, Mercedes made the less spectacular match of the two. As a matter of fact, Frank Conant was a junior partner in Elton Smith's office. Twenty-eight, a serious-minded young fellow in horn-rimmed glasses, with a nervous habit of blinking the eyes behind them, he was by no means arrived when he married Mercedes Tally.

It was a love match, out and out. No doubt of that. But so was the Florence-Elton alliance, for that matter.

It was two inordinately happy couples who finally took up residence in one of the town's choice residential sections. The Elton Smiths in a large double brick Georgian house on a boulevard. The Frank Conants in a story-and-a-half bungalow on a pretty side street that bisected the boulevard.

There had always existed between the sisters an amity that was delightful. It was their parents' boast that cross words had never passed between these girls. That was virtually true. Florence and Mercedes enjoyed a compatability not always found between members of the same family. Their marriage if anything cemented this relationship.

Scarcely a day that the greater part of it was not spent in each other's company. The shadow of the disparity of their economic planes never threw its shadow across them.

Frank Conant was a modest salaried fellow in an office where Elton Smith was head and shoulders above him in position and earning capacity.

After five more years Elton Smith had slowly but surely reached a peak in his work that assured him a position of foremost importance in his profession.

Frank Conant was still trying to lift himself rung by rung.

It was, of course, inevitable that Florence should soak into her manner some of the smugness her position now afforded her. And yet it was almost too subtle to diagnose. Because Florence had a large home and servants with whom she could leave the establishment, it was she who spent the greater part of her time over at Mercedes' bungalow, where household duties, incumbent upon the younger girl, made her not so footloose. When they talked of the future, it was Florence who sat back with almost a purr in her manner while little lines came out around Mercedes' mouth and inclosed it in brackets.

Frank still had his spurs to win.

The Elton Smiths were not ungrateful of this fact. When they were by themselves they frequently discussed it.

"It's wonderful, Florence, to feel that no matter what comes, nothing much can happen to us. Barring panic, earthquake, disaster of unforeseen nature, our nest is feathered. We don't have to bother. The gamble is out of our future."

It was rather a different song over at the Frank Conants. Frank was plainly restive. His brother-in-law treated him with a scrupulous consideration. Too scrupulous, Frank sometimes thought, as if for fear he might be accused of favoring a member of the family. But Frank was playing for big stakes. Frank wanted to branch off on his own. Frank wanted more than anything in the world to make it possible for him to obtain the kind of plum that Elton had struggled for and won.

That plum was no longer delectable to Elton now. He had gone further. He was too smug, too secure, to need to bother about any more plums. Elton's plums were largely repetitious now. As one of the acknowledged successes in his profession, the tension was out of the race for him. After another five years new honors meant new laurels but to a crown already green with them.

If Frank envied his brother-in-law his attainments he was fairly good-humored about it.

"Hang it, Mercedes, if I could just get myself to where Elton is we'd do so much more with it than they do. Of course, they've got a fine home and all the things we're striving for, but—oh, I don't know—if I ever lay my hands on Elton's kind of success—just you watch us!"

It thrilled Mercedes to listen to Frank's dreams, ambitions, yearnings and hopes. It made each day a sort of dash ahead in the long race.

Frank's ambitions were like torches that he carried. The days were too short for him. The sleeping hours too long. Even after years it kept Mercedes tiptoe. There was excitement in just the telephone ringing or Frank's step running up the veranda steps in the evening.

Realization lay just around the corner. Frank's entry into various competitions was eagerly to be awaited. His submitted plans to this and that contest. His sealed bids.

Life was a race to the Frank Conants. They were both a little breathless with what lurked just around the corner for them.

If Mercedes' clothes were makeshift and sometimes dowdy beside her sister's, her eyes were like star points. If Frank meekly took his morning orders from his chief, Elton, he ripped open his morning mail with an alacrity that had long since sped from Elton's own fingers when he fiddled with his great batch of daily letters.

Florence sensed something of this so poignantly that one morning, observing her husband put aside his stack of correspondence unread and stab into his grapefruit, she said to him:

"Elton, something has gone."

"Not cook, again?"

"No Elton, something even more important."

"Good Lord, what now? Can't be so very bad but what we are in a position to replace it. Nothing need worry us now."

"That's what's gone, Elton. Our zest."

"Zest?"

"Yes, our zest or life."

"You mean . . ."

"I mean that our fingernails are out of our palms. We are out of the race. We've arrived. We're satisfied. We've let our success make us smug."

"Yes, but we've struggled for it. We deserve—"

"Elton, we're in danger. We are in danger because we feel so safe. This is spiritual death. I want to feel lean, Elton, like Mercedes and Frank. In the race, full of the zest of the struggle. We've hitched our wagon to a chandelier, Elton, and now that we're there, we mistake it for a star."

"A fellow does need new interests, Florence, once he's arrived."

"We've been getting—getting—getting—now our new interests must be to give, give, give. We can't go on this way, Elton—just being satiated."

"You're right, Florence. Sometimes I envy Frank . . . he's like a race horse with the wind in his face and his nostrils pink and his ears laid back. I've broken through the tape."

"We've been in the race for getting, Elton, and we've won. Now let's get in the race for giving—"

"That's an idea, Florence," said Elton slowly, "there's room for the development of a great philanthropic idea down among the wretched tenements of the marshlands of this city—"

"Elton," cried Florence, "let's be the ones to start it!"

Facing one another across their breakfast table, something like the old zest began to square the shoulders of the Elton Smiths.

DEATH NOT ACCIDENT

Judge Rules Insurance Need Not be Paid on Golfer Who Fell Dead

PITTSBURGH, June 19. (Exclusive)—"Where a man is voluntarily on the golf links playing golf, strikes a ball and hits it, a few minutes later suffering death from heart failure, that certainly does not come within the terms of an insurance policy insuring loss of life by injury effected by accidental means."

This is the decision of Federal Judge Schoonmaker in an action to collect insurance from the Interstate Business Men's Accident Insurance Association of Des Moines, Iowa, by Mrs. Eleanor L. Baker, beneficiary in an accident policy issued to Daniel P. Baker. Baker died suddenly last October 10 while playing golf on the Erie Country Club links a few minutes after making an "awkward" stroke.

Mother Guards Ducklings by Drowning Hawk

LONDON, June 19. (Exclusive)—Visitors at West Lock, in Argyllshire, saw a mother duck drown a sea hawk which had swooped down upon her little brood and had seized five ducklings.

When the sea hawk glided down for the sixth time the frenzied mother gathered the two remaining little ones under her wings and then awaited the hawk. With a quick dart the duck caught the hawk by the neck and kept its head submerged until it was suffocated and drowned. Then the duck and the ducklings paddled away.

AUTOIST DODGES DOG AND RUNS DOWN MAN

WORCESTER (Mass.) June 19. (Exclusive)—If a motorcycle dodges a pedestrian and hits a dog, that isn't news. But if the driver dodges a dog and hits a man, that is news, according to Capt. Herbert W. Merrill of the traffic bureau. Paul Garbriau, 17 years of age, of 105 Fairmont avenue, tried to miss the dog and hit John Harrington, 55 years of age, of 3 Dartmouth street, breaking the man's ankle. Further news in the case is that Garbriau was fined $20 in District Court on a charge of driving without a license. Harrington is at City Hospital.

LUCK SAVES CHILD IN NOVEL ACCIDENT

Driver of Death Machine Arrested After Collision of Three Racing Autos

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 19.—One woman is dead and Santa Monica police are holding as material witnesses the occupants of three automobiles involved in an accident at 8:30 o'clock this morning, when the automobile in which the woman was riding crashed through the home of A. C. Stevens, 1412 Broadway.

The dead woman is Mrs. Rae Slaegel Fuller, 20 years of age, and said to be a Los Angeles beauty parlor expert. Mrs. Fuller, formerly of Salt Lake City, resided at 2819 Leeward avenue, Los Angeles.

DRIVER HELD

Mack Molina, driver of the car in which Mrs. Fuller was riding, is held at the City Jail here on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

According to police reports, the party of three automobiles left Venice and were apparently racing, going about sixty miles an hour, toward Los Angeles on Broadway. The three cars collided at the corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street and the car driven by Molina jumped a curbing and crashed into the house, which was near the intersection. Police say that cushions from the wrecked auto were found scattered about the front room of the house and the automobile was completely wrecked. A. C. Stevens, occupant of the house, said the life of his child, Minna, 6 years of age, who usually sleeps in the room, undoubtedly was saved because she was sleeping in another room at the time.

OTHERS SOUGHT

Police are holding as material witnesses the following members of the party: Mrs. James Molott, 1201 Venice Boulevard, Venice; Arthur Dugan, 6137 Capitola Drive, Los Angeles; Rose Wallace, room-mate of the dead woman; Ralph Lee, 738 Coronado, a room-mate of Molina.

Police are searching for other members of the party who are said to have left the scene of the accident immediately after its occurrence.

Mrs. Fuller's nearest relative is said to be an uncle in the Salt Lake City Police Chief's office who was notified.

CHILD KILLED, OTHERS HURT IN MOTOR CRASHES

A child was killed, two women and a youth were prhaps mortally hurt, and aand a man was painfully injurd in traffic accidents yesterday. Two of the accidents were of the hit-and-run variety, police reports disclosed.

SITE OBTAINED FOR FILM CITY

Sennett to Build New Plant on Ventura Boulevard

Twenty-Millions Will be Spent in Project

Work Will Start at Once on $800,000 Studio

Purchase of 503 acres of land on Ventura Boulevard in North Hollywood by the Central Motion-Picture District, Inc., as the site for a $20,000,000 studio city, which will be the new home of the Mack Sennett and several other large picture-production companies, was announced last night by Gilbert H. Beesemyer, secretary of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association.

The Sennett company is to begin work today on an $800,000 studio for this new Hollywood producing center, plans for which have been in preparation for several months, it was stated by Mr. Beesemyer. The announcement was confirmed by Mr. Sennett.

THREE OTHERS TO JOIN

Three other major film-production organizations will within a short time announce plans for new studios to be located in the central production district, Mr. Beesemyer said, and eventually more than 3000 persons will be employed in the new center.

Executives of a number of the larger picture companies and several widely known Los Angeles business men are members of the syndicate which acquired the land for the studio sites and for the surrounding business and residence districts which will be developed as a part of the plan, characterized by Mr. Sennett as one of the most important and far-reaching steps ever taken in the Southern California film industry.

Harry H. Merrick, formerly president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, helped work out the program for the Chicago Central Manufacturing District and as the result of that plan, conceived the idea of the Central Motion-Picture District, Inc., which has been formed in Hollywood. The Mack Sennett studio will be the first motion-picture company to build a studio in this district.

The Pacific Electric system will extend its lines to serve the new district, Mr. Beesemyer declared, constructing a line one and one-half miles long to connect with its present Lankershim-Van Nuys road.

Among the other improvements scheduled as a part of the plan for Studio City, as the new center has been named, will be the widening of Ventura Boulevard, proceedings for which have already been authorized by the City Council; extension of city telephone service to the tract, and the construction by the Bureau of Power and Light of a 33,000-volt transmission line to serve the district.

Officers of the Central Motion-Picture District, Inc., are Milton E. Hoffman, executive manager of the Paramount Famous-Lasky Corporation, president; Gilbert H. Beesemyer, secretary-manager of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association, vice-president, and Harry H. Merrick, vice-president.

METRO LEASES TRACT

Directors of the corporation and stockholders, according to Mr. Beesemyer, include:

B. P. Schulberg, who is in charge of the Paramount Famous-Lasky west coast studios; Hector Turnbull, associate producer at Paramount Famous Lasky; Ray Pomeroy, technical director; Bernard Fineman, assistant to Schulberg; Fred Harris, location manager for Famous Players-Lasky; Noah Beery, Mack Sennett, Walter Fingien, James R. Canterbury, Jr., Marlowe M. Merrick and Karl and Will Thompson.

Mr. Beesemyer, in telling of plans for Studio City, said that the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company has leased a tract of land just south of the projected production center on Pacoima avenue for outdoor location purposes and that the purchase of other extensive acreage by one of the best known film concerns in the same neighborhood will be announced shortly.

Studio City will have one mile of frontage on the widened Ventura Boulevard and two miles on Pacoima avenue. The tract extends from Tujunga avenue to Pacoima and from Ventura Boulevard to Chandler Way. The Central Motion-Picture District, Inc., is capitalized for $3,000,000, incorporation papers having been filed with the Secretary of State some time ago.

The new Sennett studios will be the most modern in the motion-pic-

DARING AIR STUNT PREVENTED AT RODEO

Authorities Serve Writ of Injunction on Finley Henderson as He Prepares to Clip Plane's Wings Between Two Posts and Crash Into Barn

While 15,000 spectators looked on at the Glendale Airport yesterday afternoon, expecting to witness the intrepid birdman, Finley Henderson, accomplish his much advertised death-defying stunt of crashing into an improvised barn, two government inspectors of aeronautics and a United States deputy marshal emerged from the throng and presented Mr. Henderson with a writ of injunction restraining him from attempting the trick.

The injunction was issued by United States District Judge James at the instigation of Asst. U. S. Atty. Doherty, returnable at 10 a.m. the 27th inst. Aviator Henderson, who was to perform the stunt as the feature of the air rodea conducted by the Glendale Bugle and Drum Corps, was restrained from carrying out the trick on the ground of violating a Federal law enacted by Congress last year which prevents stunting within five miles of a regularly established and operated air line.

FINLEY HENDERSON

PLANE CALLED UNSAFE

As Henderson was about to climb into his plane to make the flight United States Deputy Marshal Charles F. Walsh stepped up to the aviator and served the summons. Close behind him came Capt. Walter F. Parkin and William N. Breingan, inspectors for the recently created aeronautics branch of the United States Department of Commerce. The writ stated that the plane Henderson was about to fly was totally unsafe and that it might collapse upon the audience when in flight.

While being escorted to the stands by the officers to prevent him from carrying out the attempt Henderson characterized the injunction proceedings as a "piece of spite work." He declared the writ was served at the eleventh hour to prevent him from making the air crash. On the

Did You Notice Him Grin? It Was Dad's Day

Father came into his own yesterday—if only for a single day. The provider of the family larder, he who clothes the balance of the family and provides the joy-ride pay roll, was declared supreme on this, for him, day of days—Father's Day.

To Mrs. John B. Dodd of Spokane, Wash., is given credit for dragging the "Old Man" into the limelight. Father's Day became a national institution in 1914.

Churches throughout the nation and Canada were the scenes of tributes to father in yesterday's sermons. Flowers were worn in honor of the Old Gentleman. But best of all, from dad's standpoint, other members of the family came to the fore with tokens of affection, sensible and otherwise, and numerous dads across the continent blossomed out with new neckties, hose and other articles of personal adornment.

POMEROY HOPES FOR FOUNDATION

Present Sessions Calculated to Further That End

City Declared Large Enough for Necessary Step

Safeguarding People Held to Demand Action Now

The urgent need of a health foundation for Los Angeles, similar to those of New York, Chicago and other large cities, is stressed by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, in announcing plans for the first annual public health institute to be held in Los Angeles beginning today and extending to July 9. The purpose of the institute, Dr. Pomeroy said, is to call attention to a situation which he characterized as alarming.

"If Los Angeles were ever visited by a great calamity like the Mississippi flood or any kindred tragedy which would prevent shipments of health necessities, serums and such, from the East," he said, "we should be helpless. Such a foundation cannot be created overnight, but at the tremendous rate Los Angeles is growing, something must be done to safeguard the health of our people.

SPEAKER PROCURED

"My hands, as county health officer, are tied by legal restrictions, but I believe if we can awaken the public to the necessity that some means will be found to solve the problem Therefore we are bringing to the city Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, professor of public health of Yale medical school, and one of the greatest health authorities in the world, as our principal speaker to help us get started right. I think the Huntington bequest of $3,000,000 for a hospital was one of the finest gifts the city ever received and there could be no finer philanthropy than for some public-spirited person, or group of persons, to create a health foundation."

All sessions of the institute will be held in Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. In addition to the lectures by Dr. Winslow, the program will include a technical instruction course designed for those who wish to improve their capacity in efficient public health service, roundtable conferences, and popular lectures of interest to every person who values sound health.

Besides the clinical conferences, an accessory series of round-table discussions will be held at noon luncheons where topics considered in the technical and popular courses will be talked over informally.

LIMITED CAPACITY

As the seating capacity for these luncheons is limited, reservations will be made in the sequence of payment for luncheon tickets.

The institute will be conducted under the joint auspices of the Los Angeles County Public Health Association, Inc., and the Medical Advisory Board of the County Health Department. Dr. Pomeroy will preside at the opening session today and the address of welcome will be delivered by Robert D. Mitchell, vice-president of the County Health Association. Dr. George Kress, president of the medical advisory board, and Dr. George Parrish, Los Angeles city health officer, also are scheduled for talks. The subject for the first lecture by Prof. Winslow will be "Planning a Community Public Heauth Program for Cities Over 5000."

Some of the lectures will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Girl Uncovers Jewelry Cases in Weed Patch

Eight jewelry sample cases with a few articles still remaining in them were found lying in the weeds on Prospect avenue behind the Warner Brothers' studio yesterday afternoon by Margaret Kahlo, 14 years of age, 3953 Clayton avenue.

According to Detective Lieutenant Whaples the jewelry samples had evidently been taken from a salesman's car belonging to the Wholesale Jewelry Company, 809 South Los Angeles street. The loss was probably about $2000, Whaples said.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

I AM getting terrible misgivings about our old friend, Eric the Red . . .

The two-fisted Swede who discovered America about 500 years before Columbus put over his press-agent stuff . . .

LIKE LINDY, MAYBE?

Until Col. Lindbergh we have always assumed that this first explorer was a rough guy who gnawed his meat raw off the bone and swashed around with a two-handed sword and broke giants in two with his hands.

But I am not so sure about old Eric the Red now. Isn't it very likely that he was just such another Swede as Lindbergh . . . just a lovable boy . . . and that he went out sailing one day in his funny-looking old boat with the high bow and stern and came back a few years later to announce with a bashful grin that he hadn't done much except discover a new world?

COAT TAILS

The Coolidge enthusiasm for economy is so infectious that the Army is cutting off its coat tails to save money; and has saved $1,000,000 already by the decrease of cloth.

I don't know how far they intend to go with the military dress reform; but I point to the fact that some of the most successful warriors the world has ever known were Indians who wore breech clouts.

GIRL ARCHITECTS

One has to read this twice to believe it.

Out of something over 5000 U.S.C. students who answered a questionnaire as to their life ambitions not a single girl wanted to be an architect. Although they wanted to be everything else on earth—everything except soldiers and architects.

It would seem that one of the greatest jobs any woman could undertake would be architecture. Especially the architecture of private residences. After all, the designing of a residence is just putting a wall around a housekeeping job. And the architect who makes the plans usually has women to deal with as cash customers. All that a man ever does with a new house is to explain how he would like to have the den and then finds out there isn't going to be any den.

FATHER'S DAY

All that Father's Day means is that somebody found an extra day and couldn't think of any other name for it.

No matter how virtuous Kashmir becomes under the young man's sway, I guess there will not be much that he doesn't remember.

MOBILIZING

The alarming reports that the Reds are mobilizing on the Polish border are probably not really as alarming as they sound.

It pays to look well, accept it from the Master Barbers of California, who will open their first annual convention in Los Angeles today. The slogan, at first glance, reads like a warning to jay walkers, but it really has to do with the psychological benefits of putting up a good front.

"For instance," said a Los Angeles barber, who does a little philosophizing on the side, "consider the hobo who ventures into the lobby of a fashionable hotel. Consider him well and count the seconds that elapse before he does an Annette Kellerman back on the sidewalk whence he came. Then, again. Take the same hobo. Give him a shine, a shave, a shampoo and a singe. Put an overcoat with a fur collar on him, give him a good nickel cigar and send him back into the same hotel where he was given the bum's rush. He can go right back into that same hotel, walk in and sit around in the best overstuffed chair for the whole evening. Chances are, if he plays his part well, the head bellhop will light his cigar for him."

The experiment will be tried as soon as the investigating committee can find a good nickel cigar.

Malcolm Crowe Resigns as President of National City; Ill Health Given as Reason

Malcolm Crowe, organizer of the National City Bank here, resigned the presidency of that institution on Saturday, it was learned last night. His successor will be appointed at the next meeting of the board of directors, Mr. Crowe said.

Poor health was the reason given by Mr. Crowe for his resignation. He has not been well for some time, he said, and plans to take a long rest. He has not made any plans as to what he will do in the future. Mr. Crowe said that no change in the organization of the National City Band is contemplated.

MALCOLM CROWE

Starting his banking career as a messenger boy with the Commercial National Bank twenty-four years ago and working his way up through the ranks of that institution, he became vice-president.

In 1923, when the Commercial National Bank became affiliated with the Bank of Italy, Mr. Crowe resigned and organized the National City Bank of Los Angeles.

Opening in a small office on Spring street, the National City Bank grew rapidly under Mr. Crowe's direction. He raised $1,000,000 capital stock in just eight weeks. Last summer, when the bank was taken into the California Bank group, the National City Bank had built up deposits of $13,000,000 and resources of $15,000,000.

Services for Graduates of High Schools

Vesper services were conducted for the graduating classes of two of the city's principal high schools yesterday. At the Los Angeles High School the service was introduced for the first time this year by the senior class. At the Hollywood High School it has been a long-standing custom. Both exercises were conducted in the school auditoriums. Geoffrey Morgan made the address at the Los Angeles High School. Other ceremonies of commencement week will be conducted at both schools during the next few days.

HUNT EXTENDED IN LIQUOR PLOT

Accused of Having Hand in Santa Ana Rum Theft

Mystery Woman Expected to Be Named in Case

Federal authorities extended their search to Honolulu yesterday for Frank Granger, reputed well-to-do clubman who was named in a complaint issued by United States Commissioner Head charging him with complicity in the sensational Orange county rum-running conspiracy. Several officials and a number of asserted notorious rum-runners and bootleggers have been named in thirteen Federal indictments and two other complaints.

Granger was named in the complaints with Ray Wallace, former deputy sheriff, and Claude Williams, former Federal prisoner at Santa Ana. They were charged with conspiring to ransack the strongroom of the old Courthouse at Santa Ana of eighty or more cases of officially seized liquor, after which they buried their asserted loot on a ranch near Orange. Later, the officers said, they disposed of it to bootleggers.

OFFICERS NAMED

Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff; H. S. "Pop" Warner and L. J. Heffner, former motorcycle officers; L. V. Murphy, former justice of the peace at Laguna Beach, and Jack Arnold, said to have formerly been city marshal of Seal Beach, were among the incumbent and former officials named in the indictments.

A. J. Allen, operator of a coastal roadhouse; Frank Cornero, asserted master rum-runner and brother of Tony Cornero, fugitive from justice; Eddie Jones, Edward Richards and Jack Wilson, asserted bootleggers, were named in the conspiracy with the officers.

WOMAN IN CASE

The thirteen were charged with conspiring to violate the National Prohibition Act by smuggling liquor across the Orange county shores under protection for which the officials were said to have received bribes reaching more than $500,000 in the last three years.

The search for Granger was extended to Hawaii upon information that he was either there or en route to the islands with an excursion party. In the particular asserted plot which enmeshed him, others, including a "mystery woman" were expected to be named. The Federal grand jury, investigating the case, will convene again Wednesday, at which time officials freely predicted further indictments.

EXPECT ACTION IN JULIAN ROW

that he did not hold stock. Other members are said to have resigned.

After reports that a special prosecutor would be sought in the investigation and prosecution of the guilty in the Julian case had been set at rest as unfounded, Dist.-Atty. Keyes said that indictments probably would be forthcoming not later than Wednesday. The grand jury will convene again today.

While the major investigation into the felony angles of the matter was progressing, City Prosecutor Lickley was obtaining usury evidence from the grand jury and was reported in position to file further usury complaints against money-lenders and pool investors today.

At 2 p.m. tomorrow, Harry M. Haldeman is scheduled to appear in court and plead to a usury charge.

S. C. Lewis, resigned president of the Julian corporation, announced last night in a statement that today he would seek a complaint from Dr. Lickley charging Adolph Ramish, theatrical man, with usury in connection with operations of Pool No. 1. Lewis said his proposed action was prompted because "no reason can be assigned why one member of Pool No. 1, who received an $8000 bonus, should be prosecuted and another member who received more than $117,000 bonus should not likewise be prosecuted."

DARING FLYING STUNT STOPPED

other hand, the inspectors declared they had warned the birdman on three successive days about negotiating the stunt. The injunction was issued Saturday by Judge James.

Following the action of the Federal authorities, A. Chaffin Barlow, local business man and manager of the air rodeo, announced that Henderson will perform the stunt Sunday afternoon at another field, five miles distant from the air-mail lane, as prescribed by Federal law. All persons holding tickets for yesterday's events will be admitted to the field without additional fee.

Henderson's trick, which has caused unusual interest in American aeronautical circles, is to crash headlong into a large wooden barn while flying at great speed. As the plane is about to strike its object, the wings are sheared off by two heavy uprights at each side of the barn. The pilot has accomplished the feat three times without serious injury, the last of which occurred at Indianapolis.

Coasting 1000 feet when the engine of his T-M scout plane went dead, Owen Dressia, 24-year-old Los Angeles pilot, narrowly escaped death as the ship landed in a peach orchard at the end of the field and lost one of its wings in the balloon-strafing contest. The engine crashed through the plane and Dressia sustained severe cuts of the face and neck, but he continued in another event. Lee Bruse of Glendale ran off with first place in the contest.

Virginia Huddleson, 17-year-old Burbank girl, defeated eleven other entries to take second place in the parachute leap. Miss Huddelson, who lives at the Anita Apartments, did not land in the field or she would have beaten Jimmy Young for first prize.

Other results were: Jump-block take-off, won by Lee Bruse of Glendale; dead-stick landing, won by Joseph Woodson of El Segundo, and battle formation in tribute to Col. Lindbergh, participated in by aviators from Griffith Park Field.

Proceeds from the air carnival will be used to send the Glendale Bugle and Drum Corps to the American Legion convention at Paris, it was announced. Judges of the rodeo were Roger Adams, president of the Hollywood Aero Club; Raymond Hutton and Freeman Lang.

NEW CHURCH CEREMONIES CONDUCTED

One Congregation Holds Dedication While Another Lays Corner-stone

With extensive ceremonies the congregations of two churches met yesterday and carried out dedication and corner-stone laying activities at the sites of their new buildings; the Messiah Evangelical Lutheran Church at 1149 West Manchester avenue being the scene of an all-day program of dedication and the half-completed Western Knoll Congregational Church also being the scene of an impressive corner-stone laying. This church is at the corner of West Seventy-first street and South Gramercy Place.

Dedication day at the Lutheran Church started at 9:30 a.m. with a progrm by the cradle roll and primary departments and ended in the evening with a pageant by the junior girls of the church. The dedicatory service took place at 2:30 p.m. under the direction of John H. Peters, pastor. The prayer of dedication was given by Rev. G. F. Pauschert. The Manchester building is valued at $33,000 and is of Spanish mission design.

The preliminary work which led to the organization of the Messiah Evangelical Lutheran congregation in March, 1925, was done by Miss Ida Hossler, and Rev. H. W. Meyer, the present pastor.

Stressing the value of the younger members of the church, E. E. Lightner, pastor of the Western Knoll Congregational Church, announced that the actual laying of the corner-stone was in the hands of members of the Christian Endeavor. The younger members of the congregation placed a history of the church, records of recent activities and an announcement of the ceremonies clipped from The Times in a strong-box behind the granite slab. Dedication prayer was given by Rev. E. D. Gaylord, pastor of Church of the Messiah. Music was furnished by the Lincoln Memorial Choir from the Vernon Avenue Congregational Church, which has purchased the former building of the Western Knoll congregation. Addresses preceding the corner-stone ceremonies were given by Blake Franklin, president of the Los Angeles Congregational Church Extension Society, and Rev. Samuel Hitchcock, president of the Congregational Ministers' Union.

The building will cost $40,000. It will be ready for formal services next September 1.

ture industry, Mr. Sennett said. Fronting on Radford avenue, but a short distance from Ventura Boulevard, an administration building, two dressing buildings and other structures will be erected with a total frontage of 470 feet. Two immense stages and other buildings will be erected on the back of the lot at once, and provision is being made for the erection of two more stages at a later date.

OLD STUDIO TO BE SOLD

The administration building will be of California Renaissance type of architecture, two stories high and 100x425 feet in area. On either side of the administration building will be the dressing buildings, one for men and one for women, and on the same frontage, a film laboratory building is to be erected.

The present Sennett studios at 1712 Glendale Boulevard, are the oldest in active use in the city, covering more than twenty-five acres with 1800 feet on Glendale Boulevard. This property in the heart of Los Angeles has become so valuable that it is impractical from a production standpoint to operate a motion-picture studio here longer. Sennett plans to cut up the old studio site into business property, income residential, flats, apartment and bungalow-court sites.

Established some fifteen years ago when Mr. Sennett became a producer, the studios have seen the rise of many of the foremost stars in the film firmament; Charles Chaplin, Mabel Normand, Mack Swain, Ben Turpin and Ford Sterling and scores of successful men and women stars have received their first training here.

THE JAP NAVY

It would be extremely inconvenient both for England and the United States to grant Japan naval equality. Although, on the face of it, the demand of Japan is just.

If we ever have a war with any oriental power the theater of war will be somewhere over there. Japan, with a navy as great as ours, would really have a navy twice as great.

We are a very large and very powerful country and Japan is very small and very poor; but a war with Japan would be no pudding—to put it mildly. Those islands would be a veritable submarine nest.

CITY AQUEDUCT AGAIN BLASTED

Clover street, was the death victim. In the 1800 block on North Main street, she was struck down by a car operated by Rodolfo Chaves, 444 South Avenue 21. She was taken to the General Hospital, where she died a few minutes later. Chavez was not held.

Mrs. Minnie Silvers, 65, 1544 Shatto street, was standing in a safety zone at Sixth street and Union Drive, according to the police, when an automobile, containing two girls and their youthful escorts, struck her down. Several taxicab drivers gave chase but the driver of the car eluded them. His car, it was said, had no lights.

Mrs. Silvers was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found she had suffered a possible skull fracture, a broken collar bone, a dislocated shoulder and numerous bruises. A rigid search for the driver is being made.

P. J. Farrington, 1216 Mireana street, also was the victim of a hit-and-run motorist, according to another report. He was struck down at Santa Barbara avenue and Hoover street and was later treated for concussion of the brain and bruises.

Robert Ressler, 15, 1461 West Twenty-third street, was given treatment for a possible skull fracture after having been struck down at Ninety-seventh street and Western avenue by a car driven by Larry Kramer, 619 Freeman avenue, Hawthorne. Kramer told police he went to sleep at the wheel and drove into Ressler as the latter was standing beside a car belonging to Melvin Thomas of 1657½ Cordova street, which had broken down. Kramer was not held.

Mrs. Norma Middleton, 38, 5841 South Van Ness avenue, suffered concussion of the brain, injuries to her back and injuries of her leg in a collision between two cars at Jefferson avenue and Male street. The names of the others involved in the crash were not reported by police. Mrs. Middleton was taken to Receiving Hospital. Her condition is considered serious.

MURDER OF JUNKMAN SUSPECTED

Finding of Recluse's Body in Shallow Grave Stirs Mystery at Santa Ana

Lying in a shallow grave covered with fresh earth, the body of Carl Schintz, 50 years of age, recluse and junk dealer of Santa Ana, who is believed to have been murdered, was found last night by his partner, William Cobey.

Schintz, who lived alone in a makeshift shanty near the Santa Ana River, earning a livelihood by selling what junk he could pick up on the dump, was last seen on Tuesday.

Santa Ana police are searching for a Mexican known to residents only as "Cocky," who had been with Schintz on the day he disappeared. A neighbor reported that "Cocky" had borrowed a shotgun from him saying he was going rabbit hunting. He said he heard a shot on Tuesday afternoon.

Schintz's meager capital may have been the cause of his death, for his wallet in which his partner said he carried about $40, was found, empty, near the grave.

The body was taken to the Smith & Tuthill undertaking establishment, Santa Ana. Coroner C. D. Brown said an inquest will probably be held.

ANGELENOS WIN SURF TEST

Two Venice Life Guards Capture Honors in Rescue Demonstrations at Ocean Park

OCEAN PARK, June 19. (Exclusive)—Capturing 115 points out of a possible 120, Bob Foster and Jack Starnes, Los Angeles Municipal Life Guards stationed at Venice, today won the second annual Santa Monica Bay District life saving demonstration and contest conducted just south of the Lick Pier as several thousand spectators solidly lined the pier, the Ocean Front promenade and the sand for a glimpse of the seventy odd contestants.

The Venetian pair demonstrated an unusual proficiency in all four events of the comprehensive contest. Those events which counted toward the perpetual trophy contributed by the Ocean Park Realty Corporation were as follows: taking a boat through the surf and return, swimming 700 feet with a "near-drowned" victim, swimming out to sea with a "life can" and bringing victim ashore, and demonstrating efficiency in use of modern resuscitation methods.

While the three judges were in consultation, George H. White, chapter director of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps of Southern California, gave an exhibition of all the latest methods for producing artificial respiration, for ridding a near sea victim of water, and for the general care of a patient.

Judges who conferred first honors on Foster and Starnes were G. H. Fincher, amateur long-distance swimming champion of New Orleans from 1918 to 1922, inclusive; Jack Retlaw, a famous swimmer of two decades ago, and Gus McCarthy, representative of the Ocean Park Amusement Men's Association in their various aquatic programs.

The committee handling the demonstration was comprised of Chief of Police Webb of Santa Monica, Knute Knudsen, W. W. Madge and Gus McCarthy. According to the committee, today's event was a complete success in point of both crowd interest and quality of performance.

ADD PAINTINGS TO EXHIBIT

Art League Members Supply New Decorations for Manufacturers' Display on Broadway

Members of the Los Angeles Art League, whose display of paintings has been a feature at the Manufacturers' Exhibit in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, are adding numerous new examples of their work to the already extensive series of pictures that ornament the walls of the lecture room and corridors, and in consequence have extended a special invitation to all interested in promoting local art, to drop in this week and view their offerings.

While no formal program will be offered, there will be attendants in charge at all times and in many cases the artists themselves will be present to welcome visitors and to conduct them through the salon. The paintings run the gamut of variety in subjects, there being still life, marine, landscape, portrait and other fields shown in great numbers.

Another feature of the exhibit, which has been recently installed, is a complete exhibit of Braille work for the blind. This also is on the third floor. It comprises a series of books in Braille for the use of these unfortunates, also shows the methods by which they are made. A complete Bible in Braille is one of the most unusual features in this exhibit, which has found a ready interest on the part of many visitors.

This week there will be a special program arranged for Thursday and many interesting features will be given from day to day for the entertainment of visitors. The doors are open from 9 to 5 daily, and all are welcome, there being no charge. A fine line of displays of products made in Los Angeles is always on view.

GIRL ORATOR HERE AS CONTEST VISITOR

Lois Kahn

Among the prominent visitors to the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest, to be conducted in Bovard Auditorium on Thursday will be Miss Lois Kahn, orator of Tulsa University, who arrived in Los Angeles from Tulsa yesterday morning.

Miss Kahn, who is staying with her cousin, Mrs. L. R. Ilfeld of 1115 South Rimpau Boulevard, won two gold medals for oratorical ability in high school and for her victory in the commencement orations. At Tulsa University, where she has just completed her freshman year, she was awarded another gold medal. After spending the summer here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Kahn, she will return to Tulsa.

BUTTON REPLACES MATCHES

Fifty-eight per cent of the people of the United States have discarded the match in favor of the electric button as the means for lighting up the home.

More than 68,500,000 persons now use electricity in preference to all other lighting systems. In the last decade the number of electrically lighted homes has tripled and now totals 16,000,000.

Groups to Try Buying Planes for Joint Use

MILWAUKEE, June 19. (Exclusive) A co-operative system of making aviation a popular pastime has been inaugurated by a group of young society and business people here and the idea promises to spread throughout the country, according to inquiries received by the originators.

The plan is for a group of ten persons to buy an airplane, each contributing an equal share of the cost. Cost of operation is to be borne by the individual members in proportion as they use the plane for their own pleasure.

The latter would include the expense of hiring a pilot for those unversed in flying, flying-field concessions, etc.

PAN-AM MOTOR CLEANING MACHINE
(Osborne Process, Patent Applied for and Pending)

The most thorough "flushing" removes only 32% of the accumulation of muck and debris from the crankcase; 68% remains to pollute the new oil and to circulate through the motor, robbing your car of power—shortening its life—and causing unnecessary repair bills.

Never before was it possible to clean out this remaining 68% without "dropping the crankcase" — a costly and lengthy operation. NOW—with the PAN-AM Motor Cleaning Machine—all this foreign matter — this gritty muck — is WASHED OUT of crankcase — oil lines — transmission—or differential in a few minutes—leaving the parts perfectly clean and making sure that the fresh PAN-AM Motor Oil or Grease has a fair chance to do its work.

It's a simple process—2 gallons of PAN-AM Cleaning Lubricant (100% lubricant) is pumped through motor and oil feeds over and over again, washing away every particle of metal filings, gravel, grit and dirt. Each time this cleaning lubricant circulates, it is filtered until it begins to run clear — then the motor is ABSOLUTELY CLEAN!

No man can respect the American flag who does not understand and appreciate the sacrifice that brought it into existence."

SAYS GOD OF HEBREWS SATISFIES THE MIND

Rev. William S. Isett preached at Amanda Chapel yesterday of "The God of the Hebrews." He said in part:

"The God of the Hebrews is a wonderful God. We read how He created all things by the world of His power. The gods of other peoples, if they created at all, created out of material already in existence, which leaves the mind still wondering where that material came from. It is only the God of the Hebrews who satisfies me when I ask where the universe and I myself came from. He is a person, not a force, and that gives me joy. If I am to deal with a person like myself, then I know there will be consideration of my limitations. The God of the Hebrews was the God of Abraham. From being the all-powerful Creator, through the God who is a person, we have now come to the God who is a protector, and who appreciates the effort men make to be good and great. At last comes Jesus Christ, the Son of God. He speaks, and from his rocky tomb Lazarus comes back to life. The sea obeys His voice, and bread to feed a multitude increases at His word. He is a Man and yet God, for in His very person he lives among them. The God of Abraham is the shield, protector and earnest friend in the person of Jesus of Nazareth."

CALLS CHRIST SUPREME EXAMPLE FOR ALL MEN

"Christ and the Golden Rule" is the theme of a sermon preached yesterday by Rev. Alden L. Hill at the Highland Park Christian Church. Mr. Hill said in part.

"The law of Christ has put 'others' in the program of each individual Christian as nothing else has done. From the time that Christ became our great example in watching the fate of His disciples, it has been clear that the royal road to greatness is paved with service. Our Master would have us do unto others as we would have them do unto us. He has commanded us to love our neighbor as ourself. We cannot be self-centered and carry out His will. This principle of Christianity is slowly, but surely, leveling all the relationships of life."

AMERICANISM LAUDED BY RABBI WINKLER

Rabbi Mayer Winkler of Congregation Sinai preached yesterday on "Americanism." He said in part:

"The whole structure of human society, generally speaking, stands upon the foundation of citizenship in its supreme and broad sense. To become a citizen of this great country is the greatest privilege and blessing a man can obtain. The conception, foundation and development of America is gloriously realized in the spirit of equality and freedom. The Bible was the guide to those sturdy pioneers who came here to establish one of the most powerful nations of the world. The Constitution of the United States breathes the spirit of justice and righteousness, freedom and equality, to all inhabitants. Americanism is a most sublime ideal to which millions of hearts throb. It is all embracing, transcending the boundaries of creed, color and denomination. I am proud of becoming an American citizen by choice and am supremely happy to know that it will be from now on my sacred duty to uphold the glorious, starry banner of my country."

SAYS SOUL IS NOT CREATED WITH BODY

The theory of the creation of the human soul, at the time the body comes into existence, is a materialistic conception and has no basis in logic if the soul's immortality be taken for granted, according to Swami Dhirananda, who spoke at the Mt. Washington Educational Center yesterday on "Plotinus and the Indian Viewpoint."

"Essentially, the soul is one with God and is co-existent with Him," said the speaker. "Although in appearance we are many, in reality we are one, and the soul is never separated from the eternal Lord. According to Plotinus, the great mystic whose philosophy is in line with Vedic thought, man is three-fold in nature—instinctive, rational and intuitive. No part of man's nature is to be condemned, but each and every phase of his being should be used in climbing to that peak of intuition whereon stands the soul in serene contemplation of its own glorious selfhood. Spiritual masters of all ages have striven in vain to give adequate expression to that transcendent consciousness which they experienced, but words which deal with relative things and conditions have always failed to give complete expression to the ideal."

LIFE GUARDS DO STUNTS

The annual demonstration of the life guards of the Santa Monica Bay District was conducted yesterday at the Lick Pier and beach at Venice, with about seventy-five guards taking part. There was a large crowd. The demonstration was conducted by a committee consisting of W. W. Madge, municipal life guard and playground director at Venice, Chief of Police Webb of Santa Monica and Dick Richards.

There were special rescue and resuscitation tests, tests of speed in reaching supposedly drowning bathers both from the beach and from the pier, swimming and diving exhibitions, launching of lifeboats through the surf, a parade of lifeboats, and a Red Cross demonstration of resuscitation methods.

AUTOIST FACES MURDER TRIAL

Information Recites Wild Driving Orgy and Sets up Intoxication

When Pat Goldacan appears before Superior Judge Craig Wednesday he will face trial on but one charge, that of murder, but the circumstances, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sagan, are as follows:

It is charged that on April 24, last, he drove over a safety zone at forty miles an hour at First and Evergreen streets, killing Mrs. Lottie Clayton, 52 years of age, and injuring W. P. Majors so seriously that a leg had to be amputated; that he then went on at sixty miles an hour, turning a corner at Mott and First streets on two wheels, crashed into two other cars and finally landed in a grocery store at Fourth and Mott streets.

Goldacan is being prosecuted in accordance with Dist.-Atty. Keyes's policy of "giving both barrels" to drunken drivers, the defendant being accused of being intoxicated at the time.

Spreading the appeal of the Jewish sufferers abroad to Christian congregations, scores of churches will devote a portion of their services next Sunday to the United Jewish Appeal, now in progress here with an objective of $225,000. This is part of the program of the Christian Fund Committee for stimulating interest in the Jewish cause among non-Jews of the city and is receiving the co-operaton of Protestant and Catholic clergymen alike.

HOME, GARAGE AND AUTOMOBILE BURNED

Occupants of a two-storied dwelling at 12034 1-2 Venice Boulevard were forced to flee in their night clothes early yesterday morning by a fire which destroyed the house, garage and an automobile. Damage was estimated at $10,000. Origin of the blaze was undetermined. The building was owned by G. W. Cline and occupied by the family of D. C. Loomis, according to a fire department report.

Bandits Hold Up Pedestrians and Couple in Home

Two pedestrians were beaten and robbed, and a man and his wife were held up in their home by bandits early yesterday morning, according to police reports.

Earl Pfeifer, 110 East Avenue 33, reported he was attacked by three bandits at Third and Figueroa streets and, after being hit several times on the head with a weapon, robbed of a $500 diamond ring and $25 in cash.

At Temple and Main streets, within a stone's throw of the postoffice, Jesus Arse told police he was set upon by five men, beaten and robbed of $50.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Giroux, 240 South Johnson street, stated they were awakened in bed by a burglar who climbed in their bedroom window. Threatening them them with a revolver the bandit forced the couple to cover their faces with the bed clothes while he extracted $8 from Mr. Giroux's trousers. He then made his exit through the window.

CAT MOTHERS OWLS

A Persian cat with five kittens is acting as foster mother to two baby gray owls at Woodstock, Que., and a few have as yet questioned the cat's motives. When a youngster found the two owls without care, the owner of the cat, Mrs. P. Eyre, put them in with the kittens. The mother cat seems proud of the queer addition to her family.

PILOT BACK FROM PLANE PLANT TRIP

Order Placed by Goebel for Craft to Enter Hop to Hawaiian Islands

H. C. Lippiatt, Los Angeles sales representative of the Travelair Company, airplane builders, and Art Goebel, pilot, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from Wichita, Kan., where they placed an order for the plane which Goebel plans to enter in the trans-Pacific flight to Honolulu.

The trip was made in Lippiatt's plane and the pair left Los Angeles at 9:35 a.m. last Tuesday. They spent the first night in El Paso and proceeded to Wichita the next day, covering the entire distance in fifteen hours' flying time, they said. They left Wichita at 9:30 a.m. yesterday and made only one stop on the return flight, that being at Tucson, where they landed for oil and gas. The return trip required sixteen and one-half hours, the two taking turns at the stick to avoid fatigue.

Goebel's plane, according to Lippiatt, will be similar in design to "The Spirit of St. Louis" in which Lindbergh made his flight from New York to Paris. It is to be completed August 8, according to contract, and the two men will return to Wichita August 1 to superintend the finishing touches.

MICHIGAN MAN HELD HERE ON POLICE ORDER

Willis Taylor, 25 years of age, was arrested at the Clark Hotel yesterday at the telegraphic request of Sheriff Gorden of Kalamazoo, Mich., who said, according to police, he has a warrant for Taylor charging embezzlement of a "large sum of money." Taylor told officers he has no idea on what the charge is based. He was employed, he said, by a coffee company of Kalamazoo as a salesman and came here to visit his uncle, who lives in Piedmont.

POINT OF VIEW

"The summer White House," says the New York Times, "never was so far off." And here in California we had been thinking it never was so near!

THEIR OWN MESS

Now that the Reds in Russia have got to tearing at each other's throats they may be impelled to leave the rest of the world alone. There is no use in a home-brewed reign of terror foaming over the border.

ONLY WAITING

A man recently shot and dangerously wounded by his wife tells the doctors that he has been expecting it for fifteen years. Kept him interestingly thrilled as it were. This is the spice of life.

COSTLY HOSE

"The money now spent for hosiery," says the Pathfinder, "is almost as much as the cost of living used to be." Yes; but it wasn't on exhibition in the old days, which makes all the difference.

HE LANDS 'EM

In view of the Presidential preference for such democratic fish bait as the common angleworm the haughty rod-and-fly men will now have to hide their diminished heads. But they must admit that the President lands them, anyhow.

NO WARNING TO REDS

England and Germany were thwarted at Geneva in their plan to send a stiff note of warning to soviet Russia to keep hands off the civilized world. Too bad they couldn't have told the Reds what they thought of them, but in the suggestion of the idea they put something over, anyway.

DO WE WANT HER?

A San Francisco newspaper woman is held in jail at Peking for disseminating Bolshevik propaganda. The authorities say they will deport her to the United States. The question now arises, what part of the country is ready to receive her? Even the scant population of the Great American Desert probably would rise up in protest against her being dumped down there.

KING GETS A "RAISE"

King Albert of Belgium has been obliged to live so economically since the war that he even has sold some of his ancestral estates. So Parliament has passed a bill raising his salary from $105,000 to $300,000. As this is four times what the President of the United States is paid by a grateful country, Albert should be able to worry along on it.

UNPUNISHED

England's first trial of a man for shooting at an airplane resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The cable does not give details, but perhaps the acquittal was due to the pilot being a stunt flyer whose antics had enraged the man who did the shooting. In which case the jury probably thought the aviator's time would come very soon, anyway, and a shot or two at him wouldn't matter.

AS SHE IS SPOKE

"There's no such thing in the world," says Bernard Shaw, "as correct English speech." Which ought to be a great comfort to the ainters and he-don'ters, who can extract further consolation from Mr. Shaw's assertion that there are 42,767,500 dialects in Great Britain. He knows, for he has gone to the trouble of looking them all up. But that terminal 500 looks suspicious. Had he said 501 it might have been more convincing.

GAMBLING IN PORTUGAL

In order to attract more tourists to Portugal the government of that country will promote gambling. It has been decreed that all the casinos doing such business must provide fine gambling quarters and convenient hotels. The games will be taken under government supervision. Moralists probably will ask what else might be expected from a country that has had twenty-three revolutions in a decade, which naturally would suggest to some minds those of the wheel of fortune or the roulette board.

THE FIRST CITIZEN

The scientists are seeking to trace the first American Indian. The Smithsonian Institution is sponsoring a complete and costly research to that end and other organizations show like eagerness. The first red man seems to have neglected to register—except perhaps by means of his footprints. They are trying to trace these steps across Bering Straits and thereby prove that Asia was the cradle of America. Regardless of what the findings may be there is something right worthy and fascinating in the quest. Americans know too little about the real American Indian.

THE AMERICAN PLAN

How the American plan or open shop system of equitable relations between employer and employed has been evolved as the only means for doing away with intolerable abuses of both capital and labor was the major theme of the American Plan Open Shop Conference just concluded at San Francisco.

Justice alike to the man who works and to the man whose capital makes employment possible was urged by able exponents of the industrial policy whose fairness to all concerned has won for it the appropriate name of the American Plan.

How concentrated and unregulated capital in unscrupulous hands has in years past created an industrial tyranny whose injustice to workingmen brought about its own collapse was set out by men whose personal recollections go back to the labor troubles of fifty years ago, troubles born of the long hours, low wages and poor working conditions which were concomitants of that capitalistic autocracy.

The reaction from that system found expression in another industrial tyranny equally intolerable—the tyranny of the closed shop. Created originally as a weapon against injustice and for the benefits to accrue from united action, organized labor came in its turn to be an autocracy surpassing in arrogance and injustice any dictatorship ever achieved by capital.

Its direction placed in the hands of a few ambitious and unscrupulous men, union labor swung the pendulum of industrial control to the opposite extreme. It set itself up as a dictator to business and industry, to capital and labor, to the public, to the government itself. It arrogated to itself the right to fix wages, hours and conditions of employment without regard to economic considerations. It undertook to say who should and should not work and to regulate the results of that work. It sought to maintain high prices and high wages, in defiance of the law of supply and demand, by limiting manufacturing production. It harassed industry in a thousand ways outside of its legitimate functions. By a parade of political strength it acquired and misused control of public offices, legislatures and even of the courts. Its fiats it enforced by strikes which immediately became synonymous with lawless violence.

But it did not stop there. In their greed for absolute domination the misleaders of labor resorted to the torch and the bomb to rid the field of every vestige of resistance. Nonunion establishments and their products in every city in the country were dynamited and burned without even the flimsy excuse of a strike. Nonunion workmen and their employers were murdered in cold blood, together with any innocent citizens who happened to get in the way.

Out of the union-made welter of lawlessness came the American plan of industrial relations, devised to do complete and impartial justice to the employer, the employee and the public—of which the last-named had been the chief sufferer from the tyrannies of both capital and labor.

The American plan, or open shop, denies to no workingman any of the benefits assured him by the unions. It gives him all of these and others of much greater value. It gives him the right to organize for protection and mutual benefit, to bargain collectively and, if he likes, to strike.

In addition it gives him the right, denied him by the unions, to profit to the maximum by his own individual initiative and ability. It allows him to earn as much as he can rather than to be held down to the limit of the least competent of his fellow-workers, as under the union system. It gives him the right to work when and where he wishes without interference by a walking delegate. It assures him employment uninterrupted by enforced strikes called at the whim of the bosses of some other craft. It makes his earnings his own, unsubject to the thousand levies of unionism.

To the employer the American plan guarantees the right to run his business on sound economic principles, free from dictation by unionite overlords. It assures him a constant supply of free and contented labor at fair wages without the ruinous interruptions of long and costly strikes. It permits him to operate at the capacity of his capital, with no arbitrary limiting of production.

To the public at large the American plan guarantees economic rather than artificial regulation of prices of the necessities of life. It assures peace and safety in industrial life and the progress possible only to communities of continuous, well-paid employment. It removes one of the principal sources of political corruption and relieves society of an intolerable tyranny at the hands of a privileged class.

In industry, as in government, the index of freedom is the American plan.

STORM SIGNALS

Some of the people get what they want part of the time. Most of the people can get what they want most of the time—if they speak loud enough for it. San Franciscans, as well as the residents of Los Angeles, evidently are awaking to this fact. With indisputable clarity the voters of the Bay City have indicated that they do not wish to get deeper into the slough of municipal ownership. Their expression of feeling, coming on top of the recent body blows dealt the exponents of the same economic fallacy here, demonstrates a growing unanimity of opinion decidedly unfavorable to the gentry who depend on pork barrels for sustenance.

San Francisco on the 13th inst. voted down for the fourth time a proposal that the city purchase the Spring Valley Water Company for a consideration of $40,000,000. In addition, those at the ballot boxes refused to sanction additions to the municipal railway system. There probably exists a real need for new water facilities and further street-car service. But the citizens did not dare trust the enlargements to the municipal octopus. The result would have been worse than to delay the matter through a negative vote.

Coupled with the recent municipal debacle in Los Angeles, the situation provides an example of a trend that constantly is becoming more apparent. The root of the trouble lies deep. Private enterprise has been the backbone of the West's phenomenal growth in the face of tremendous obstacles. There always has been in evidence a spirit of democratic initiative, encouraging the efforts of all legitimate enterprises calculated to further the general welfare. Politics, like the poor, is always with us, but until the entrance into the arena of the municipal ownership cohorts politics had been largely personal.

When municipal bosses began to lay their hands on the machinery of urban life, before the citizenry had become aware of the disastrous change that was being effected, the path of civic virtue became strewn with gold bricks, of which public ownership was the biggest and shiniest. It has taken some years for the people to realize how badly they have been stung, but that realization appears to be coming now.

The present is a particularly inopportune time to try to peddle any more of these bricks. Los Angeles has swatted the Power Bureau's latest mulcting scheme and San Francisco likewise has rammed the municipal hokum back down the throats of its evangelists. With such a good start there seems no reason why an aroused populace should not go further. Not only is it possible to balk any additional imposition on long-suffering taxpayers, but it is extremely practicable to get in some remedial measures at the source.

Instead of permitting any more talk about extending the reach of the insatiable municipal monster—street-car lines and the like—the people should shake off the strangle hold that has been centered on private enterprise. When the West is aroused it does things right.

Latest developments are being viewed as storm signals by municipal czars. It looks like a real storm, too.

OLD LAMPS FOR NEW

At the congress of the Episcopal church, now being held at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, the Rev. Henry Lewis of Ann Arbor, Mich., proceeded to startle the staid prelates. He came out flatly in favor of the church "sanctifying unmarried unions," in order to do away with promiscuity, and keep up with modern opinion among the young people. The young clergyman accused the church of failing to keep abreast of the times and made the unfounded charge that the young people of today are highly immoral.

Educators tell us that the present generation is no worse than its predecessors, although it sometimes seems so because of its greater frankness and freedom from conventional restraints. But, even had it sunk lower than previous generations, that would be no reason why the church should slide down to keep it company. The church should act as a beacon to man, to help him climb upward and attain some of his ideals. Far from condoning immorality, it should strive to make morality attractive.

Soviet Russia has just conducted an experiment in giving official, although not religious, sanction to unmarried unions. The result has been a chaotic condition that has caused widespread misery, and the best minds in Russia are frantically trying to repair the wrong they have done. Far from aiding woman, usually the greatest sufferer in illicit unions, it rendered her position more unbearable, and the Red leaders were obliged to admit that the "bourgeois system" of marriage constituted the most satisfactory solution of the problem of the sexes.

Marriage has endured for a long time, and while not an entirely satisfactory arrangement under all conditions, it remains man's best and most unselfish effort to protect his dependents.

LAME DUCKS

The present activities of the outgoing City Council indicate a needed change in the city charter. The time that elapses between the official canvass of the votes cast at the city election and the going out of office of repudiated Councilmen evidently is too long.

It is less than a month, but much mischief can be done in a month.

In private business a discharged employee is never allowed to continue on the job. Even where the custom is to give notice, most employers have found it wise to make the discharge effective immediately and stand the loss of wages with no service during the notice period. But American public business has instead developed the "lame-duck" system, much to its own injury.

In the early days of the republic, as has often been explained, it was considered necessary to have a long time elapse between the election and the taking office of the newly elected official because means of communication were slow and uncertain and transportation was not much faster than the speed of a man's walk. Even this does not wholly explain the "lame-duck" session of Congress, and this seems to have been due to an oversight on the part of the Constitution makers. At any rate, any reason there may ever have been for a lengthy delay between election and the assumption of office has long since disappeared, and the delay has become a hampering nuisance.

In the case of City Councilmen there does not seem to be any good reason why they should not take up their duties at once, as soon as the result of the ballot can be ascertained officially. Impeachment of a public official usually operates to suspend him during his trial and cases frequently arise in the public service where the result of an election amounts to an impeachment and conviction rolled into one. It was so in the cases of several of the Los Angeles City Councilmen who will be in office until July 1.

The charter should not allow any important decisions to be made by "lame ducks."

THE PAY-ROLL BRIGADE

At the time that dispatches from Washington indicate that a Federal tax cut of $300,000,000 is contemplated the annual budget of this city is announced as $23,556,368, an increase of more than $1,000,000 over the present year, and a $14,000,000 increase over the $9,000,000 budget of 1921-22.

Mayor Cryer, in a naïve statement, sets out that increasing costs of personal service are responsible for thus swelling the budget and proposes the employment of fewer persons at adequate salaries, rather than the wholesale hiring of incompetents at low wages. In so doing he has exposed the system used by all political bosses in building machines, for the control of a city often can be procured by placing on the pay roll an appalling number of worthless idlers, who, however, carry a little group of votes around in their pockets.

An employee of high type, with a salary commensurate with his ability and whose workmanship is a necessary cog in the governmental engine, has no need to scurry about election day corralling votes for the gang. Whereof the bosses find it necessary to stack the pay roll with whole regiments of loafers.

The Federal government, under the Harding and Coolidge administrations, started an offensive against the "pay-roll brigade," the result being $1,000,000,000 a year lopped off the national debt.

This practice of Federal economy seems to have escaped the notice of smaller political subdivisions. New York City's budget has increased from $194,000,000 in 1914 to $474,000,000 in 1926, a per capita increase of from $37 to $81. Gov. Young's administration presents a budget and special appropriation for the biennium of about $200,000,000, approximately $20,000,000 more than California ever spent before.

The creation of more jobs and more commissions is principally responsible for this, and in the next few years we in California shall see the construction of a Juggernaut operated by small-bore politicians, run on tax money and crushing the taxpayer.

DON'T KNOW HOW

Perhaps it used to be true that too many cooks spoil the broth. But the trouble now is that many cooks—far too many—don't ever make any broth.

PEEPS AT NEW TURKEY

BY ROCKWELL D. HUNT

Turkey in Europe is severely restricted in [illegible] exigencies of the World War. Constantinople, [illegible] Turkish, but the seat of government is no longer [illegible] off Angora, located in the midst of Anatolia, in Asia Minor.

Geographically and (in an abstract sense) politically Angora is excellently situated to be the capital of New Turkey; but the task of constructing suitable buildings and adequate appointments in that comparatively primitive city for the seat of government and of connecting it with the rest of the republic and the outside world by good roads and other modern means of communication is stupendous and is fraught with financial obstacles extremely difficult to overcome.

The Young Turk gives cause for much hope for the future, and most of all because he has unmistakably the will to progress. Outward signs of advancement are not wanting—in Constantinople, particularly, they are seen on every hand. Of these none is more striking than the complete absence of the Moslem's traditional headgear—by official decree, only a few years ago, every last fez disappeared as if by magic. This requirement, which has been regretted on purely sentimental grounds by some American tourists—the fez is so colorful!—was in reality laid down as a test of the power of the new administration. It worked! It is said that the policies of New Turkey are now being dictated by not to exceed 100 men; but the republican principle is apparently firmly implanted and it will doubtless grow.

Today the Young Turk dresses according to western styles and appears light-hearted on the street and in the cafe, but he seldom whistles as he goes. Heavy burdens rest upon his shoulders. Every document he signs, every bill he issues, every meal ticket he receives is plastered with stamps—ubiquitous reminders of the multitudinous taxes he must pay.

He is compelled to feed and clothe many armed troops and legions of policemen whom he can ill afford to maintain. Their productive energies are greatly needed by the exhausted nation in this time of rehabilitation; but instead they must needs display at frequent intervals on the street and wherever men pass their uniforms, with bayonet or saber or pistol.

Perhaps the Turk has reason to fear for the future—who knows? He longs for a lasting peace and desires true friends among the nations; but dare he yet be sure of their friendship? At any rate, he feels keenly the necessity for caution—of even being suspicious of everybody and of being prepared. If only men and nations could cast off that dread feeling once and for all!

The European—especially the Greek—cannot forget that once, and for long centuries, Constantinople was a Christian city, the imposing capital of the Eastern Empire; and that the Moslem Turk swept across the Bosporus and captured it from the Christians in 1453, turning beautiful St. Sophia and other great churches into mosques—and thereby turning the tide of human history. Now that European Turkey has been so cruelly plucked because in an evil hour the Turk cast in his lot with the Central Powers, his fears that the next turn of the wheel of misfortune may deprive him of his footing in Europe altogether cannot be said to be wholly fanciful. There may be grounds why the "Sick Man," even in the day of his renewed youth, should dread the possibility of a sudden relapse.

The study of the Greek language is forbidden in Turkish schools and colleges; a non-Moslem physician, though his equipment be the best afforded by England or America, cannot without great difficulty obtain a license to practice medicine. Not outwardly, perhaps, but really there appears to be a persistent tendency to whip the Greeks and the Christians into being Moslems—and traditionally Moslemism has been stoutly opposed to the free study and application of modern science. The Young Turk is surely confronted with many anomalous conditions: in searching out answers to his perplexing questions (and he is facing them as never before) it is next to impossible to avoid a maze of dilemmas.

Constantinople is beautiful for situation—a truly wonderful city, with its more than 600 mosques. Some of its streets are bright and modern, many are curiously winding, with sidewalks never too ample and sometimes literally crowded into the rough pavement; but all are now comparatively clean. The tram service is good, but the tourist is sometimes in danger of being struck on his broad shoulder by a passing street car which runs perilously close to the sidewalk that has no breadth! While the bazaars have doubtless lost some of their former picturesqueness, they are still probably without equal anywhere in the world.

A view from Galata Tower affords a rare glimpse over the leading sections of the great city—Pera, Galata, Stamboul and (across the narrow Bosporus) Scutari; while the Golden Horn is clearly observed, spanned by the Karakeuy bridge. Here toll is collected from every vehicle, and every pedestrian must hand his piastre to one of the gaunt toll keepers with his eagle eye and immense money pouch.

Across the bridge, spanning the Golden Horn and connecting Galata with Stamboul, surges a constant stream of humanity, reflecting the gayety of nations and the sorrows of all races. I have stood there on the bridge, mute and observant, while the drama of every man—pedestrian, motorist, boatman, old, young, of all stations, from all climes—was being enacted without dissimulation about and below me.

American-made automobiles are far in the lead among the thousands now dashing about in Constantinople—and apparently they are still gaining. How the drivers delight to sound their noisy claxons and how [illegible] the bedlam resulting [illegible] methods in a city like Los [illegible] les!

Hitherto the Turk has had [illegible] vocates at the court of [illegible] nations—he has doubtless [illegible] been charged with [illegible] never committed, [illegible] circumstantial evidence [illegible] there may still be [illegible] atoned for. RADIO COURTESY SHOWN WORLD

Bigness and Broadness of Americans Displayed

Co-operation of Stations on Lindbergh an Example

Guest Announcer at KHJ Introduces Artists

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Aviation and radio are showing the world, more than through any other medium, the bigness and broadness of Americans.

The exploits of Col. Lindbergh and his unassuming manner are already well known. On the other hand, broadcast is also showing other nations the broad-minded spirit of citizens of the United States.

During the country-wide Lindbergh broadcast a week ago Saturday in Washington, a half-dozen local stations suspended activities so there would be no division of audiences and everyone could listen to the chain program.

ACT OF COURTESY

That in itself was a splendid courteous act. So also was that of the KFI staff in acknowledging the courtesy and co-operation of the stations that shut down for the period.

But it seems to me the biggest sportsmanship of the occasion showed itself when the orange network announcer came on the air at the close of the Lindbergh broadcast, thanked the silent stations for remaining off the air and then, in the same spirit of open-mindedness, he asked the audience of each station to return to that station, since it was the only fair thing to do.

SUNDAY NIGHT PROGRAM

Fred C. McNabb, acting as guest announcer of KHJ for last evening, introduced to Radioland Lee Sachs, pianist, playing the Mendelssohn "On the Wings of Song;" the Brahms "Gavotte;" the A Minor waltz by Chopin and other numbers of a classic nature.

Frederick MacMurray, playing old-time melodies on the viola, and the Pacific Instrumental Trio were also well-known radio entertainers on the night's program.

Olvera Brothers Mexican Marimba Band also made its radio debut, the group including Roberto, Abraham and Conrado Olvera and Miguel Angel Alvarez. The quartet which hails from Chiapas, Mex., arrived in the city last week after an extensive tour of Latin-American countries.

Playing the immense marimba, the band offered a fine repertoire of Mexican waltzes and marches and some grand opera airs.

Among the Awards

BY VALERIE WATROUS

ANOTHER year in the history of the Otis Art Institute has rolled around and the walls are again covered with examples of the students' work. It has been a year of opportunity; a year of achievement; another twelve months of striving for an ideal, and to those who received the prize awards it has been a period bringing them nearer the great goal.

In nearly every instance these prize winners are financing themselves. They are working at the most uncongenial of occupations. The labor that brings in the bread and meat is far removed from art expression, but the laborer gives to it his hand while heart and mind are in the realms of art. Some of the students work half the day and the other half is spent in the school. others are employed the entire day and joyously take up their brushes and pencils as students in the evening classes.

Andrew G. Aldrin, a third-year student who has received all of his training in the Otis Art Institute, is winner of the Huntington Assistance Prize of $100. This is the big prize of the year and was awarded for a study from the life class. There is a sincerity and strength in the figure, a vitality in the flesh tints that awards the work first place in the exhibit. Aldrin is a World War veteran and lately he has received recognition outside of his own locality.

Scholarships of $60 each were awarded to four day school students. These are William Hamner, Phyllis Shields, Catherine Spicer and Charles Morimoto.

Evening school students winning scholarships of $40 each are Dorothy Groton, Herman Cherry and Claribel Renick.

Miss Groton's work both in decorative illustration and in costume design is worthy of special attention. She shows marked originality and her expression in both color and design lingers in the mind long after one has passed on to view other and equally praiseworthy work.

Miss Renick, a sculpture student in the evening classes, also is entitled to more than a passing word. There is a grace and beauty of line in her figures that is satisfying, yet there is a strength, too, and the promise of growth.

Bivouac Club prizes, valued at $20 each, were awarded for the most outstanding work in the nine different departments. The winners are Frances Levine, painting; Sherman Peticolas, sculpture; Helen Anthony, illustration; Benji Okubo, commercial design; Kikue Kamei, decorative design; Mabel McCadden, first-year design; Kiyoshi Ito, interior design; Elsie Libby, life drawing, and George Hughes, craftwork.

One of the most interesting departments is that for children from 6 to 12 years of age. They come from the elementary schools with the recommendation of their teachers, but the conditions under which they work are far different from those found in their classrooms.

Paint, brushes and paper are supplied by the Otis Art Institute and the child is permitted to express himself in his own way. He is not told to draw this or that, but to picture something in his own mind and put it on paper.

The result of this freedom is interesting. Many of these youngsters have brought into their figures a feeling of movement far superior to the work of adult students. They dare to do the thing in their own way, but they achieve color and design that is refreshingly original, and in many instances the effect is far beyond what should be expected for their years.

The winners of the Bivouac Club prize for children are Louise Oliver, Adele Russell, Dorothy Walker and Lillian Daines.

This is the ninth annual exhibit of the Otis Art Institute, which will be moved to the Los Angeles Museum for a period of four weeks, beginning tomorrow.

Students celebrated the close of the school year with their annual costume jinks at the Elks' Club Saturday night, and the previous evening witnessed a one-act "artisode" by students burlesquing the life class. The tiny stage was set up in an angle of the wall and students and their friends crowded the courtyard to witness the fun.

EDITOR OF TAX DIGEST SUCCUMBS

John Lathrop, Lecturer and ex-Newspaper Man, Passes After Long Illness

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 19.—John Lathrop, 62 years of age, editor of the California Tax Digest, widely known lecturer and former newspaper man, died at 9 a.m. today in his home, 690 South Euclid avenue, after an illness of several months. Death was caused by an infection of the bone in his right leg which necessitated amputation. The operation was performed at Pasadena Hospital on April 16, last, and for a time it was believed the spread of the infection had been checked. However, he suffered a relapse about a month ago and his condition rapidly grew worse.

JOHN LATHROP

In addition to his editorial work Lathrop also devoted much of his time to lecturing. He attracted wide attention as an uncompromising foe of the Federal estate tax and the State inheritance tax, which he frequently assailed in his speeches. The Federal tax he characterized as a war measure, declaring its continuance is no longer justified. He was working on a story of his life at the time of his death.

Born in Minnesota, Lathrop received his education at Hamline University, St. Paul. He entered newspaper work immediately after graduation, starting in on the Oregon Daily Journal. He was a frequent contributor to the leading national magazines. During the war he served as an officer in the Red Cross and was attached to the antityphus unit in Poland. He was a pioneer in city planning and often visited here on nation-wide tours in behalf of that project. He had made his home here for the last four years. In 1904 he was married to Miss Dorothy M. Harris, daughter of James L. Harris, one of California's earliest settlers, who came here in 1849. He is survived by his widow.

Definite funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is believed that they will be conducted at All Saints' Church, Pasadena. Burial will be here.

OCCIDENTAL DEAN TO BE TRAVEL ADVISER

Dr. Irene T. Myers, dean of women and professor of history at Occidental College, will be one of the educational advisers of the World Travel School for Young Women, it was announced yesterday. Mrs. Luella St. Clair Moss, president-emeritus of Christian College, Columbia, Mo., is the director, and other advisers include several of the faculty at the University of Missouri. The World Travel School for Young Women uses the plan of sending its students in groups of twenty to forty, instead of chartering its own steamer. The sailings will be from Seattle and visits will be made to India, Egypt, Italy, Spain, France and England, with emphasis on history, geography, languages and art.

PER CAPITA DEBT HERE LOW

Los Angeles Eighth Among Cities Above Half Million; Miami Indebtedness Highest of Any

Despite its growth, necessitating a large number of improvements paid out of public funds, Los Angeles is in a very favorable position with regard to its bonded indebtedness, according to a survey of finanances of American cities received by the Traffic Commission from the Detroit bureau of governmental research.

Of the cities with a population of more than 500,000, Los Angeles stands eighth, with a per capita bonded debt of $87.52. Philadelphia has the greatest per capita bonded debt of the larger cities, amounting to $167.12. Other large cities' figures are: New York, $163.74; San Francisco, $138.27; Baltimore, $112.91; Buffalo, $110.91; Detroit, $110.59; and Cleveland, $98.35. Chicago is the only city larger than Los Angeles with a lower per capita debt. It is $60.34.

Miami draws the doubtful honor of having the largest per capita bonded indebtedness of any American city, regardless of size. It amounts to $314.50. Washington, D.C., operated by the United States government, has no bonded debt.

Comparing the cities on the basis of total outstanding general improvement bonds, but excluding school bonds and self-supporting utility bonds, New York leads, with a total of $523,357,910.

Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Detroit, Cleveland and Boston follow, with Los Angeles eighth, with a total of $50,457,500, less than one-tenth of New York's total.

The Detroit bureau of governmental research compiles these figures annually, to enable city officials and economists to determine the trend of public expenditures.

Miss Mabel Owens of New York City, is the first of her sex to be appointed as an attorney to the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

SPEAKERS DUE IN CITY TODAY

Intercollegiate Orators to Vie for Crown Here

Seven Will Compete Thursday for National Honor

All Sections of Country Will Have Representatives

Clarke Beach of the University of Maryland, spokesman for the colleges and universities of the Eastern States division of the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest, will be the first finalist to reach Los Angeles for the meeting next Thursday night in Bovard Auditorium. He will arrive this morning at 9 o'clock over the Santa Fe, and will be met by a delegation of alumni of his university.

Other finalists due to arrive today are David Abner Moscovitz, Rutgers University, northern champion, and H. J Oberholzer, North Carolina Agricultural College, Raleigh, N. C., spokesman for the Southern States. Mr. Oberholzer was the first to start on his way to California, but has stopped frequently along the way for sight-seeing, and for that reason has failed to be the first to reach the scene of the battle for $5000 in cash prizes and the collegiate speaking championship of the United States.

The three other finalists who are coming from a distance, W. C. Cusack of Dartmouth College; Max N. Kroloff, Morningside College, Iowa, and Hardy M. Ray of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., are expected tomorrow and the next day. The seventh of the finalists, who, as a result of lot drawings to determine speaking order, also will be the seventh speaker on the program at the final competition, is Arthur L. Syvertson of the University of Southern California. He does not have to travel at all to get into the finals, though he had to travel all the way to Oregon to battle for the Pacific Coast championship, which automatically entitles him to a place in the grand climax of the contest.

Fifteen Shots Fired in Thief Suspect Chase

Fifteen shots were exchanged between a police officer and a negro burglary suspect on the flats, near Venice, yesterday afternoon, with nobody hurt.

Reports of a prowler on the grounds of the Recreation Gun Club sent the two officers out. They declare when they came upon the negro he fired first. The chase ended in a barn, where the suspect took refuge when his ammunition was gone. He described himself as Frank Smith, 45 years of age, of 1869 Seventeenth street, Santa Monica, and was booked at the Venice police station on suspicion of burglary. Police say he admits having entered five small houses, but got little of value.

Eight Weeks U.S.C. Summer Session Begins

With students from twenty-three States, fifty visiting professors and 300 courses offered, the eight weeks' session of summer school at the University of Southern California is now in progress.

In order that teachers may be trained to take over some of the 264 classes now in operation in the grade schools of the United States for the conservation of sight, a special course in sight-saving is included in the summer's curriculum. This is the only sight-conservation course offered in the West, and is given in co-operation with the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness.

Registration for a six weeks' second summer session will take place on Friday and classes will convene for the first time on the 27th inst.

At the request of Taft police, Capt. Newstetter of the Valley Division police arrested at Lankershim yesterday William A. Crawford of Kittridge and Kraft streets on a charge of shooting at his partner in a garbage collection business, Abe Hendrix, Saturday night. Crawford denies the charge and says he has not been in Taft. He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Thursday, Crawford complained to Hollywood police that some one had been shooting at him and asked protection.

CHAMBER'S WEEK WILL OPEN TODAY

Los Angeles to Celebrate Thirty-ninth Successful Year of Organization

Los Angeles today will begin a seven-day celebration of Chamber of Commerce Week, marking the thirty-ninth year that the organization has worked for the development of Los Angeles and Southern California. The week is opened officially by a message to the people of Los Angeles by D. F. McGarry, president of the chamber. Mr. McGarry said:

D. F. McGARRY

"As president of your Chamber of Commerce, I wish to take this opportunity of thanking every member for the individual and collective support that has been given and also by a brief resume to acquaint you more fully with the activities and accomplishments of the various departments of the largest chamber of commerce in the world.

A. G. Arnoll

"Speaking as a citizen of Los Angeles as well as president of your chamber, I know of no organization that is in a position to do more for individuals and firms than your own Chamber of Commerce, but let me say that the greatest service which this chamber can give is lessened or enhanced by the measure of co-operation and support given by its members individually. We, who represent the directors, officials and staff, are your servants and as such we look to you for inspiration, encouragement and support in the work of making a better and bigger Los Angeles.

"In 1926 the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce built and maintained the Los Angeles county exhibit at the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial. This exhibit was considered the finest in the whole exposition. It won the grand prize. More than 6,000,000 people personally called at the booths and talked with representatives concerning a trip to Los Angeles. The cost of the exhibit was $60,000, 1 cent for each person interviewed. This was just one of the many exhibits sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at fairs throughout the country.

"The chamber also has a lecturer who, last year, talked to more than 150,000 people. Motion pictures told the story of Los Angeles to approximately 20,000,000 people in the East during that time. The chamber's Chicago office is a branch of this important work under the direction of Charles P. Bayer, chamber field secretary.

"More than 300 industries, one for each working day of the year, were brought to Southern California during 1926 by the industrial department of the chamber. These industries increased our pay rolls $12,500,000. They gave employment to 7500 persons and brought cash investments of more than $50,000,000 in equipment and property alone.

"The agricultural department, despite the large acreage taken over for real-estate subdivisions and industrial sites, did much to place Los Angeles county at the head of all producing counties of the United States. For the past five years Los Angeles county has surpassed all other counties of the nation in the value of its agricultural products.

"An important function of the chamber is the augmentation of domestic and foreign trade. The chamber has two departments whose work it is to make contacts for local and foreign traders. In the past ten years this phase of our municipal life has shown phenomenal increase and has placed Los Angeles among the leading shipping centers of the world.

"Other departments of the chamber have much to do with continued prosperity of the city," concluded Mr. McGarry, "and it is to the advantage of everyone living here to lend his utmost support to the Chamber of Commerce and the work it is doing."

BORNEO DOCTOR SAYS WILD MAN EXTINCT

The head-hunters of Borneo are becoming civilized rapidly and the only "wild men" of that country are the orangoutangs, said Dr. A. A. Campbell of Tenom, British North Borneo, who is here on his first leave of absence in four years. With Mrs. Campbell and their two children, Dr. Campbell is at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel. Dr. Campbell is an American but had been in British service eleven years. He is in charge of two hospitals and eight dressing stations, which serve 150,000 natives on rubber plantations. Dr. Campbell's children speak Malay rather more readily than they do English.

The trial of Miss Mackaye, which got under way last Thursday is to be resumed at 2 p.m. today when Max Wagner, room-mate of Kelly, is recalled to the stand for cross-examination at the hands of Defense Attorneys Jerry Geisler and Roger Marchetti. Kelly was convicted for manslaughter for the killing of Raymond and sentenced to serve from one to ten years. His case now is on appeal and he is being held at the County Jail pending decision of the higher courts.

PLANS SECRET

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Murray and Kemp announced that Perry Askom, an actor, who was a member of the cast of the musical comedy "Castles in the Air," the last in which Raymond appeared, will follow Wagner on the stand for the State. "Jungles" Teno Yobu, Japanese houseboy for Kelly, also will testify this afternoon.

The defense attorneys have kept their plans a secret and declined to reveal the list of some fifteen witnesses they have called to aid the actress. The list was not obtainable inasmuch as a private process-server distributed the subpoenas.

The nature of the testimony to be asked of the film actors and actresses will not be disclosed, her attorneys said, until they actually are called to the stand. It was said they are not the same who were called to testify as character witnesses for Kelly.

Kelly undoubtedly will be a witness some time during the trial as the defense lawyers say they will call him to the stand in event the prosecution fails to do so. The defense of Miss Mackaye differs in many respects to that of Kelly as her attorneys are not disputing the fact [illegible]

SYD CHAPLIN JUNGLE HERO IN NEW FILM

"Missing Link" Affords High Spots of Mirth; Monkey a Star

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

There are some big laughs in "The Missing Link" and there are some dull spots, but, as a whole, this newest starring picture of Syd Chaplin, while not one of his best, will afford good entertainment. And that's about all that one asks of the majority of comedies, since so many have began to arrive on the screen.

"The Missing Link" is showing at the Forum, heading a bill that includes an elaborately costumed, but ineffectively danced ballet number, called "The Temple of Dagon," and a Big Boy short-reeler, "Atta Boy," that amuses. Those who like a bill running strongly to comedy probably will find the program, as a whole, agreeable, if not always super-hilarious

There is a monkey, Akka, in the Chaplin picture that contributes much to the humor. In fact, he nearly steals half the picture away, even from the star.

Chaplin manages to be the center of fun at the start, however. The sequence, which shows him attempting to deliver some hand-baggage on board a liner, has many high spots of mirth.

In "The Missing Link" Chaplin is classed as an impoverished poet, though aside from the fact that he is so spoken of in a subtitle, there is no evidence of his lyric gifts. He isn't even guilty of a limerick during the progress of the film. Later on he masquerades as a scientific explorer and big-game hunter.

More important is the fact that he is the center of much knock-down-drag-out slapstick that culminates when his trousers are dragged off by some deck hands on the ship. To camouflage his embarrassment, as it were, he improves a Scotch kiltie, using a steamer rug, some knitted wear purloined from a feminine passenger, and the working kit of the same good lady, which last serves as the huge tassel that is a necessary adjunct to Scotch kilts. With this he parades the deck until the steamer rug falls, and then there is another wild chase.

"The Missing Link" is mostly chase. In the latter part it is the lions and the Missing Link that get on Chaplin's trail and there are some daring scenes, in which a roaring lion is ecsconced on Chaplin's back as the comedian lies on the floor.

One has the feeling that these scenes were difficult to make, and that the star deserves no end of credit for his trouping. He also has a lively knock-about series of sequences with the monkey, Akka.

As a picture, the last part of "The Missing Link" doesn't quite convince. It is not the effortless and spontaneous sort of comedy that draws the biggest laughs. The setting in the African jungle seems particularly far-fetched.

At that, you will find "The Missing Link" amusing and different, and as comedies go, by and large, good. Ruth Hiatt is the girl and looks at times a little like Alice Terry. Others are Crauford Kent, Sam Baker and Nick Cogley.

Big Boy is a cute kid, and has lots of clever tricks of expression that add much to such a comedy as "Atta Baby." He does things that no youngster in the wildest imaginings could be thought of as doing, but there is a perfect alibi for whatever takes place in "Atta Baby" in the wind-up of this film. The picture is one that the youngsters will probably greatly enjoy. Nearly everything happens in and around a circus. The picture is rather heavily loaded down with slapstick at times.

"The Temple of Dagon" is an excerpt from the opera "Samson and Delilah" staged by Serge Oukrainsky, with Willette Allen and Eleanora Flaige as the principal dancers. Symmetry is lacking in the ensemble, which seems altogether too complicated and slow in tempo for this sort of presentation.

Perennial Comedy Blooms Again

Dorothy Coghlan

Is in the company of "Abie's Irish Rose," resuming its run in Los Angeles after a six years' absence. It opened yesterday at the Playhouse.

HARDEEN HEADS PROGRAM

If one is a scoffer at stage "magic," if one doesn't believe that the hand is quicker than the eye, it is suggested that he go see Hardeen, brother of Houdini, who heads the Hillstreet bill this week.

Hardeen runs the gantlet of the old, old tricks and what he says are the very newest, willed him by his late brother. There are disappearing and appearing bunnies, a rooster snatched out of nowhere, the handcuffed man in the locked trunk, jingling coins "discovered" in a crystal case, everything, but,—well, where was the black-draped tank of water in which the maiden went to sleep? Or is that too old to grace any modern bill?

One very neat little bit, credit for conceiving which Hardeen gave to Houdini, was the miraculous placing of eight alarm clocks on eight ribbon watch chains dangling from an iron stand. One minute an alarm clock was in Hardeen's nimble-fingered hand, and the next minute it appeared swinging from the ribbon on the other side of the room.

The magician was not the only clever manipulator of objects to be seen yesterday. The Four Clovelly Girls, "Queens of Clubs," who opened the vaudeville program, tossed the clubs or pins backward and forward and up and down with amazing dexterity.

Marie Cavanaugh and Bud Cooper, comedienne and song composer, respectively, came forth with some "give and take" which kept the audience chuckling; and Cooper was heard in several of his own compositions.

Charles Althoff as "The Yankee Fiddler" was one of the hits of the bill, and his portrayal of the rheumatic old gentleman of the hick town won him resounding applause. His badly crippled limbs proved as unmanageable, and his fiddle playing just as off tune, as ever.

Tom Smith, assisted by Harry Newman, did a "take-off" on mind readers, answering questions from the audience in a manner which was, to say the least, unique. He, too, seemed to find his nether limbs somewhat unsteady, and hit the floor with many a thud in the few minutes he was before the audience.

The Legrohs in a pantomimic novelty, closing the bill, gave a decidedly different act. Attired in golfing clothes, jazz sweaters and socks, they took a few minutes off from lounging on the comfortable country-club settee to twist and contort themselves into all manner of queer shapes.

The feature photoplay was "Irish Hearts," with the diminutive May McAvoy starring. Jason Robards, Warner Richmond and Kathleen Key were among the members of the cast. The comedy was H. C. Witwer's "The Wisecrackers."

'Abie' Comes Back After Five Years

BY E. S.

If, when I originally saw "Abie's Irish Rose," I predicted that this play would enjoy a huge success, my sin and crime, if it so be, has at last been visited on my head. After the lapse of half a decade, I have seen this play again, and it is just as terrible a play as it ever was, of which fact I took account in my original review of the same, but apparently just as good entertainment.

The audience which last evening saw the return to Los Angeles, the city where it first saw the light day of this amazing piece de resistance of the modern theater literally laughed themselves to death over "Abie." The Playhouse, where it is now being presented, drew practical capacity for this opening performance.

"Abie" is an institution. In some respects, it is improved since its original production here; in other respects it is as a play worse. But no matter what its faults it has qualities so diverting that it compensates, and proffers a sunshine-spreading theme.

Perhaps, "Abie" isn't as timely as when it was first produced, but it is almost as funny. There are spots in it at which even the most case-hardened theatergoer can laugh. There is one telling message in the play and that is of a unity of feeling among humanity, despite the differences in religious creed. I think that this is the thing that chiefly has made this comedy live.

Anne Nichols wrote "Abie's Irish Rose," and she has made a mint of money out of the play. It has been the center of litigation and everything, and shortly it is to come to the screen.

It was Oliver Morosco who originally produced "Abie's Irish Rose" in Los Angeles. The cast was better in that production—much better than the one that is giving it now. This one strikes me as deficient in several major respects, but seemingly the audience enjoyed whatever happened regardless.

Nat Koff as the Jewish father has some extreme mannerisms, and a persistent way of seeming to laugh through his lines that detracts from his characterization. James R. Waters, on the other hand, as his friend, Isaac Cohen, achieved a divertingly humorous portrayal.

Dorothy Coglan as the girl Rosemary Murphy does not catch the sympathy as did Bessie Eyton in the original cast, nor does William McFadden as the son achieve that ingratiating quality with which Gayne Whitman once invested this same role. Jack M. Holmes was the Irish father of the girl, but it is pleasanter perhaps to remember what Harry Garrity once did with this same role.

Ada Jaffee plays Mrs. Cohen. F. B. Hersome, the Rabbi, and Ray L. Royce, Father Whalen. In extenuation of Nat Koff's performance as Levy, I must say that he has a good personality for the role, and won many laughs.

It is Miss Nichols's play though that really survives for popular approval, and even if it is based on nothing more than a good old vaudeville formula of racial comedy, it stretches the fifteen or twenty minutes that goes to such an act on the variety stage into three hours, chiefly of laughter, with perhaps a touch of pathos here and there.

NATURE'S WONDERS SEEN BY EXPLORER

From the somber cactus-studded wastes of Mexico to the queer, strangely populated city of Singapore—this is the highly instructive and entertaining route traveled by Burr Nickle in his travel film entitled, "Wonders of the Wilds," which opened Saturday for a limited run at the Broadway Palace Theater.

That Mr. Nickle has produced a travelogue of rare interest is an undisputed fact. He has confined the reel not only to scenic beauties, but has singled out the points of greatest interest and rarity and has devoted the production almost entirely to these features.

As mentioned before, the explorer starts the journey from Mexico. In this sequence the high spot proved to be the scenes shot in the much-heard-of but seldom seen "thieves market." In this market all thieves dispose of their goods, making it possible for a fleeced victim to visit the market next morning and buy back his stolen articles.

After the departure from Mexico, the film consists of principally ocean shots, turtle harpooning and deep-sea fishing being among the interesting adventures recorded.

It was Guadalupe, however, that added one of the film's highlights, with its pictures of the only colony of "sea elephants" in existence. The animal resembles a huge seal or sea lion, except that it possesses a small trunk—the feature that gained for it its name of "elephant."

Tracing the points of interest in order of travel, the next came in the island of Borneo. Dense jungle shots showed a thirty-foot boa constrictor coiled in a tree, and the capture of a fifteen-foot python. The ever comical monkey also came in for his share of camera attention.

The Borneo wild man's strange rites and dances formed one of the film's strangest bits.

Cast Members to Appear on Pantages Stage

SUE CAROL

Tonight at 9 the members of the cast, which includes Earle Foxe, Sue Carol, Holmes Herbert, Olive Tell, Margaret Livingston and Richard Palling, will appear in person on the stage.

"Slaves of Beauty," a comedy-drama of a middle-aged woman in search of the Fountain of Youth is described as a continuous laugh from start to finish. The feature members of this comedy cast will tell the audience the experiences which they had while making this picture.

Comic Opera to Follow Drama at Vine Street

With the closing of "White Cargo" at the Vine-street Theater Saturday the house will be dark for three days until the following Wednesday to prepase for the opening of the elaborate comic opera, "The Geisha."

Arthur William Green announces that the revival of "White Cargo" has been well received.

Final preparations are being made for the formal opening of Los Angeles' first comic opera season, and W G. Stewart states that his sixty-voice ensemble has come through their final rehearsals with "flying colors." Raymond Hitchcock, Virginia Flohri and Earl Askam are the featured members of the Oriental operetta.

TAKES BEATING WITH WHIP FOR ART'S SAKE

O'NEILL DRAMA IS POWERFUL

"All God's Chillun" Is Splendidly Acted by Cast at Majestic

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

A gripping, tragically dramatic problem play without a solution, but perhaps there is no solution . . . that is "All God's Chillun Got Wings," which opened at the Majestic Theater last night.

Eugene O'Neill, the author, touches in this play on one of the vital questions of our time — the race problem. There is little of the niceties in the writings of O'Neill as exemplified, too, in his other dramas, "Ann Christie," "The Emperor Jones" and "Desire Under the Elms." He paints his character with a broad, sweeping, even brutal brush. This is particularly true of the drab, sordid characters in "All God's Chillun" . . . a white woman, an outcast from her race, married to a black man.

The situation of the play, although rare, is not far-fetched. There are, of course, any number of cases of the intermarriage between the two races. O'Neill takes but one of these and shows what almost inevitably must happen. The white girl has been betrayed and abandoned by a cheap prize-fighter. When everyone else has turned against her and she must choose between the streets and the river, the negro, Jim, whom she had known since childhood, proposes marriage. The girl accepts. The wrecking of their two lives follows rapidly. The girl finds herself worse off than before . . . the lowest of her race treat her with contempt. And the man . . . he becomes estranged from his mother and sister, fails in his legal examinations. Even his wife taunts him with his race.

Much of the bitterness of the colored people toward the injustice of the whites is brought out in the play, and much of their psychology is used to stress a point.

Perhaps O'Neill comes the nearest to offering the solution when the college-educated sister of Jim cries: "We don't deserve happiness until we have won our battle."

In spite of the decided delicacy of the subject, the play is splendidly acted and never gives offense—even in the scene where the white girl kisses the hand of the negro—a daring scene.

Irving Pichel is magnificent as the negro, Jim. In other hands this play might have been frankly distasteful, but his characterization is a skilled one. I am inclined to place it as one of the best seen in our theaters this season. Never once does he cease to be a sympathetic character — always the unfortunate victim of circumstance.

Violette Wilson, as Ella, the white girl who becomes his wife, builds slowly into her character. At the beginning it seems that she underplays, but her later scenes are splendid. Particularly is she good in the incident wherein she first realizes that the veriest scum of her own race have turned from her. She holds the stage alone during a long and tremendously difficult scene.

In the supporting cast, Jessie Arnold scored a personal triumph as Hattie, Jim's sister, an example of the enlightened colored woman of today. Fred Cummings does well as Shorty, while others who appear are Peter Kirk, as the prize-fighter; Frank Perry, a colored youth, and Billie Leicester as the mother of Jim.

The production was staged under the direction of Dickson Morgan. Settings, particularly, were effective and typical, I thought.

HENRY SANTREY AND COMPANY FEATURED

Last Half of Orpheum Bill Is Occupied by Revue from Australia

Mark it down that a lady of ineffable charm has come to town, and that she may be seen and heard at the Orpheum for all of two weeks. She is the wife of Henry Santrey, who, with his company, occupies the entire second half of the generally pleasing bill which was introduced yesterday afternoon. Here name is Anna Seymour.

The Santreys have just returned from a presumably triumphant tour of Australia. A motion picture preamble to their appearance takes overlong to unwind, and the revue itself gets off to a limping start—but once in its stride, proves its right to be classed with the top-notchers. Much of the material is unfamiliar in these parts and some of it is old, there being only one selection comprising a few of the latter-day song hits, but the manner of delivery and execution imparts a spontaneous freshness to the whole that is sometimes lacking in the most ultra-ultra of revues.

Santrey has a band of a dozen-odd musicians whose playing is conspicuously free from that variety of note known as sour. One of them—the harpist—contributes a rendition of familiar airs. Santrey himself—differing widely from one's ordinary conception of a band leader—sings a song or two.

In the same act Harry Seymour dances. There is also a little girl from Australia, Mlle. Essie Fratus, who briefly displays some novelty steps. But the real star is Anna Seymour.

Miss Seymour is somewhat reminiscent of Beatrice Lillie, without being imitative. She possesses in abundance that quality which the French shruggingly refer to as ur je ne sais quoi—an expression which their "countrywoman," Mme. Glyn, has translated as something else again. It has an indefinable gayety tinged with whimsy, quite irresistible.

Tameo Kajiyama, advocate of "multi-mentalism," proves to be a clever Japanese with a mind able to follow several diverse channels of thought at once. His advent is heralded by a short film which explains just what he intends doing; and in it is a title which quaintly implies that the spectator is hardly able to grasp even a single idea, let alone several, unless it is hammered home. The title reads: "Simultaneously. (At the same time.)"

Jane and Katherine Lee, young ladies who once were screen kiddies, sing and dance and let it be known generally that they have grown up, if you please. Noteworthy is their harmonizing of "All God's Chillun Got Wings."

An example of the multi-mentalism of Tameo Kajiyama finds itself cropping out in the opening spot of the bill, the act featuring Kirby and De Cage, dancers. In it a fellow named Harry Cornish, gliding around easily on roller skates, plays "A Kiss in the Dark" on his violin, simultaneously (at the same time.) There is no telling what this multi-mentalism thing may lead to.

THREE SEIZED IN ARMS COUP

Guns Believed Destined for Mexican Plotters

Truckload of War Supplies Watched at Port

An asserted attempt to foment a revolution in Mexico ended yesterday in the City Jail when Federal operatives and city police arrested three men on charges of conspiring to violate Section 37 of the Federal Penal Code, the general conspiracy chapter.

Meanwhile, according to Lucien Wheeler, agent in charge of the Department of Justice, Investigation Bureau, the $50,000 load of arms and ammunition, pursued along the Coast Route from Buellton, was in San Pedro, under surveillance, but not yet in formal custody. The truck and trailer, with the munitions aboard, went to San Pedro to meet a vessel which never appeared.

MORE MAY BE SEIZED

Those under arrest, with the possibility of having their numbers augmented, are John B. Mannerstan, 43 years of age, a native of Finland, giving his occupation as an oil engineer and his address as the Angelus Hotel; Guillermo Rosas, 34, an attorney, living at Sixth and Witmer streets, and Ralph O. Sanders, 27, a laborer, address Sixth and San Pedro streets. Rosas and Sanders were arrested at Fifth and Olive streets by Detective Lieutenants Post and Hickey. Detective Lieutenants Moore and Platt arrested Mannersean.

"Mannerstan is a big gun man from San Francisco," said Mr. Wheeler. "He is the president of the arms company which sold the munitions, according to our information."

Reports at Los Angeles Harbor indicated that the munitions were to be placed aboard a fishing schooner there and taken to some Mexican port.

INSURANCE TAKEN

Insurance recently was written covering a shipment of twenty tons of "hardware." Insurance on the "hardware" was placed at $40,000 and $5000 was placed on the "disbursement" incidental to the trip.

The insurance man who handled that part of the affair stated that three men approached him last week, induced him to write the insurance and besought him to charter them a vessel. It is believed the three men obtained one of the local fishing boats.

Federal and local officers overtook the truck and trailer at Buellton, and permitted it to continue its journey under guard. The munitions continued to the port, where it was expected that the chartered gun runner would be met. The men on the vessel, however, are presumed to have gotten wind of the government's action, as the ship did not appear.

ELEVATOR MISHAP MAY END IN DEATH

Probably fatal injuries were suffered by Henry P. Campos, 32 years of age, 900 West Twentieth street, early yesterday morning when he was crushed between an elevator and the door on the fifth floor of the Van Nuys Hotel. He was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital for internal injuries, severe lacerations of the face and chest, and numerous bruises. Campos, according to the police, had operated the elevator to the sixth floor. For some reason not accounted for the elevator slipped down between the sixth and fifth floors after Campos had alighted. When he attempted to climb into the cage from the fifth floor it started down again suddenly and caught him against the door on the latter floor, the police report said.

TAX ON FACE VALUE PROBLEM FOR LON CHANEY

Man of Thousand Disguises Fears He Will Have to Pay Dollar for Each

Four Dollars' Worth of Face

LON CHANEY, known to millions of movie fans as "the man of 1000 faces," is greatly perturbed because of City Ordinance No. 58024 which requires any and all persons wearing a disguise or false face to pay the city of Los Angeles $1 for the privilege. When the matter was first called to his attention the actor didn't consider it anything to be bothered about. He was willing to toss a dollar into the city treasury and go on about his business.

However, while Chaney was endeavoring to find change for a century note, it occurred to him that perhaps $1 wouldn't pay the bill. If he had 1000 faces would he be expected to donate $1 a face? If so—well, there's a tremendous difference between forking over $1 and $1000.

The more he pondered, the less he understood the problem. Nobody around the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot could help him, so at last he decided to write to City Treasurer Ned T. Powell and lay the matter before him.

"I note in The Times," wrote the actor, "that, in common with bank burglars and others, I am assessed a dollar for wearing disguises. I have often heard of a man with a price on his head, but it is, to say the least, a unique experience to be a man with a price on my face—although it's quite the usual thing for me to charge a good stiff price for every face I make.

"But the question, my dear Mr. Powell, is whether I owe $1 or whether the majesty of the law will assess me more. The studio bills me as 'the man of 1000 faces' and every year I have to work out at least four different disguises for my pictures. Now, do I owe $4, $1 or $1000? And, also, can I write this face value tax, as it were, off my income tax? In the event I refuse to pay it, will you attach my face? Anyhow, Mr. Powell, I am sending the dollar along. Please enlighten me. Very sincerely,

"LON CHANEY."

"P. S. Since writing the above I have discovered that the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio, where I work, is in Culver City and not in Los Angeles, and that I live in Beverly Hills, which is not in Los Angeles either. So please disregard this letter and send me back my dollar.—L. C.

Sleeps in Park to be Sure to See Lindbergh

If everyone were as anxious to honor Lindbergh as Hattie McClellan, the intrepid conqueror of the Atlantic might be assured of a welcome here that would exceed those of the large cities of the East.

For according to the story Mrs. McClellan told yesterday to Municipal Judge Chambers, she was so anxious to be on hand when the flyer reached this city that she started sleeping on a park bench several days ago. She was afraid she might miss him if she slept in her own room, which, she said, has only one small window opening on a skylight.

The woman, who is colored, was brought before the court on a charge of vagrancy brought when she was discovered sleeping out in the park last week. She explained to Judge Chambers her anxiety to greet Lindbergh and stated she had been told he would reach here soon and would fly over the city.

Judge Chambers commended her interest and suspended a small fine but advised her to watch the papers for news of the flyer's arrival and to sleep indoors until that time.

WIFE REBELS AFTER COOKING FOR TWENTY

Fried potatoes for a husband and for a crew of twenty farm hands are two different things, according to Nora N. Harbell, who charges that her husband married her so that she might become a cook for his farm outfit. This was the story told to Judge Summerfield by Mrs. Harbell when she asked for a divorce. "When I promised to marry him," she said, "he said that he had a ranch near San Diego and that I should be queen of the outfit. But I found that being queen meant being chief cook also. I demanded a showdown," Mrs. Harbell stated, "and my husband admitted that he needed me to cook for his twenty farm hands." Mrs. Harbell was represented by John B. Nichols, attorney, in her plea for a divorce, which was granted.

BAREFOOT MATE AT TABLE CAUSES SUIT

Barefooted boys are all right in their places, but barefoot husbands at the breakfast table are eligible for the divorce courts, in the opinion of Mrs. Etta Gean Alder, whose suit for divorce on file in Superior Court states that she could not agree with her spouse because he insisted upon coming to the breakfast table "unshod." And when she protested, according to the complaint, her husband announced his independence by waving his feet in her face. This, in Mrs. Adler's opinion, constituted cruelty. In addition, Mrs. Alder charges that her husband frequently took her to parties, but insisted upon her playing the role of a wallflower, according to the complaint filed by Attorney Bart F. Wade. She asks for alimony of $150 a month from her husband.

STILL CONCEALED IN CHICKEN COOP

Andrea Rizzi, who gave his address as 900 Spring street, East San Gabriel, thought himself firmly entrenched, according to deputy sheriffs, when official reports said he established a fifty-gallon still in his chicken coop and dug a deep cave on the banks of San Gabriel wash to house his whisky and mash.

Deputy sheriffs, operating under direction of Capt. Benton, discovered the secret liquor place and reported finding the still and in the cave 120 gallons of whisky, fifty gallons of wine and 1500 gallons of mash.

Rizzi was taken before Justice Northrup at Alhambra, where he pleaded guilty to three counts and was fined $1000.

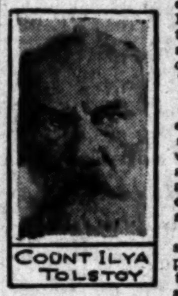
Count Tolstoy to Advise New Screen Writers



COUNT ILYA TOLSTOY

Because of the impossibility of moving-picture studios to assist promising scenario writers in their efforts, Count Ilya Tolstoy, author, lecturer and eldest son of the late Leo Tolstoy, announced yesterday he would establish himself in Hollywood as personal counsel to aspiring writers for the screen.

Count Tolstoy said he plans to give the aspirants advice, offer suggestions and truthfully tell the would-be authors just how valuable their manuscripts may be.

"Many good ideas and scenarios are never used," Tolstoy declared, "simply because the author cannot obtain studio reaction to them. Producers would welcome a new idea or an interesting script, but cannot give the time to select the good from the poor."

Countess to be Seen Here in Stage Return

COUNTESS d AUDIFFRET

Returning to the stage after several years devoted to philanthropic work during and since the war, both in army hospitals in France and with war orphans, Ina Diligenti (in private life Countess d'Audiffret) is to appear in a preview performance of "The Lady of Mystery," a comedy, at the Beaux Arts, Beacon and Eighth streets, on the evening of the 29th inst., according to the plans of the Los Angeles Unit of the Women's Overseas Service League, which is sponsoring the production.

The program featuring the international author-actress, will serve to re-introduce her to the public, according to Miss Frances K. Eales, the president of the local unit of W. O. S. L. Countess d'Audiffret served as a nurse with the American Hospital at Neuilly during the war, and since then has donated her time and talent to presenting plays and pageants for the benefit of war orphans in Europe, Canada and the United States.

Margaret Bourne, a local actress who has recently resumed her stage career after an intermission due to strain of war work in France, will appear between the acts. Miss Bourne played the Queen Regent in "Castles in the Air" and Calphernia in "Julius Caesar" in the Hollywood Bowl.

Mrs. Zorayda Lorimer McCulloch is chairman of the W.O.S.L. committee arranging the preview. Also active on the committee are Miss Florence Crosier, Miss Anne Dunderdale, Miss Elizabeth Hill and Mrs. Rose Connelly.

Comedy Star Reported Wed to Angeleno

Word was received from New York telling of the marriage of Peggy Ann Fears, star of several musical comedies, and A. C. Blumenthal, Los Angeles real estate man, at the latter's apartment there in the Ambassador yesterday afternoon. An introduction by Charles Chaplin, film comedian, brought about an immediate love affair, and after two years of courting, the couple decided to get married, it was stated.

Four friends of the newlyweds were the only witnesses of the ceremony. Vivienne Segal, opera singer, was bridesmaid; Winfield Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film Company, was best man and Leland Hayward and Nathan Burkan were witnesses. Besides the above notables, a dozen close friends of the couple attended.

MAN SAYS SPOUSE HAD DUAL NATURE

It was a Mrs. Jekyll and Mrs. Hyde that wrecked the home of Frank S. McKee, according to the charges of a cross-complaint for divorce filed by the husband yesterday. Mrs. Agnes McKee started the matrimonial contest by filing a complaint against her husband for divorce, charging cruelty. In answering the complaint McKee also charged cruelty, stating that his wife possessed two distinct natures. At times, he said, she would feign fainting spells and apparently become quite helpless. At other times, particularly while on a visit to Tia Juana, she would become vivacious to a point where four policemen and a pair of handcuffs were required to subdue her. The result of the Tia Juana fracas according to McKee, was a sentence of ten days in jail for his wife and she is asserted to have served half of the term before being released. According to the cross-complaint filed by Howard F. Shepard, representing the husband, they were married on July 1, 1919, and separated May 16, last.

NOBODY WINNER IN POKER GAME RAID

There were no winners in the poker and crap games at 7403 Santa Monica Boulevard after Justice Billings of Sherman completed the cases of fifty-two men arrested at the place on charges of gambling. It cost each one $10 for their night's pleasure. The place, which was reported to be the old House of Props, was said to be guarded with a man with a rifle and to be swinging full blast when Capt. TWIN BABIES DIE MYSTERIOUSLY

Four-Months-Old Boys Lose Lives During Night

Autopsy Ordered and Food Will Be Analyzed

Mother Collapses When She Finds Bodies in Bed

The 4-month-old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Miller, 852 West Eightieth street, were found dead in their crib early yesterday morning by their mother. The bodies were removed to the County Morgue where an autopsy examination is to be made today to determine the cause of death. Miller is an employee of the Jonathan Club.

The tragedy was brought to the attention of the police and the Coroner's office by Dr. R. H. Hippach, 7228 South Main street, physician for the Miller family, when he declined to sign a death certificate. He turned over to the Coroner's office a can of baby food and a small quantity of a solution made from it for chemical analysis.

A hysterical scream from Mrs. Miller brought her husband to her side when she went to their little bed at 7 a.m. yesterday to attend them. She collapsed, the police said, and was ordered to bed by Dr. Hippach.

According to Miller, his 22-year-old wife fed the twins early Saturday night with some milk made from baby food prescribed by Dr. Hippach. The twins, the father said, were in the best of health and had been gaining in weight daily from the food.

They fussed a bit when Mrs. Miller put them to bed but later fell to asleep, Mr. Miller said. A while later they awakened, police were told, and appeared to be distressed. Mrs. Miller remained up with them until they went asleep again. At 3 a.m. yesterday, the father stated, Mrs. Miller again got up to look at them and they were asleep.

When the mother awakened yesterday morning, she went to their crib again to see how they were and was horror-stricken to discover them dead. Her husband ran to her side and then immediately telephoned for Dr. Hippach. Miller said the bodies of the twins, Claude Leroy and Clyde Leray, were still warm, indicating they had died only a short time before Mrs. Miller awakened.

It was said at the Coroner's office yesterday that a post-mortem examination will be made. The County chemist will also be asked to analyze the powdered milk, the unconsumed milk in the babies' bottles and the contents of their stomachs.

Dr. Hippach said he was unable to ascribe a cause of death. He said the babies were dead when he reached the Miller home. The Millers have another 2-year-old son. They have been married four years.

CONCERTS UNDER SKY EULOGIZED

Symphonies in Hollywood Bowl Win Recognition by Leading Educators

The place the Hollywood Bowl has achieved as a cultural and educational factor in Los Angeles communal life and the need for the citizenship of the city to support the Bowl ticket season book sales campaign now in progress were yesterday pointed out by leading Los Angeles educators, as with the opening concert but two weeks away, they laid plans to make the "symphonies under the stars" a part of the work offered their summer school students.

Indorsements came from R. B. von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, C. H. Rieber, dean of the college of letters and science and Squire Coop, head of the music department of the University of California at Los Angeles, as well as W. F. Skeele, dean of the college of music, University of Southern California, and Paul Perigord, professor of civilization, University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. von KleinSmid said: "Certainly 'the greatest good to the greatest number' is exemplified in the contribution of the Hollywood Bowl to the culture of this community. With the artistry of foreign directors and conductors combining with that of leading musicians of this country, little, if anything, remains to be added to the programs rendered in the fragrant open-air on Southern California evenings."

"Students at the University of California at Los Angeles and especially summer students have always showed an interest in and appreciation of the concerts given at the Bowl," said Dean Rieber.

"Music under the stars at eventide in the Hollywood Bowl impresses and persuades in a manner unique," said Squire Coop. "It is rather a spiritual than a musical experience. To express it otherwise, there music accomplishes its highest purpose, somewhat suggested in the thought of Walt Whitman, 'Music is not the sound of instruments of noises, it is something nearer and farther than these.'"

W. F. Skeele of University of Southern California's college of music declared: "Among the many opportunities afforded the citizens of our community for cultural advancement, none is more valuable and far-reaching in its possibilities than the Hollywood Bowl concerts."

Paul Perigord's indorsement was one o. the most enthusiastic of all. He said: "Few things in the history of art have been done which compare with these symphonies under the stars. It is a privilege to have the opportunity to hear excellent music under the ablest leadership in such an inspiring setting. If Southern California is truly eager to realize her dreams of cultural progress she must not fail to support one of the most promising factors in her artistic developments, the Hollywood Bowl concerts."

Faith in Wild Westerns Got Him in Wrong

In the minds of the German people the West of this country is still the West of Bret Harts, Wild Bill Hickok and Buffalo Bill, according to the story told Municipal Judge Wilson by Carl Thier, a youth newly arrived from his home in Prussia.

And because of that idea which pictured every man walking the streets with at least one gun strapped to a lightning holster, Thier stated to the judge he was involved in serious difficulties.

The youth was arrested recently on a charge of carrying concealed weapons by Officer E. T. Taylor. According to Thier's testimony, he had a gun in his pocket for protection, a gun purchased before he left his home on advice of friends.

"You had better write home and notify those friends that we are becoming civilized," Judge Wilson told the boy. He later suspended a $10 fine on condition that Thier leave his gun in the court and refrain from carrying one in the future.

THE TURN COAT

"I always thought the Hon. Thomas Rott was a Democrat?" said honest Farmer Pumblegate.

"He was," relied Farmer Funter, "but he was cunning enough to change his politics when nobody was looking, and whop over onto the other side."—[Exchange.

DROWN 'EM!

Police Board Refuses Permit for Cat Shooting

The proper way to kill stray cats found in Los Angeles is to drown and not shoot them. This, in effect, is the opinion of the Police Commission, as expressed in a letter to L. L. West.

West recently applied for permission to use a small bore shotgun in exterminating several stray cats which were wont to invade his premises and disturb the peace during the small hours of the morning. His request was referred to the commission and Secretary Jeffers was instructed to inform him that the permit will not be issued and he should drown the cats in a bucket of water if he wants to kill them.

Although the cats are undoubtedly law breakers and should be treated as hardened criminals, according to Jeffers, the public must be safeguarded. He pointed out that the practice of killing cats with firearms might result in injury to some persons.

COURT RAPS OFFICERS

Careless Liquor Arrests Scored; Defendant Given Acquittal

Scoring officers for arresting citizens on liquor charges when the evidence obviously is insufficient to obtain a conviction, Municipal Judge Frederickson Saturday instructed a jury to find one defendant not guilty on such a charge.

The court severely criticized careless arrests made by some enforcement officers. He pointed to the crowded calendars of all misdemeanor courts and stated the calendars might be cleared up were it not for the fact that "half the cases brought in are impossible of conviction."

The defendant released was Tony Panzich, a cafe owner. He was arrested after Rudolph Palorino, a police operative, told officers he had purchased liquor at Panzich's cafe.

Officers Warren and Clarke, who made the arrest, were called to the witness stand, but could give no first-hand information about the sale. Palorino, they stated, was arrested on a vagrancy charge after he approached Panzich and offered to "squash" the case for a money consideration. His present whereabouts is not known, the officers said.

Judge Frederickson stated a case cannot stand on hearsay evidence and ordered a not-guilty verdict. It was brought in and the defendant was released. A similar charge against John Arkovitch, an employee of Panzich, also was dropped.

BROTHERHOOD CLUB TO HAVE LADIES' DAY

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by telephoning TRinity 4751.

Of Interest to Women.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

American innovations imported into Europe undergo three distinct stages. First, they are mocked; next, a wild howl of protest goes up against them, and then they are adopted. Such, for instance, was the process involved in clothing the youth of the continent in bell-bottomed trousers and dad in plus-fours. As an anticlimax comes the claim that the style, mode or what-not, really is of European origin. Witness France's assertion of parentship to the cocktail.

The Charleston, black bottom and banana slide having been mocked and howled against now are being danced from the Ritz to the Moulin Rogue, with practice steps in the subway between the two places. We await with patience the report of a learned historian that actually the dances originated in the time of Henry IV when, in some inconceivable manner, a mouse got down the tin armor legs of a noble by the name of Charles Tonne.

Or perhaps they will claim that Josephine Baker originated them after emigrating from St. Louis to the Follies Bergere in Paris. They'll have to hurry if they want to produce Josephine as evidence in her role as dancer, however, for the dusky daughter of New Orleans has just signed a contract with a Europeon film producer to star in a scenario written by Maurice Dekobra, one of France's outstanding authors. Josephine is said to be of Mexican descent.

Again, Josephine might be cited as an example of the protest from Cape Town that "the result of seeing white people dancing the Charleston shakes the natives' faith in missionaries and Christianity." Josephine certainly shakes about everything else.

Ultramodern dances are only transient, though in the opinion of Grace Burroughs, California dancer, who sees them at the far swing of the pendulum, which now is returning toward the natural steps of the Greeks and Romans. "Humanity is on the eve of a renaissance of natural dancing under the fructifying influence of which will spring up a new appreciation of simple living and the delight of keeping tune with the rhythmic harmony of the seas and the stars," says Miss Burroughs, who shares with Isadora Duncan and a growing coterie of dancers the distinction of being a leader in this new movement, which Vera Sterne of Philadelphia is developing in Italy.

Florence Walton and her husband, Leon Leitrim, who have been dancing together since 1918 (that, by the way, probably sets an endurance record for dancing, especially with the same husband,) fail to agree with Miss Burroughs and the "Greeks," however, and to show their faith in the ultramodern they have returned to Paris from New York with a variation of the banana slide. Miss Walton has taught the new steps to Georges Carpentier, who once jawed around with Mr. Dempsey for a short time, and they are featuring the bill at the Palace in Paris.

The Lorraine sisters of Los Angeles are winning applause in a new review at the Casino de Paris, while Billy Bradford and Marian Hamilton are appearing nightly at the Apollo Theater and Florida Club. Vera Olcott, exponent of the black bottom, is headed toward Paris from the Riviera.

Paris seems to be the summer rendezvous of Southern Californians and this year is no exception to the general rule. Among those well known in Los Angeles who have been for some weeks in the French capital are Mr. and Mrs. Evan Royal Mosher, the latter formerly Miss Leila Holterhoff, daughter of Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff of West Adams street, who, with Leonard Haynes, Jr., left in March on the Annie Johnson for Europe, going direct to London, by way of the Panama Canal and making no United States stops en route beyond the Canal Zone.

After several weeks in the English capital they crossed to Paris, where they have been until some days ago, when they went on to Vienna, where Mrs. Mosher is to resume her research work with Freud and Steinach.

While in Paris they entertained with a beautifully appointed affair in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Rathwell Page, who crossed recently accompanied by Miss Marjorie Welch and her little cousin, Mary Connell.

The affair was in the nature of a dinner, followed by an opera party, among the other guests being Mrs. Henry Owen Eversole (Mary Clark) and Miss Lucy Clark, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Eli P. Clark of St. James Park.

Another lovely affair was the dinner with which Mrs. Argo of New York City, who is sojourning in Paris, gave in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Mosher several weeks ago.

Among the personalities sojourning in Paris are Gen. Harts, the new military attache to the American Embassy, and his wife. Mrs. Harts is the sister of Dr. C. E. Hale of Mt. Wilson Observatory.

Another interesting sojourner who recently returned to the French capital is Miss Edna A. Bassett of Los Angeles, who was engaged in relief work in the Near East for four years and now is going back to Athens to continue her activities there.

Mr. and Mrs. William Irving Hollingsworth have also been visitors to Paris, and while Mr. Hollingsworth returns to Los Angeles to meet his daughter, Miss Flora, who is returning from school in Washington, Mrs. Hollingsworth is remaining in Paris, where Mr. Hollingsworth and their daughter will join her later.

Among other Southern Californians who are around and about Paris are Mrs. Edwin Jessup Marshall, Mrs. Tom Mix and Mrs. Mary Wilcox Longstreet, who with her sister and brother-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miner, are making their headquarters there this summer.

Mrs. Hugh Livingstone Macneil and her niece, Miss Jean Macneil, who crossed some months ago, also are summering in Paris and its environs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Napoleon Brunswig and their daughter Miss Marguerite are for an indefinite stay in Paris and other interesting continental points.

Mr. De Vidal Hunt, former well-known Los Angeles newspaper man, who now is associated with La-Bien-Venue-Francais, is now in Paris, the chief of his paper being Mme. De Jouvenal.

The Accueil des Americains, is another institution which looks after and welcomes those Americans who are desirous of meeting genuine French personalities.

Decoration Day was celebrated in all the American cemeteries, the French population turning out en masse to pay tribute, and joining American officials in the ceremonies.

The Assumption, a religious fete, is a national holiday in France, all shops being closed and this is also the case at Pentecost, which follows shortly.

The average of American visitors now is at the rate of 20,000 weekly, and the Opera quarter is completely in possession of the United States at this time. One hears only English spoken there and regardless of the higher prices, life still is less costly than in the luxurious caravanseries of America.

In the circles of Paris where artists entertain in their studios and where their friends from home congregate to welcome and be welcomed, is the studio of Herbert Van Blarcon Acker, 11 Rue Schoelcher. Mr Acker, noted California portrait painter, son of Mrs. B. A. Nebeker of Santa Monica, has just returned to the French capital from Florence, Italy, where he passed the winter.

Among the affairs given by Mr. Acker recently was the tea at which Mrs. Edward Ortion was especial honor guest, the latter, formerly Miss Elinor Moses, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong Moses of Oxford avenue, whose wedding with Dr. Ortion was an event in Paris some months ago. Other honor guests were Mrs. Edward Perne Johnson of West Twenty-eighth street and her attractive daughter, Miss Eleanor Johnson, who crossed early in the new year, and Harry Faulkes.

One of the interesting American exhibitors at the Salon Des Artistes Francais is Daisy M. Hughes, daughter of Mrs. W. R. Hughes of 614 South Normandie avenue.

Miss Hughes has been painting in Corsica and North Africa and now is returning to France to pass the summer capturing some of the quaint scenes of Brittany with a group of artists captained by George Elmer Browne. Before Miss Hughes left for Europe last October several of her landscapes were accepted for New York exhibitions and she was elected a member of the National Society of Women Painters and Sculptors.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Sherer and son, Sherman A. Sherer, are now on the continent, having crossed late in April aboard the Berengaria and are having a wonderful trip. Motored through France and Switzerland and at last reports were in Venice, where they were registered at the Hotel Royal Danili, and were just leaving for Germany.

They were to make the trip by airplane from Amsterdam to London, where their itinerary calls for a month's visit. They will motor through England and Scotland and will play golf on the famous links there. Word also reaches us from Judge and Mrs. Charles Crail, who send a card from Vienna. They report the royal palaces all standing empty, though full of reminders of former times.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murphy with their daughter and sister, Miss Bernardine Murphy and Miss Sue Sinnott, who crossed in April, going by way of the Mediterranean cruise, are in Lausanne, Switzerland, but will go on to Bad Nauheim later for the wonderful cure.

Mrs. William N. Goodwin of the Darby also crossed on the Mediterranean cruise in the early spring and ing Mrs. Evan Royal Mosher and will remain indefinitely.

Keeping that Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

© 1927 Fanchon Beauty Features

Beware of any but a true complexion soap—used this way

KEEPING the skin clean, the pores open, is only half the secret of a good complexion. The most important advice is to use ONLY a true complexion soap ever on the face.

A soap may be excellent for a thousand purposes, yet be too harsh for the skin. Good complexions are often thus imperiled.

Hence, largely on expert advice, thousands use Palmolive Soap. A soap made solely for ONE purpose—to safeguard good complexions. A beauty soap you know is safe to use.

Wash your face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy lather of olive and palm oils into the skin. Rinse off with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little good cold cream. Do this regularly and particularly in the evening.

That rule is credited with more beautiful skins than any other known. Use powder, rouge, make-up all you wish. But never let them remain over night. Follow one week, then note the difference in your skin.

Get Palmolive today. But be sure it is GENUINE Palmolive. Costs but 10c a cake.

Soaps represented as of palm and olive oils without the Palmolive name are usually crude imitations. So take care. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Whitewash

Before putting the earth in the window boxes paint the inside with whitewash. It will keep the box from rotting and prevent insects.

Parchment Shades

If the parchment shades have been shellacked and varnished they may be washed with white soap and water. Brighten with a little furniture polish.

Correct Ironing

Always iron the centers of handkerchiefs and centerpieces first, then pressing out toward the edges. This will always insure flat work and even ironing, without ugly puckers in the center.

Time Saved

If you keep a crochet needle in your work basket it will save you a great deal of time and bother when the end of a drawing string or tape disappears within its casing. It can readily be drawn out with the hook.

The Gift Jellies

When giving away jellies or preserves, decorate them just a bit by placing a small paper doilie on top of each jar and then dip a rubber around the lace edge to hold it down. The jars will look much more attractive and appetizing.

WHISKY DECLARED USED TO CURE DOG

A new use for whisky was discovered in Municipal Judge Turney's court when Mrs. Sarah Wright, 124 West Thirty-sixth street, offered an alibi not in accordance with veterinarian theories.

"I had that whisky for my dog," she said in explanation of a pint of whisky found in her home by Officers Simpson and Boen. She said her dog, whose breed she did not name, felt sick occasionally and would respond to nothing but a liberal drink of whisky.

The woman denied all knowledge about a quantity of beer also found on her premises. She pleaded not guilty to the charge and her trial was set for Municipal Judge Stafford's court on September 15.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

The obedience of which we approve. Mrs. W. Y. writes:

"I wonder if you would be interested in knowing how I have dealt with my boy who is now 17 and has great respect for my opinion? Every mother knows that there are times when for her own convenience it is pleasanter to say 'no' when a small child asks for the right to do something. I can truthfully say I always granted his request if there were no good reasons why I should not. If I said no, a reason followed. In that way I gained his confidence. One day I had said no to a request and as he passed the window I heard his playmate coaxing him to do it anyway. My little son looked his companion straight in the eye and said, 'Mother said no.' My heart rejoiced.

"When a child plays a block away from the house it is a good plan to buy a whistle for calling him. I bought a basketball whistle because the marble in it makes it shrill and carries the sound. My son soon learned to fly when he heard the whistle. I had very little trouble that way.

"I made our large porch and yard the center of the neighborhood. No one else was going to rear my son! I heard everything going on and when a child started a scrap he was sent home until he could play peacefully. To take a child's play away is the greatest punishment. It always worked fine.

"When my son was well along in the grades he told me that a friend of his wished that I were his mother. Pardon me for saying these things, but they may help other mothers to achieve these ideals.

"I know of a mother who says 'no' to everything. Now the child has ceased to ask."

ANSWER

Your methods have my hearty approval. There are always too many negatives in a household where there are children simply because it is easier for a mother to veto a desire than to stop and think out the advantages and disadvantages of it. Since we are on personal problems something which arose in our household this morning shows how it is possible to handle a situation with satisfaction to both sides. Son has been reading adventure books so constantly that he visions himself as a great explorer. He feels that a telescope is necessary to his complete happiness and he has found one that he thinks he would like for $2. It was explained that a cheap telescope was a poor investment and a better one not essential just now as he is about to embark on a summer visit and wouldn't be able to take it with him. It was pointed out that no doubt in two or three weeks his burning desire for the telescope would be altered to something else. So we compromised on that. If he still aches for a telescope in three weeks and hasn't forgotten it, as we fully expect, then he is to have it. We both feel quite satisfied.

DIDN'T WANT TO SHOCK HIM

He was an old soldier who had been run over by a fast-moving motor car. His accident made an instant operation imperative, and on coming out of the ether the patient noticed that although it was still daylight all the blinds were drawn.

He called the nurse and asked the reason.

"Feel all right?" she asked.

"Right as rain," replied the other. "But why are the blinds drawn?"

"Well," said the nurse, "there's been a big fire across the road, and we thought that if you awoke too soon you might think the operation had been unsuccessful."—[London Answers.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

A LITTLE MORTGAGE

"Neat little residence property on —— street, improved with five-room bungalow and single garage. Owner values it at $3500. Insurance $1000. A conservative appraisement of this property for mortgage purposes is lot $750. Improvement, $1500. Total $2250. Ample security for a loan of $1000."

That's how the report reads. Will I become the mortgagee? Just a nice modest little business deal by which I am to get 6 1-2 per cent. It isn't a good idea to have an imagination in these little business deals. And, even if the mortgagee is invariably the villain of the play in melodrama, being a mortgagee is a very desirable status.

Indeed, we are implored to become mortgagees. Naturally it is hoped we shall be good kind human mortgagees. Pope springeth anew in the human breast. People who want to borrow money on their little home usually want it very desperately. It is much crueller of us to avoid becoming mortgagees. They would even prefer a hard mercenary mortgagee than no mortgagee at all.

"But, oh dear, I could never foreclose on a mortgage," I protested to the man who wants me to take this mortgage, "and these people are in trouble now. And I don't want to lose my $1000, either. Isn't it better to buy bonds or lend money to business men? One would not feel such a brute foreclosing on a business firm."

"Oh, no," he smiled. "First mortgages on homes are superior security. People will make such desperate efforts to save their homes. And, on a conservative appraisement, loss is almost impossible. But don't you worry about any possible foreclosures. We take care of all that for you. You need never appear in the matter at all. We are a heartless, impersonal organization. We make all the collections for you and do all the dunning and, if a foreclosure is necessary, we undertake it. You need not be known. There need be no personal appeal to you. But we'll see you don't lose your money."

But I went right on imagining what might happen to that "neat little residence property" and its troubled respectable human owners in order that my $1000 shoudl not be jeopardized. It seemed so unsporting for me to hide behind the "heartless impersonal organization" and perhaps never even know what heartaches were being occasioned on my behalf, to protect my money.

"Good, Lord!" said the man, impatiently. "How do you ever do any business? The whole fabric of business rests on credit and security. But if you must be sentimental about it, why not consider yourself a benefactor by letting them have the money when they need it so badly, and when money is scarce?"

But I could not get it out of my head that this was a little home I was to hold for security. The idea that it might ever be claimed for mine, just because I was the mortgagee, stuck. That "insurance," for instance, that is to protect me and my interests. In case of fire, I should get it, not the poor owners.

"But if you don't lend the money someone else will. You've got to make your surplus money earn money. There isn't any better security than these first mortgages. This one is a cinch. You can't lose and you are helping them over a difficult time. . . ."

So I am buying my first little mortgage and getting all sorts of silly little emotional qualms out of it. It is easier to feel callous about bonds. Oh, dear, I hope I shall never become a hard impersonal mortgagee who sternly remembers that "business is business."

DIET and HEALTH

SLEEPY DURING THE DAYTIME?

Why do we have to sleep, anyway? Seems an awful waste of time, doesn't it?

There are several theories as to the cause and nature of sleep. According to Collins, they may be as follows:

(1.) There is a lessening of the volume and velocity of the blood in the brain. Therefore, there is unconsciousness the same as during fainting.

(2.) The contact between the nerve filaments is broken during sleep; therefore unconsciousness comes.

(3.) Sleep is of a chemical nature; that is, the accumulation of the products of fatigue causes a more or less poisonous effect, which produces drowsiness, and during sleep the poisons are thrown off.

(4.) The biological theory: Sleep is instinctive. We do not sleep because we are exhausted, but because we cannot help it. It is a manifestation of evolutionary development.

Q.: What causes sleepiness during the daytime?

A.: Lack of sleep at night; autointoxication with its poisonous effects upon the nerve cells; general anemia; overweight, especially if it is due to trouble in the glands of internal secretion (probably not more than one out of 100 cases are due to this.)

Q.: Is it wise to eat anything at all before going to sleep?

A.: Yes, especially if hungry, for hunger will cause sleeplessness. A bowl of hot soup or a glass of hot milk can be taken, or some similar light food. It is wise for one who is reducing, unless he has his heavy meal at night, to save fifty to 100 C. of his allotted number to take before going to bed.

Q.: Is it wise to sleep after a hearty meal?

A.: No, it is not, for the muscular activity of the stomach is retarded during sleep. The food may be retained too long and hyperacidity result. This is especially important for those with weak hearts, for the resultant pressure of the gas may cause fatalities. Sleep does not interfere with intestinal digestion, but apparently it does with the stomach digestion. Lying down, without sleeping, does not have these effects. In fact, it is a help to digestion.

Q.: What is the best position for sleep?

A.: In general, it can be said that the position which is most comfortable is the position to sleep in. It would seem wiser to sleep on one side part of the night, and on the other side the rest of the night. The right side is considered the most comfortable for the heart, and this position also favors the emptying of the stomach, should it be necessary. It has been found that those who have weak abdominal muscles and gas may find sleep more comfortable lying on the abdomen. (But why have weak abdominal muscles and gas? Send for our articles on the subjects. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.) Nightmare and snoring are more apt to come on while one is lying flat on the back.

Q.: Is it wise to sleep out of doors in cold climate?

A.: Sleeping out of doors is one of the most healthful practices known. The only precaution in cold climates is to be sure you are dressed and covered warmly enough, including a warm nightcap. Sleeping cold would nullify the good effects of outdoor sleeping. If you cannot sleep out of doors, be sure to have a very free circulation of air in your room.

Q.: Is there any danger from sleeping too much?

A.: Yes, a person can sleep too much, and lassitude and stupidity will result—just the same effects as from eating too much. If you desire more than eight hours of sleep, you must be sure you have no disorder as a cause, except, of course, after an exhausting day or after a lack of sleep the night before.

PARADE OF FASHION HERE AND ABROAD!

LENGTHEN SKIRTS FOR EVENING WEAR

PARIS, (AP)—Trailing draperies which approach closer and closer to the ankle, are slowly but surely forcing down the skirts of evening dresses. On the newest models draperies which hang several inches below the hem are almost invariable. Designers agree that the draperies presage a return to longer skirts for formal wear.

NEW DRESS PLAID NAMED KASHACLAN

PARIS, (AP)—A vivid plaid kasha just put on the market is called kashaclan. Inspired by the clan tartans of Scotland, it follows closely the bright color combinations of the Highlanders.

A designer of sport clothes uses the kashaclan for a two-piece dress with plain blouse, pleated plaid skirt and long scarf. Rodier is the designer of the fabric

PAUL POIRET IDEAS ADOPTED BY PARIS

PARIS (AP)—Paul Poiret, the Paris dressmaker, who first sponsored the trouser skirts, which are having a genuine vogue, also originated the idea of the skull-cap hat, which is increasingly popular.

Poiret warned the dress world several years ago that trousers were the inevitable development of feminine styles. It was after he had quit thinking about trouser-skirts that Paris actually took them up. Two seasons ago the style-maker created skull-cap hats, which only struck popular fancy this spring.

DIAGONAL STRIPES IMPORTANT IN MODE

PARIS (AP)—After a season of crosswise stripes, Paris is trying diagonals. Not only diagonal weave for the new coatings and dress material, but diagonal inserts of contrasting material, diagonal stitchings and tucking are much in vogue.

Diagonal inserts of broadcloth on contrasting fabrics are used by many important dress houses. Diagonally printed silks and wools with diagonally woven color stripes are expected to have an immense popularity.

CHINESE BATH SHOES OF LACQUERED WOOD

PARIS (AP)—Dainty wooden clogs for wear on the beach, or in the bathroom are among the new things on view in Paris shoe shops. The clogs are lacquered in gay colors, and there is a pair to match any beach costume.

Bright designs in gold and silver, or contrasting colors are painted on the wood. There are wooden bars under the wooden sole which keep the foot an inch or so above moisture.

The number of women clerks in Germany has trebled since 1907, while the number of housemaids shows a decline.

To Homeseekers:

If you are planning to live in Southern California, let the real estate columns of Times Want Ads help you to decide WHERE—as they help scores of newcomers every day. More real estate "buys" appear in these columns than in any other local newspaper (in 1926, The Times printed 35,000 more real estate want ads than all other five Los Angeles newspapers combined!)

Whether you wish to consider a home, or a lot to build on, business or industrial property, farm lands, ranches or orchards, you can rely upon finding in Times Want Ads a complete survey of the whole active real estate market, from the desert to the sea.

MEN AND WOMEN—

JUNE 19, 1927.

DEAR SIR AND MADAM:

For a number of years I've been hiring and training salespeople, thoroughly and successfully, and have helped sell a great deal of real estate in this dear old town. Some time ago I decided to work on the highest class property we have in the city, Miramar Estates, on Beverly Blvd., overlooking the entire bay. Nothing else like it. Priced from $7000 up.

Last week proved to all concerned that it is really easier to sell the best and get volume, provided your campaign is correct. It's taken almost 30 days to pave the way and frame the picture. We are now selling and have an opening for a few more ladies and gentlemen of good appearance and pleasing personality with a good-looking car.

Come in and let's talk it over. I sincerely believe it's the best line-up in the city. Music, Cafe, Tea Gardens, Bridge Parties, Saddle Horses. A different kind of solicitation and a different sales method. If you really want to make money, have a permanent connection with opportunity for advancement, and sell the best, come on, let's go.

CALL MORNINGS
Sincerely,
(Signed)
P. F. COVELL

HOME, SWEET HOME
A home in which every possibility of durability, sunshine, convenience and beauty of surroundings has been made use of to the fullest extent. A home to please those of discriminating and refined taste. The gentle art of the craftsman is everywhere. The sweet scent of roses is wafted on the summer breeze.

You must come and see this home for the builder has with an unerring certainty built it just as you would have it. He has created with unfailing surety that which will please those who demand that certain refinement.

Wonderful large living-room with superb lighting effect, has plate-glass and casement windows to the floor. Equipped with Austrian shades on three sides of the room; the mantle is of Batchelder tile, in soft pastel shades; a real fireplace in excellent effect. Within the large arch between the living and dining-room there are seats and column torchieres in Batchelder tile with Alladin's wonderful lamps. New and original. Very effective.

The description of the house with its alcove bedrooms and a bath that would be the envy of Pompeians, together with many other modern devices, would merit columns of description which, of course, is impossible; therefore, you must see it. You cannot know anything of this house by merely driving by it. Stop and come in. You will be surprised. You will find it all that it is claimed to be. You will not be disappointed.

This house is built for those who can afford a $20,000 home. $8000 down can handle it.

This house is of Spanish bungalow type, with seven large rooms. Three patios. On corner 55x135, in Carthay Center, one block south of Wilshire Blvd.

Attention Farmers

We are not in the real estate business and we are not subdividers, but selling our own lands direct to the public at prices way below other lands of the same character—pasture lands, high class farm lands, both wheat and alfalfa lands—lands suitable for every crop successfully grown in the United States and located in the very center of the State.

Good roads, good climate, good water and plenty of it.

Just think for a minute—finest of wheat land now in crops, only $35 per acre—small down payment, balance over a period of ten years.
DAIRYMEN—Fine alfalfa land, now in alfalfa with gravity water as cheap as $150 per acre.

Don't class this with the average real estate advertisement. Come into the office—now—today, and talk things over and arrange to join one of our free excursions on a three-day trip up to the San Joaquin Valley.

Auto Loan Truth

The Excessive cost of auto loans is due to DELINQUENT PAYMENTS and the consequent expense of collection. Our plan eliminates a major portion of this loss, WHICH IS REFLECTED IN OUR LOW RATES TO BORROWERS. We include a collection fee in all contracts, AND REBATE THE WHOLE SUM SO INCLUDED if payments are made within 5 days after due date. NO INSURANCE IS REQUIRED, or existing policies cancelled, thus effecting another great saving. WE SPECIALIZE IN LARGE LOANS AND REFINANCING at rates impossible to duplicate elsewhere. OUR IMMENSE RESOURCES AND 12 YEARS honorable dealing with the public is our recommendation.
INTEREST $2.50 PER $100
